Legal Action Imminent in Atlanta Census Battle

CHAMBER GROUP URGES COUNCIL TO LAUNCH SUIT

CLAIM OF 359,668 TOTAL SUPPORTED

Concerted Move Begun to Prevent Publication of Borough Figures by Federal Bureau.

Legal action against the United States census bureau constraining that department to publish Atlanta's population figures in accordance with the totals of the boroughs, appeared imminent as a result of local developments Monday, unless favorable response to protests by the city and state is received from Washington during the week.

A resolution was adopted Monday by the special Chamber of Commerce committee handling the contention, requesting the mayor of Atlanta to call a meeting of city council Friday and requesting that body to proceed with legal measures necessary to have Atlanta's population of 359,668, as determined by the last census, officially published by the United States bureau. Arrangement for funds necessary to finance the employment of Washington counsel and pursue action in court is to be handled at the interborough session.

Legal Rights Upheld.

Monday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce special census committee was a sequel to action taken by that body the middle of last week. At that time the possibility of a court battle was suggested in view of what appeared to be Atlanta's legal rights. Decision was reached then, first to have formal protest filed by the city and state attorneys against an announced ruling from the census bureau that it would not recognize Greater Atlanta as a city and would publish the borough figures of approximately 270,035 for the local population.

President Horace Russell, of the Chamber of Commerce, explained Monday that, although the census bureau has not yet had time to answer the protest filed by Attorney-General Napier and City Attorney James L. Mayson, the step taken at Monday's meeting to make way for early legal action was to prevent publication of the unfavorable census figures before action could be taken from rendering useless any efforts that might be expended locally.

Benefits to City.

"The bureau soon will be publishing its official census figures, and unless Atlanta is given the benefit of its total population in these lists all the benefits that could possibly be derived from having Atlanta ranked as the twenty-second city, with a population of 359,668, would be lost," Russell explained. "To be effective, action must be taken before the figures are published," he said, pointing out that Monday's resolution was to prepare the way should the answers to the protests of last week not prove satisfactory.

The legal battle to coerce the census bureau to recognize Atlanta as a city and publish its total census in place of just the population of the borough of Atlanta would be based upon the right of Georgia to create a municipality as it sees fit. The sovereignty of the state is the principle in question, it was pointed out by legal talent advising the chamber's committee. Whether or not the census director can dispute the state's right to establish a municipality by act of its legislature would be at the bottom of the legal contention, it was explained.

Those taking part in the discussion Monday included, in addition to Chairman Russell, Attorney-General Napier, City Attorney Mayson, Congressman Ramspeck, representatives of the boroughs of Atlanta and of the Chamber of Commerce.

Agreement Reversed.

The letter received by the chamber last week from Assistant Director Joseph A. Hill, of the United States census bureau, in which he reversed an earlier agreement made by his superior, Director Steuart, gave impetus to the movement that Monday appeared would terminate in a legal battle between the city of Atlanta and the federal census bureau.

A conference held some time ago between Director Steuart and a delegation from Atlanta had led to an agreement that the full population would be the figures published by the bureau. This agreement subsequently was confirmed in writing by the director of census. A complete reversal of Director Steuart's agreement came

Physicians Save Man, Let Woman, 30, Die

:: HUSBAND AND FATHER GETS PREFERMENT ::

BY VINCENT MAHONEY,
United News Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—(UN)—Confronted with a decision between prolonging the life of a 25-year-old married man and a 30-year-old woman, physicians today decided in favor of the man.

Consequently Miss Jean McCullough was dead, and Irving S. Johnson, father of a 14-month-old son, was fighting for his life tonight with the aid of the only "robot breather" at a hospital here.

Stricken with infantile paralysis which made it impossible for him to use his diaphragm, Johnson had received artificial respiration at the hospital for more than a week. Then Miss McCullough was brought in last night in an almost identical condition. Without artificial respiration, she, too, would die.

Dr. E. B. Shaw, in charge of the case, held a conference. Johnson asked that he be taken from the machine and the young woman given a chance. While doctors debated, preparations were made to switch patients. Then the young woman said that she, too, was ready to die, that she feared that if she lived she would be permanently crippled.

The case finally was decided, Dr. Shaw said, on the chances each had for recovery.

"Johnson had responded so well under treatment," Dr. Shaw explained, "that we feel reasonably certain he would recover if kept under it. On the other hand, we had no way of knowing how Miss McCullough would respond.

"In the end, the case was decided irrespective of the obligations of chivalry—or, on the other hand, the fact that Johnson had a dependent wife and baby—or any other consideration of that kind. We simply felt that we have no right to gamble the probable recovery of one patient against a recovery that was at best only possible.

"In the light of ethical considerations, the case was really more clear-cut than has been represented. It was simply a case we had more or less under control, as compared to a desperate one."

The respirator, the invention of Dr. Philip Drinker, of the Harvard School of Public Health, is the only one west of Chicago. It is a long metal torpedo into which the patient is placed. By power blowers, the air is withdrawn from the space between the metal shell and the patient's body, creating a vacuum which the lungs expand and fill when atmospheric pressure displaces the vacuum, the lungs contract, expelling the air.

The clergy joined physicians in applauding the decision to save Johnson's life.

Said Dr. Louise B. Deal:

"The life of a man 25 years old, with a dependent wife and child, is more valuable than that of an unmarried woman five years older, particularly when there is a greater chance of saving the man's life.

"In such a circumstance, the matter of sex or chivalry does not enter into the doctor's decision. It seems only one could be saved. The man was progressing satisfactorily. There was little hope for the woman. The doctors had no alternative but to choose the one they were almost sure of saving."

Out of the publicity given the incident has come the decision of two anonymous San Francisco philanthropists to donate Drinker machines to other hospitals here.

FAIR-AIKEN HUNT HITS BLANK WALL

Little Importance Placed in Marietta Robbery by Lowry.

Having dissipated every clew bearing on the whereabouts of Fred Fair and Sam F. Aiken, fugitive slayers who escaped from the Fulton county jail last week, indications in the sheriff's office late Monday were that the pair of desperadoes had made good their spectacular dash for freedom and had joined the shadowy realm of missing men.

Acting on a tip received at the sheriff's office late Monday night, deputies and members of the county police scoured a section of Flat Shoals road, seeking Aiken and Fair, who were reported to be in hiding there. However, no trace of the escaped pair could be unearthed, and the tip was pronounced as groundless.

Although it was apparent that the countryside was alert for sight of Aiken and Fair, as evidenced in the numerous reports to Sheriff J. I. Lowry from widely scattered parts, efforts of local authorities to trace such advices had been fruitless when the office closed Monday afternoon.

The latest development, which might have a remote connection with the whereabouts of the couple, it was thought, came shortly before 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, when Mrs. E. J. Perryman, who lives in Cobb county, about three miles west of the Chattahoochee river, on the Marietta highway, telephoned Sheriff Lowry that she had just returned to her home from a business trip to Atlanta during the day to discover that her house had been broken into and a quantity of food and "some firearms" had been stolen. The local sheriff, however, placed little importance in the occurrence as affecting the Fair-Aiken case, and turned it over to Sheriff Tom Sanders, of Cobb county, at Marietta.

Other bits of information reaching Atlanta over the week-end in connection with the sensational getaway of the noted slayers apparently had proved worthless, according to the sheriff's office. Two deputies who Monday were despatched to Cordele to investigate a report that a "mystery" airplane carrying a pilot and two unidentified passengers had made an emergency landing there Saturday and had taken off quickly after making minor repairs, had not reported back their findings, if any, Mr. Lowry said. Nor had any word come from officers at Mobile, Ala., where it was understood searcher had been sent to Toulminville, Ala., a short distance away, to inquire into reports from that small township that two strange men had been seen in the vicinity, one of whom had appealed to a farmer for food. Likewise Sheriff Lowry intimated, nothing bearing on the whereabouts of the wanted men thus far has resulted from the trip made to New Orleans early last Friday morning by Chief Jailer Bob Holland.

What earlier in the day Monday was expected to develop in the nature of a defi of the Fulton county commission by Sheriff Lowry, failed

South Carolina, Mississippi and California Vote; Blease's Race Is Hottest.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 25.—(AP) South Carolina's host of office seekers tonight were prepared to rest their case with the democrats of the state who will render their verdict in the primary tomorrow.

A final barrage of appeals, embracing personal appearances, radio addresses and political advertisements brought to a close the summer's campaign. Upward of 300,000 members of the party are expected to cast their ballots. The nomination is equivalent to election.

General interest predominated in two major races, the tri-cornered battle between Senator Cole L. Blease and two opponents for the former's toga, and the battle royal for the governorship among eight contestants.

Besides these contests, nominations are to be made for seven seats in congress, all state offices, and many county positions.

Veteran political observers were chary of making predictions on the eve of the primary, but they agreed that second races would probably be necessary in numerous contests, including those for the senate and governor. The run-off primary will be held two weeks from tomorrow.

Asking re-election on the basis of his record, Blease is opposed by former Congressman James F. Byrnes, who ran him a close second in his successful campaign six years ago. Solicitor Leon W. Harris, of Anderson, who has severely criticised Blease's record throughout the campaign, is the third entry. Byrnes has pledged himself to work for improved agricultural and industrial conditions, if elected, and has ignored his competitors in all his speeches.

A variety of subjects has been discussed by the eight candidates for governor, with prohibition and the $65,000,000 highway bond program overshadowing others. For the first time in years a candidate for the office is running on an out-and-out anti-prohibition platform. He is Ashton H. Williams, young Florence attorney.

Vigorous indorsement of the dry laws has come from another candidate, W. W. Smoak, Colleton legislator for the last ten years, who has also championed the $65,000,000 highway legislation, without reservation.

The six other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination are: I. C. Blackwood, Columbia; R. Beverly Herbert, Columbia; W. H. Keith, Greenville; Olin D. Johnston, Spartanburg; A. Frank Lever, Lexington, and John J. McMahan, Columbia.

ONLY ONE CONTEST IN MISSISSIPPI.

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 25.—(AP)—As voters of Mississippi were prepared tonight to march to the polls tomorrow to vote in the state's democratic primary, both candidates in the only congressional race were con-

INDIANA KIDNAPER AND GIRL VICTIM ARE APPREHENDED

ELKHORN, Wis., Aug. 25.—(AP) Claude Dillner, 27, farm hand, was captured here today with 10-year-old Betty Jane Foster, with whom he disappeared Saturday night from the home of the girl's parents at Valparaiso, Ind. The arrest was made by Sheriff Albert Exner, of Walworth county. The girl had not been harmed.

Exner apprehended the pair in Dillner's car after residents reported seeing them camping near here last night.

Dillner at first claimed the child was his cousin but later admitted her identity.

Sheriff James Mason, who questioned Dillner, said the man carried a camping outfit and a large supply of provisions in his car. Dillner told the officer he loved the child and had planned to take her to Whitewater, Wis., where he had been promised employment.

The abductor, who officials said apparently was subnormal mentally, declared he would waive extradition to Indiana.

"Now that I can't have Betty I would sooner go back there. Hope I'll be hanged," he was quoted.

Betty, according to officers, was somewhat nervous, but otherwise appeared carefree.

She told of their meanderings about Wisconsin in Dillner's car. At night, she said, Dillner would lock her in the machine and would himself sleep in the woods.

The girl's parents formerly employed Dillner as a farm hand. They were absent from home when the kidnaping occurred. On their return a note from Dillner was discovered pinned to a door telling of his love for the child and stating he would kill her if pursued.

Following the abduction a posse was formed and had been scouring the countryside about Valparaiso since for trace of the missing pair.

Evanston Exonerates Zuta's Police Friend

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Police Chief William O. Freeman, of Evanston, who borrowed $300 from Jack Zuta, slain gang leader, was cleared of all blame tonight by the city council.

Mayor Charles H. Bartlett after the meeting issued a statement expressing his and the council's full confidence in Freeman.

Freeman's name was brought out in connection with Zuta when state's attorney's investigators working on the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Tribune reporter, found a letter Freeman had written to Zuta asking for the loan. The letter, signed "Your old pal, Bill Freeman," asked for $400. Freeman explained that a friend had arranged the loan to help him over a financial difficulty and that he did not know Zuta. He said he received $300 and that he had paid it all back but $10.

Mrs. W. F. Macklin's Mother Dies Here

Mrs. Grace Brotherton Deems, of Fort McPherson, died Monday evening following a lingering illness. She is survived by her daughter, wife of Major Walter Fullerton Macklin, M. C., and granddaughter, Miss Doris Grace Macklin, of Fort McPherson.

Mrs. Deems was the widow of Francis M. Deems, M. D., M. A., Ph. D., who was the son of the late Rev. Charles Force Deems, founder of the Little Church of the Strangers, New York city, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brotherton, New York city.

Private funeral services will be at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Spring Hill, Chaplain Joseph Ensrude officiating. The body will be taken tonight to New Brighton, N. Y., for interment.

Somnambulist Finds Last Sleep by Suicide

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(UN)—For 25 years Harry E. Schroeter, 51, had been a victim of insomnia, but today's was the last dawn to be sleeplessly awaited.

Beside his body in the apartment that served as his home and his studio as an interior decorator was found this note:

"By my own hand. Cyanide of potassium. The black, uncertain future makes going on impossible. It is best for all."

PRESIDENT LEGUIA FORCED TO FLEE CAPITAL OF PERU

American Flyer Reported Safe

LIMA, Aug. 25.—(UN)—An American aviator, Commander Harold D. Grow, head of the Peruvian air corps, was safe at Arequipa, Peru, his wife was advised today.

General Manuel Maria Ponce, head of the military junta in control of the country, telegraphed Mrs. Grow her husband was safe and assuring her he would be released in a few days.

Commander Grow flew to Arequipa on orders from the Leguia administration officials, to reconnoiter over that city, held by rebel forces since Friday.

BY GESFORD F. FINE,
United News Staff Correspondent.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 25.—(UN)—Peru was governed by a military junta, or committee, tonight as revolt in the south spread to Lima. President Augusto B. Leguia had resigned the office he had held for 11 years and fled aboard a Peruvian warship, and martial law was proclaimed.

Four deaths resulted in riots in the capital during a night and day of terror as mobs roamed the streets, clashing with the police and soldiery. The death toll was expected to increase as the authorities regained control of the city and a check-up on the fighting could be made.

The fights centered mainly about the residence of President Leguia and the house of Dr. Rada y Gamio, former foreign minister in the Leguia cabinet. The mob, including university students, attempted to enter these buildings. They were repulsed after considerable shooting by police.

Servants barricaded themselves inside and defended their homes. The mob succeeded in breaking into the foreign minister's residence. They sacked it.

Students and workers stormed the offices of the government newspapers Presna and Tiempo. Police drove off the attackers. There was little damage. Windows in the Prensa buildings were broken.

The mob attacked Leguia's residence. Firemen and police responded to the riot call. They succeeded in dispersing the crowd after a 30-minute battle.

Unconfirmed reports said two students were killed and several wounded by servants in the Leguia house, sharp-shooting from barricaded windows and the roof. The president had escaped and fled aboard a cruiser, his destination unknown here.

General Manuel Maria Ponce, former inspector general of the army, led the coup d'etat. A message was sent to Lieutenant Colonel Luis F. Sanchez Serro, leader of the original rebellion last Friday at Arequipa, inviting him to proceed to Lima and accept the post of minister of war in the new regime.

Rear Admiral Caesar Bielich, minister of marine. He is a young man

Hoover Defers Action On Power Commission

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—President Hoover has decided to wait until congress reconvenes before appointing members to the independent federal power commission of five members authorized by congress last June.

The decision was based on a department of justice opinion holding that while recess appointments legally could be made under certain sections of the law they might be regarded as illegal under other provisions.

Mr. Hoover sent the names of three nominees to the senate late in the last session, but due to impending adjournment they were not confirmed.

These names with two others are expected to be submitted to the senate early in December. They are Claude L. Draper, chairman of the Wyoming board of equalization; Ralph B. Williamson, Yakima, Washington, attorney; and Marcel Garsaud, port engineer at New Orleans.

The five-member body will replace the commission composed of the secretaries of war, agriculture and interior.

Basso Proves Too Rough For Bori in Chicago Opera

LUCREZIA BORI

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Virgilio Lazzari, the basso, was a bit rough again Saturday and Lucrezia Bori missed her first curtain call of her five summer seasons at Ravinia.

Mme. Bori, New York's Metropolitan prima donna, was singing Fiora in the "Love of Three Kings." Lazzari was Fiora's father. In the final scene, the father, before singing his exit, picks up his dead daughter, throws her over shoulder and then lays her down on a bench. But Lazzari was too rough.

Mme. Bori fainted. Those in the wings noticed it but not Lazzari. He finished the aria, picked up Fiora's body and strode off stage. There, he learned what had happened.

The curtain parted for Bori's call—but she had not yet been revived.

Last January, in the Civic opera, Mary Garden, in the role of Fiora, was painfully hurt when the basso threw her over his shoulder in the same manner.

GERMAN FLIERS REACH HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German flying instructor who took off from Germany a week ago on an unannounced flight to America, landed here today after having accomplished the westward airplane crossing of the north Atlantic.

In an old rebuilt flying boat which had already known two great adventures, Captain Von Gronau and his three companions will continue on tomorrow to New York, their destination.

A week ago today they hopped off from the Isle of Sylt, in the North sea off the northernmost part of Germany. No one then knew that the unassuming quartet, in a winged boat that had flown the arctic air lanes and had failed once to cross the Atlantic, were turning their eyes to North America.

Their first stop was the Faroe islands. From there they went to Reykjavik, Iceland, where they announced they would return to Germany as soon as they were rested. But instead of backtracing their trail across the sky they turned toward Greenland and their next alighting place was Ivigtut. Thence the course was laid to Labrador.

Yesterday the first men ever to cross the north Atlantic in a flying boat flew to Queensport, N. S. The flight to Halifax was completed today after a stop enforced by fog at the little fishing village of Marie Joseph, 80 miles to the east.

Tomorrow Captain Von Gronau plans to push on to New York and to alight in the harbor or in one of the rivers bounding the island metropolis.

The flying boat, a Dornier Wahl bearing the insignia D-1422, is old as planes go, for away back in 1925 it was one of two vessels used by the late Roald Amundsen on an arctic expedition. The next year it passed to Captain Frank Courtney, of England, who tried to fly it to America but came down in the region of the Azores and was rescued after floating about the ocean for eight days. After that it dropped out of public view until the present flight.

There have been only few previous westward crossings of the north Atlantic by plane. The United States army fliers, the German Bremen and the British Southern Cross expedition accomplished the feat.

FOURTH WOMAN HELD IN SLAYING

Daisy Rowe Crisp Jailed in Nagal Case—Hearing Set Wednesday.

DARIEN, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Daisy Rowe Crisp, the fourth woman arrested in connection with the disappearance and alleged murder of Frank Nagal in this county on December 22, 1928, is in jail here awaiting preliminary hearing, probably Wednesday, having been taken into custody Monday by Sheriff Poppell.

Annie Rowe and Lillian Rewis are now in jail awaiting a hearing. Mrs. Ruth Cross was released under bond several days ago on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the death of Nagal. The other three women are charged tentatively with being accessories before the fact.

The Crisp woman's arrest was an interesting feature of the developments in the case, and a second one is the information that Nagal carried life insurance. A Pennsylvania attorney, evidently representing relatives of Nagal, wrote Chief of Police Register, of Brunswick, Ga., that Nagal's insurance papers had been located and that a death certificate would be necessary before collection could be made. The lawyer was instructed to write McIntosh county authorities. Inquiry showed no further word has been received about this insurance.

One mystery still unsolved in the case is the identity of the author of a telegram sent a brother of Nagal who lives in Washington, D. C., the day he was killed informing him that Nagal's body would arrive in that city on the following day.

Another arrest is expected in the next few days, said to be another woman who was with Nagal on the fatal ride that resulted in his death.

Duke of York Leaves Wife and New Baby

GLAMIS, Scotland, Aug. 25.—(AP) Departure of the Duke of York for Balmoral to visit the king and queen is taken here as the best indication yet of the good progress being made by the duchess and the newborn princess.

After bidding good-by to the duchess and his two daughters, the duke yesterday afternoon slipped out quietly from Glamis castle, driving his own car. He plans to return Friday or Saturday.

Sir Henry Simson also took a little time off duty today and went grouse shooting with some visitors at the castle.

FEDERAL BOARD ACTS TO ASSIST SOUTH'S FARMERS

SEASONAL POOL COTTON AFFECTED

Members Will Receive 8 Cents Per Pound on Delivery, Head of Georgia Association States.

The Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, one of the units of the American Cotton Co-operative Association, will increase its advances to members from the present 7 1-2 cents basis to one of approximately 90 per cent of the value of cotton, on the basis of New York futures at 11 cents, it was announced here Monday night by J. E. Conwell, president and general of the local association.

This new advance, which was made possible after a series of conferences between the co-operative organizations and the federal farm board, will apply to seasonal pool cotton only, Mr. Conwell said.

The association Monday night sent notices to all banks in the state advising of the increased advances. It was announced that members of the seasonal pool would receive 8 cents per pound on delivery and an additional cent per pound after grading and stapling on all cotton graded middling or better. The optional advance will remain at 7 1-2 cents.

ACTION IS TAKEN TO HELP SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The American Cotton Co-operative Association moved today to aid harassed farmers of the south by arranging through the federal farm board loans to state co-operatives of 90 per cent of the value of their cotton for the benefit of seasonal pool members.

With the explanation this step was taken in view of the "deplorable condition of the cotton farmer in the south because of the present low level of prices," E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the national co-operative, issued a statement through the board setting forth the details of the plan.

Seasonal pool members, who deposit their crop with a state co-operative under an agreement to take the average seasonal price for the grade and staple of their product, will be able to borrow 90 per cent of the current price, less actual operating costs of the loan system.

A warrant charging felony under provisions of the state law bearing on theft of motor-driven vehicles, was sworn out Monday against Philip M. (Red) Mohun, former movie stunt flyer, by George G. Finch, attorney representing Dr. Fraser L. Adams, whose plane Mohun crashed in Candler park recently.

Bond of $1,000 was fixed for the aviator's presence, and late Monday evening it was understood that Mohun's attorney, F. Joe Turner, Jr., had assured Judge Luther Rosser that has client would appear in court at 10 o'clock this morning for a preliminary hearing.

The warrant, which bore the technical charge "felony," alleged that Mohun had violated section 183, subsection 1, which is known as the "automobile theft section," providing for penalties for "any person who steals a locomobile, automobile, motorcycle, traction engine or others of like character propelled by electric or gasoline engines."

Finch, who said he instituted the action at Dr. Adams' instructions, said that Dr. Adams "will testify that Mohun took off in his airplane on or about August 9 without his consent or knowledge and that he wrecked it after a wild flight over Atlanta."

The incident referred to occurred on the afternoon of Saturday, August 9. Mohun hopped off from Candler field at about 5:45 o'clock, he later told police, and after heading north became confused in his direction and at the same time the engine began to "skip." In looking for an emergency landing field, Mohun claimed, he had to fly low over Candler Park golf course. Just as he was about to land, he claimed, he espied a foursome and zoomed his plane to avoid injuring the players. The plane crashed near the tool-house, close to the seventh green.

Mohun was arrested charged with "flying an airplane while drunk." In police court the following Monday he was dismissed.

Three Cold Facts

Of vital interest to every citizen

1. The University of North Carolina recently made an investigation of retail food prices in Durham, N. C., a typical American city. It found that chain store grocery prices of advertised goods were 13.79 cents in the dollar lower than prices in other stores.

2. The University of Kentucky announced a few days later that it had made a retail price study of all sorts of food in Lexington, Ky., another typical city. It found food prices in chain store groceries were 14.03 cents in the dollar lower than prices in other stores.

3. The average American family spends for food between $600 and $800 a year, according to estimates of the best known authorities. This means that the average family buying its food at chain stores saves from $84 to $112 a year.

AIR TRAFFIC PACT WITH MEXICO ASKED

Similar Agreements With Other Latin Countries Will Follow.

BY MAURICE HALLOREN,
United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UN) Initiation of negotiations for a reciprocal air traffic agreement with Mexico, which officials today said may be expected this week, is the latest step in the program of the state and commerce departments to pave the way for an expansion of air travel abroad by Americans.

A reciprocal air agreement with Canada has been in effect for some years. Negotiations looking toward similar arrangements with Great Britain, Irish Free State, Union of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and Holland were begun by the state department late last week. Mexico and other Latin-American countries are to be added to the list.

Another section of this program, announced today, concerns the procedure worked out by the state and commerce departments "to facilitate airplane flights by American citizens and American airplanes in Europe and in the Near East. Under this arrangement all requests by United States citizens to fly in their own planes in Europe will be handled by the American embassy in Paris after the commerce department has certified the flying competency of the persons making the requests and the airworthiness of their planes.

The air traffic agreement with Mexico and other countries will follow closely the Canadian arrangement. This provides in the main for automatic acceptance by one country of pilots' licenses and airplane registry certificates issued by the competent government departments of the other country. Air travel by citizens of one country over the territory of the other is facilitated in many other ways. American aviators, for example, need not apply through the state department for permission to fly into Canada as is the case with other countries with which the United States has no reciprocal agreements.

Increasing demand for an agreement with Mexico, due to the growing air traffic between the two countries, as well as the new Mexican aviation law of June 30, 1930, requiring foreigners to obtain Mexican licenses in the absence of reciprocal arrangements, prompted the state department to consider the negotiation of an agreement. The multilateral air traffic convention concluded at the sixth Pan-American conference in Havana in 1928 would have accomplished this purpose, but the convention has not yet been ratified by the United States.

20 Believed Buried In Collapse of Mine

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(UN)—Nearly a score of coal miners were buried when one of the galleries in the Hildebrand pit near Kattowitz, upper Silesia, collapsed today.

Nine had been extricated tonight, seriously injured.

It was feared the others were killed. At least six more were known to be in the wrecked pit.

Boop-a-Doop Girl Takes New Role In Courtroom

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Helen Kane, who baby talks and boop-a-doops to music on the stage and screen, had the lead in a courtroom scene today but it was no comedy.

She broke down and cried out loud when faced with a demand she hand over $50,000 given to her by Murray Posner, whom she described as her dearest friend, shortly before his dress firm went into bankruptcy.

Miss Kane was the only witness at a bankruptcy hearing which was finally adjourned until September 15. She testified that last fall while both she and Posner were in Hollywood, she gave him $50,000 with which to buy Liberty bonds for her. She supposed he had done so, but learned later the money had been put into Posner's business.

When she asked about this, she said, Posner told her his partner, Jack Eisen, had converted the bonds into cash to help his aged father but that her money was perfectly safe.

Recently he deposited $50,000 to her account. She bought Liberty bonds in Chicago, and placed them with $40,000 worth of bonds she already had, in a safe deposit box rented under the name of Mary Marks. In explaining the use of a false name she revealed what she thinks of Chicago.

"They're so tough out there," she said. "You know the reputation Chicago has. I'm even afraid to play there. They hold actors up and if you don't come across they bump you off. I didn't want anyone there to know I had that much money."

Miss Kane was a calm witness during the first part of the session but broke down when counsel for the receiver suddenly leaned across the table toward her and demanded that she pay the money back.

"Will you pay it back?" he insisted.

Miss Kane burst into tears and was led sobbing from the room but her lawyer answered for her.

"She will not," he said, "unless the court orders it."

Carolina Mill Strike Ends After Week

BESSEMER CITY, N. C., Aug. 25. (AP)—Looms and spindles hummed again in this textile town tonight as workers in the two plants of the American Mills, Inc., on a strike for the last week, returned to their jobs.

Formation late today of the "Victory Club," an organization of operatives and Bessemer City merchants, which will provide for three persons the mill management refused to reemploy, stilled agitation for a continuance of the strike.

Two operatives and E. L. Gillespie, itinerant preacher and spokesman for the strikers during the walkout, were denied their former jobs. The club will "take care of them," officials announced.

The strike began last Monday when workers refused to enter the mills after being advised of a reduction in wages. They returned to work after Frank Goldberg, president, had agreed to restore the former wage scale.

No violence marked the walkout with the exception of the rough handling of several communists who were expelled from the village when they attempted to speak and spread literature.

Carolina Seeks Bonds Of Convicted 'Reds'

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—An effort to balk the state's announced intention of securing forfeiture of $27,000 in cash bonds, posted by defendants in the Aderholt murder case, was made in Mecklenburg superior court today when the defense moved to continue the case.

Although the North Carolina supreme court has denied Fred Erwin Beal and six others convicted with him a new trial for the murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia police chief, defense attorneys argued that the appeal was still pending, as an official copy of the order has not been certified to the lower court.

Judge Walter Moore took the motion under advisement.

Magistrate Refuses To Jail Legless Wet

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP) Magistrate E. P. Carney today discharged Charles Beeson, a legless man, charged with illegal possession of liquor. Members of a police raiding squad said they found a half gallon of liquor in the man's home.

"I'll not hold unfortunates and cripples, so you had better round up the big, moneyed fellows," Carney told the arresting officers. "Where are the big fellows? Why aren't they and their expensive cars brought in instead of the afflicted?"

The magistrate discharged a crippled youth Saturday under similar circumstances.

Group of Teachers End Northeast Tour

Twenty-five young school teachers from Georgia and Florida are scheduled to arrive in Atlanta this morning en route to their homes and the opening of schools following a vacation tour through the northeast.

The young women, travelling in a group under the supervision of Miss Maude Moyers, of Atlanta, will arrive at Terminal station in a special pullman car at 6:05 a. m. After spending the early part of the day in the city they will disperse to their homes through south Georgia and Florida.

Youth Ordered Held On Check Charges

Alleged to have passed six forged checks for small amounts on local business concerns, Walter Williams, 17, alias Tom Jones, of 168 West Harris street, was held for the grand jury in $1,000 bail Monday afternoon by Police Recorder Murphy Holloway. Although the youth denied having forged the checks, the recorder ruled that his having knowingly "uttered the spurious papers," made him liable.

Lone Bandit Obtains $50 at Gas Station

A lone bandit held up and robbed T. J. Clounts, of 618 Westview drive, night operator of a Shell filling station at North avenue and Courtland street, of $50 Monday night.

The man drove into the filling station, ordered five gallons of gasoline, and then, after receiving them, held up Clounts and drove rapidly away.

WIFE ADMITS HIRING MAN TO KILL HUSBAND

"Gunman" Turns Out To Be Policeman; Woman Blames Cruelty.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Admitting she agreed to pay $750 to have her husband killed, Mrs. Ella Bartel, 41, today at police headquarters related a story of alleged cruelties since her marriage in 1911. Her plot fell through when a "Chicago gunman" she thought she had hired to kill her husband, Albert, a blacksmith, 45, turned out to be a patrolman who had trapped her.

Mrs. Bartell is charged with conspiracy to murder as is Robert Hahn, 32, who resides with his parents above the Bartel flat. They were arrested after she made an offer to kill her husband to Probationary Patrolman Charles Calcaterra.

Calcaterra, acting on information supplied by Roland M. Hughes, a painter, called with Hughes on Mrs. Bartel, representing himself as a Chicago gunman. Hughes had been requested by Mrs. Bartel to commit the crime. He said, and he reported the case to the police.

According to police both Hahn and Mrs. Bartel signed a promissory note for $750, payable after September 1, to Calcaterra, "for service."

"My husband has always been cruel to me," Mrs. Bartel said. "The only way I can explain my decision to have him killed is that I was just getting over one of his beatings. The idea never occurred to me until last Friday. I am glad it didn't happen, because I love him, although I was never able to convince him of it."

Bartel's life is insured in his wife's favor for $2,657. It was out of this money, she said, that she expected to pay for having him killed.

College Park Names Northcut to Council

J. A. Northcut, of College Park, was elected councilman from the second ward in a special election Monday, and at a special meeting of the council called Monday night he was installed to fill the unexpired term of T. Z. Bean, resigned.

Mr. Northcut will serve until the next general election, called for December 31, and it is understood that he will at that time again be a candidate for the position, to serve a full term if elected. In the election Monday only citizens of the second ward were allowed to cast ballots and there were 202 votes cast. Northcut received 142 votes while J. N. Hanna, the only opposing candidate for the position, received 60.

Barnett Again Says Board Must Have Tag Tax Funds

Necessary To Secure Federal Funds, He Says. Denies Politics Charge.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway department "in the face of accusations appearing in the press of August 24," today reaffirmed previous statements regarding diversion of the state auto tag tax and the stand taken by the department relative to employes engaging in politics.

The chairman reiterated that the board can not match the federal aid funds for 1931 if the tag tax is diverted and employes of the department have been notified that they must not engage in politics to the extent of espousing the cause of any candidate by electioneering.

Employes of the department, the chairman said, are expected to cast their ballot in the September 10 primary in accordance with their own convictions.

"I regret exceedingly that someone has seen fit to force me to reaffirm my statements concerning the highway department made in good faith, for I certainly prefer not to do so," the chairman said.

The statement in full is as follows:

"I regret exceedingly that someone has seen fit to force me to reaffirm my statements concerning the highway department made in good faith, for I certainly prefer not to do so. In the face of the accusations appearing in the press of August 24, I would not be true to the department which I have the honor to represent, nor to the people of my beloved state to allow the statements made go unanswered.

"I wish to say that I have never had before a clear conception of the meaning of the term 'politics.' If telling the truth is 'playing politics' I am then squarely in the game, up to my neck, for I have told nothing but the truth concerning the matter which someone takes violent exception to.

Has Made No Pledge.

"I wish to assert furthermore that not one of the five candidates for governor has solicited my support and I defy any one to truthfully say that I have promised to support any one of the candidates.

"At the county commissioner's convention in Valdosta, before any announcements for governor had been made, I did state in the course of my address before that body that I had no desire in the future to lay claim to all that had been done in improving the highway system of Georgia, therefore wished to give full credit to my predecessors, Dr. Strahan, Mr. Holder and Colonel Tate and my associates for what they had done. Mr. Holder had a perfect right to credit me with the statement being used by him, which was made in good faith and with no thought of boosting Mr. Holder's interest.

"Following Mr. Carswell's announcement of his plan to appropriate the tag tax for the purpose of liquidating the indebtedness of the state, I was asked by a representative of the Associated Press for a statement concerning same, this I declined to make. He then asked if the tag tax were taken from the highway department fund if we could match federal aid for 1931. To this I replied no. Being informed in a measure as to the finances of the highway department, I was in a position to answer this question more definitely than some advocates of the plan. In spite of the fact that I have been urged daily to reverse my decision as to the matter, I can say more emphatically now than ever—No!

"In reply to such a request from one of my fellow townsmen, I stated that in my opinion the authority to provide funds for the highway department for building and improving roads was vested solely in the general assembly and they alone could allocate the funds.

Gives Financial Statement.

"Believing that it was my duty to advise the governor of the true status of the highway department's finances, I placed in his hands on the morning of August 22 a statement of what I found to be a close approximation of the anticipated revenue and expenditures for 1931, which is as follows:

Revenue.

Tag tax, $5,000,000; gas tax, $9,000,000; total, $14,000,000.

Disbursements.

Overhead, $500,000; maintenance, $3,000,000; flood damages, $500,000; due counties for work on highways, July, 1931, $3,000,000; carryover from contracts in execution that cannot be finished, 1930, $2,000,000; total, $9,000,000. Balance $5,000,000.

"Hence it is clearly seen that if the tag tax is appropriated to other uses, not one cent will be available with which to match federal aid during 1931.

"We have been advised by the federal bureau of public roads, during the past week, that in order to relieve the unemployment situation in the drouth stricken area, which is almost nationwide, that the time of payment for federal aid funds had been advanced so as to make available funds that could not have been drawn on before 1932. That being the case, there will be available to Georgia federal aid amounting to $5,632,488 for 1931. If I am permitted to say so without being convicted of playing politics, the entire resources of the department will be needed to carry on the work which we are laboring earnestly and faithfully to bring to a successful conclusion.

Politics in Department.

"Now as to my statement of May 18, 1930, advising the public of the fact that employes of the highway department had been notified through the heads of the departments that they must not engage in politics to the extent of espousing the cause of any candidate by electioneering—on the other hand they were expected to vote in accordance with their own convictions—I now desire to reaffirm this position.

"Numerous complaints have come to me to the effect that this order was being violated and that I should fire the offenders and appoint another of their suggestion. These statements on the part of complainants were met with the request to furnish proof of guilt and I would dismiss those found guilty, but would reserve the right to appoint whomsoever I saw fit. In not a single instance have I been furnished with the information asked for.

"A very flagrant violation of the rule was cited as having occurred in a south Georgia city. I immediately called Mr. Dennis, division engineer, and requested an investigation and report. Mr. Dennis could find no one who could substantiate the charge. I thereupon sent Mr. Sam Mathews, attorney, to make a complete investigation; he could find nothing of a tangible nature. I then asked the accused to report to the office which he did and denied the charges in person.

"About ten days since a report came from the East Point office to the effect that one of the tag inspectors had a pile of Mr. Carswell's posters in the back of his car. He was requested to come to the office at once. Before he could reach there I had an earnest appeal from one of his friends in the capitol not to discharge him. Upon quizzing the accused I was told by him that he knew of the posters being in the car, but that he had not placed any of them and did not intend doing so, now that I objected. Being employed jointly by Mr. Carswell and the highway department, I instructed him to report the incident to Mr. Carswell and if he was found with any incriminating evidence again I would withhold that portion of his salary and expenses being paid by the highway department. I have heard nothing further of the case.

"Who's going to fire the chairman for the political card that he issued? The chairman holds his position on the board by virtue of the governor's faith in him. Had he not felt that I was capable of discharging the duties of the office, no force on earth could have induced him to make the appointment. In so doing he was discharging no political obligation, he owed me nothing. If at any time the governor feels that the chairman is not discharging the duties of the office faithfully, conscientiously and efficiently, he has a remedy.

Wants Faith of People.

"In this reply to the attack made on me in the press of August 24, I do not wish to have the people feel that I am antagonistic to any of the interests the state is indebted to. I want to see every obligation we Georgians owe discharged in due time and in a way detrimental to no other interest. No man in this fair land of ours is more indebted to the educational interest than I. As a loyal son of the Confederacy, I stand ready to share my last penny with the remaining few who wore the gray. My heart goes out in tender sympathy to the unfortunate inmates of Milledgeville and Alto.

"In conclusion I wish to reiterate what I have said, the highway board cannot match the federal aid funds for 1931 if the tag tax is diverted. There never was a more favorable time in the history of the state for road building—prices were never so favorable and the people need employment. The highway board can do nothing more than expend the funds placed at our disposal by the general assembly—be that great or small.

"J. W. BARNETT.
"Chairman."

No New Developments But Candidates Busy

Gubernatorial candidates Monday entered their last two full weeks of campaigning with James A. Perry issuing severe criticism of his four opponents.

John N. Holder, Richard B. Russell, Jr., George H. Carswell and E. D. Rivers, other contestants for the nomination in the democratic primary September 10 "must admit responsibility for the present deficit" in state finances, he said, adding that he was depending upon the support of people "who really want a competent, honest administration of the state's affairs."

The governorship race was featured Monday by the reply of Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the highway commission, to the charges made Sunday by George H. Carswell. Neither Carswell nor his campaign manager, Judge R. N. Hardeman, were in the city Monday, but it was stated at headquarters that an early reply would be made to Barnett in which it would be set forth that the highway program can go ahead if the tag revenue diversion is made.

E. D. Rivers spoke at Calhoun and Chatsworth today and at Cedartown tonight, along the lines of his previous addresses.

Richard B. Russell, at Swainsboro, said the chief consideration of the voter should be how the successful candidate "could better conditions if elected."

George H. Carswell spoke at Elberton Monday afternoon, and at Washington this morning. His schedule today includes a radio address from a Rome station. In all speeches he advocated his plan of diverting the automobile license tag tax for one year for the payment of state debts.

It was also announced from Carswell headquarters that Confederate veterans of Bibb, Houston and Peach counties had on Sunday adopted a resolution indorsing his candidacy and approving his proposed method of raising money to pay back pensions.

John N. Holder spoke at LaFayette, but will not speak again until Thursday, when he starts a tour of northeast Georgia, accompanied by the Jefferson American Legion band and a group of friends. He expects to speak in several counties on Thursday and Friday.

Rivers Comments.

A spicy addition to the controversy which has arisen over the proposed reallocation of tag tax funds was contributed Monday in a statement issued from the headquarters of E. D. Rivers, which was in part as follows:

"Captain J. W. Barrett is a child of the Hardman-Carswell administration, appointed to office by them, and he is the man they sought for two years to put into office as highway chairman. Now, when the people of Georgia are about to turn them out of office, and when it is perfectly apparent that the Hardman-Carswell scheme for tax tag diversion has been exposed as a fraud and a fake, they try to drive Captain Barnett into pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. But it seems they are having as little luck dictating to Captain Barnett as they have had dictating to the legislature and to the people of the state, for he evidently has refused to be their tool.

"Of course, Holder has evidently undertaken to take advantage of the fact that Captain Barnett refused to take orders from the Hardman-Carswell crowd and is trying to use this fact to take Captain Barnett under his own wing. But, unless Captain Barnett is guilty of using the department as the Hardman-Carswell crowd say he is, I predict that he will shove off from Holder just as he has shoved off from Carswell, and demonstrate to the people his innocence of the Hardman-Carswell charges."

The Senate Race.

Monday was without new developments in the race for the senate, former Governor Slaton delivering only one address and Senator Harris none. A statement, however, was issued from the senator's headquarters in praise of his record at Washington, it being along the same line of similar statements, already published.

Slaton, in his address discussed the case of Judge John Parker, of North Carolina, who was rejected by the senate as a member of the United States supreme court and against whom Senator Harris voted. As he has done before, he severely criticised Harris for this vote.

Pilcher Is Eligible For Assembly--Gress

Because he is employed as an auditor of state accounts does not bar M. B. Pilcher, of Augusta, as a candidate for the state legislature, Assistant Attorney-General T. R. Gress ruled Monday.

Opponents of Pilcher, Gress said, had raised the question of his eligibility, and the candidate asked for the ruling. The opinion held that Pilcher is not a state officeholder and does not come within the purview of the statute prohibiting one man from holding two state offices at the same time.

St. Joseph's Pure ASPIRIN

After Many Failures He Discovered a Real Pile Remedy

For years he suffered with itching piles. Now and then he'd get a little relief from some salve or other—but nothing much to speak of.

Finally someone told him of Peterson's Ointment—of its powerful healing qualities which had brought such swift, blessed relief to thousands of pile sufferers.

Somewhat doubtful, he bought a box—the first application absolutely convinced him that this was the most marvelous Ointment in the world.

Why, man alive! That agonizing soreness went right out of those piles—the torturous itching stopped—before he knew it his piles were gone.

Every enterprising druggist in America knows of the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment—he knows it ends piles—one 35c box will prove it.—(adv.)

HIS NERVES NOW IN AS FINE SHAPE AS WHEN A BOY

Often Slept Only Hour or Two All Night. "Sargon Set Me Right Again," He Says.

"I have been taking medicines for seven years and how it is that Sargon set me right when everything else failed is a puzzle to me," recently stated R. G. Anderson, 877 Fox St.,

R. G. ANDERSON.

Atlanta, well-known employee of C. E. Freeman Motor Co.

"My nerves went 'all to pieces,' and I could hardly sleep at all. Many a night I didn't close my eyes except for an hour or two about daylight, and I'd feel so tired and 'all in' the next day I didn't feel like working or doing anything else. My appetite was so poor that I had to actually force myself to eat and I lost weight and about all of my energy. I'd have given anything to feel right again, but I didn't get on my feet until I was persuaded to give Sargon a trial.

"Four bottles of this wonderful medicine sure made me feel like my old self again! I can hardly satisfy my appetite now and I believe my nerves are in as good condition now as they were when I was a boy. I get plenty of sound sleep, my weight is back to normal and I have enough strength and energy for any man. Nobody can talk to me long now without hearing something good about Sargon."

Go to Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., and meet the Sargon Man. He will give you the astonishing facts about this wonderful new medicine which is accomplishing such remarkable results all over the country. The astonishing record of Sargon is based on actual results accomplished; not empty promises. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

Erlanger Seat Sale Heavy Opening Day

A constant stream of patrons called at the box office of the Erlanger theater on Monday, following the opening of the box office for single performances or season reservations for the Erlanger Theater Players' fall and winter season, which opens at that house next Monday.

With the outstanding New York comedy success, "Sure Fire," as the opening attraction and with the same popular company—strengthened by three new members—which won such unstinted approval from Atlanta playgoers last spring, the Erlanger theater is looking forward to a prosous season. The Monday demand for tickets was strongly corroborative of this confidence.

In addition to the regular seat sale, the Erlanger management is offering this week special "strip tickets," which are good in any quantity for any performance of the season and which are sold at a considerable reduction under the regular seat prices. These are offered to provide a means both for economy and by which patrons may give their advance support to a production company which, providing Atlanta's only example of the legitimate stage, is a civic asset of large importance and is fully worthy of wholehearted support.

Garbo's Performance At Fox Delightful

Greta Garbo's delineation of the character of the European opera singer in "Romance," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's classic talking screen production which is the feature attraction of the week at the Fox, is probably causing more comment than any individual performance seen on the Atlanta screen in several months.

Miss Garbo's accent proves, as the picture progresses, one of her chief charms. It is, of course, different from most any accent heard before, and at first it sounds a little odd. But it is one of those things that grow on the hearer until, before the end, the audiences are enraptured by her personality voice.

Fanchon and Marco's "Eyes" idea is proving one of the best stage productions of the year, while the addition ensemble—12 added lovely pieces of femininity—enhance the stage picture wonderfully.

The first week for the big theater under Carter Barron's management has started most auspiciously.

Nancy Carroll Hit In Cameo Feature

It isn't every day that an actress can step out of light, fluffy "sweetie" roles to don the more cumbersome garb of emotional drama—and get away with it to the satisfaction of her public. But that's just what Nancy Carroll did in "The Devil's Holiday" at the Cameo the first half of this week. Only one doesn't have the feeling that she is getting away with anything. One feels, rather, that she is delivering a million dollars' worth of exceptionally valuable acting skill, and delivering it with a power of which no one ever realized she was capable.

At Keith's Georgia.

"GRUMPY," with Cyril Maude. Newsreel and short subjects. On the stage, R-K-O vaudeville headlined by Henry Santley and his musical soldiers of fortune. Feature starts at 1:11, 4:14, 7:17 and 10:12. Stage show starts at 2:45, 5:48 and 8:43.

It is a matter of importance in the history of the screen when an actor as distinguished as Cyril Maude makes his first appearance in the talkative films. "Grumpy," the stage play in which Mr. Maude has won acclaim all over the world, in more than 1,400 performances, is on the screen at Keith's Georgia this week, with Mr. Maude in his famous role as the irascible old retired lawyer who proves so adept as a private detective.

To be absolutely frank, however, importance is about all that can be said for Mr. Maude's work. It may be lese majeste, but personally anyone of the Marx Brothers, or even Moran or Mack, pleases us much better than Mr. Maude.

However, it is a good enough story and the two youthful leads are played by delightful performers, Frances Dade and Phillips Holmes. In fact, it may be truly said that Mr. Maude's first talking picture would be quite a good talking picture if it were not for Mr. Maude.

On the stage at the Georgia this week there is lots of excellent entertainment. Henry Santley, a famous musical impresario, brings a gang of 15 or 17 musicians who do everything from setting your feet to tingling to making your heart ache with "The Rosary." The minstrel show wind-up is the best part of the splendid stage band part of the show.

Then there are The Dakotas, a trio who do things with lassos and, more particularly, with whips, that will bring a new thrill even if you are blase. And a lass with them called "Chic" Cooper, who is correctly nicknamed.

And a team composed of a girl named Noblette and a man named Ryan. The girl is by far the best individual performer in the whole show and the man gives competent support. To hear Miss Noblette sing "Nobody's Child" is worth the price of admission alone.

Of other portions of the program we particularly recommend the Silly Symphony, the orchestra's overture and the speed boat in the sound news reel.

Paramount Stage Exceptionally Good

Exceptional value in stage entertainment is offered Atlantans this week at the Paramount. Stage presentations at this house have been variable in quality since the assumption of a stage policy some months ago. But it is unquestionable that this week sets a high water mark that has rarely if ever been surpassed by any amusement center in the city.

The big presentation, "Sport Carnival," has many features to recommend it. Lora Hoffman, for instance, is the possessor of a soprano voice that is nothing less than astonishing for its sweetness of tone and the power of its volume. Her partner, Charlie Hill, is a comedian of big laugh producing caliber.

Then there are the Paramount Rockets, that group of 12 dancing girls who get cleverer and more alluring with each week. The Three White Flashes are roller skate experts who drew lots of applause while Lou Forbes and his band are very acceptable as the musical background for the show.

Then there is a production overture featuring the gypsy numbers from Victor Herbert's "Fortune Teller," enhanced with stage settings, singers and dancers, while Adolph Goebel's organ concert is also made better by voice and screen.

The feature picture is "Anybody's Woman," with Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook, while there is a Talkatoon that's just awfully good—its called "Swing, You Sinners."

At the Capitol.

"THE STORM," Universal all-talking drama featuring Lupe Velez is the screen feature. The Kay-Rogers Radio Revue is the stage presentation. Short subjects round out the bill. The screen feature starts at 1:20, 3:55, 5:32, 7:50 and 10:08, while the stage show goes on at 3:15, 7:10 and 9:28.

Zane Grey fans and other lovers of the gr-r-eat out-of-doors face THE week of their lives during this, the present period. For the gr-r-eat out-of-doors, featuring the strong, silent, handsome hero, the double-dyed villain from the big city, and the simple lass who must needs be protected, hold forth in all their fury on the screen at the Capitol theater during the above-mentioned period.

And for that period those to whom the crack of rustic furniture on solid ivory skulls, the blast of Canada's blizzards and the most successful methods of trapping bears does not appeal might just as well stay at home and read books.

Stay!—There's one other group which will find its cup of enjoyment full to the brim. Dynamic, electric La Lupe Velez portrays effectively, and somewhat surprisingly, the simple lass who wots not of the pitfalls which await her should she yield to the cajolings of that wicked villain.

And one more! The quiet-evening-by-the-radio class may see the inside of a studio planted before their very eyes by those two wonders of Atlanta's air waves, Lambdin Kay and Ernest Rogers—you've heard of them, of course. Their radio revue holds forth on the boards, a local talent group filling in for the week and bowing graciously to the applause. Tootsie Dunbar, a cute little youngster with plenty of stage presence, spots the bill.

—HERB CLARK.

At the Metropolitan

"CONSPIRACY," with Bessie Love. Pathe Audio Revue and short subjects. Feature starts at 11:30, 1:10, 2:25, 4:30, 6:10, 7:50 and 9:30.

All you who love a good, gory murder story, with suspense, thrills and shivers running freely down each page, will revel in "Conspiracy," on the screen at the Metropolitan this week. For this is surely a good murder story, with the thrills and shivers running through each foot of film. As for the suspense, it is involved in whether or not the heroine will escape the punishment for her crime. For, yes, it is the heroine who kills the victim. The slaying happens—via the dagger route—just as the picture begins, and from then on it's a question whether vindication or the police will arrive first.

As a matter of fact, vindication, the police, safety and the other desired happy endings all arrive almost simultaneously with the final clinch.

Bessie Love is the heroine so handy with a dagger. Hugh Trevor is the reporter who unaccountably neglects to tell his paper anything about a whale of a news story he stumbles on. But then he has to provide the love interest, and when reporters are chosen for love interest—well, anything may happen, but they're apt not to be so hot as reporters.

There is a splendid piece of work by Ned Sparks, in the role of an irascible writer of mystery yarns, whose ability to solve real life mysteries by simply "thinking out the logical plot," of course, confounds the Irish police captain no end.

But it is a good talking picture entertainment—especially adapted to all who like to sneak a paper-backed detective yarn up to bed at night.

A rubetown comedy and another of the entertaining Pathe Audio Revues make up a high-average program.
—RALPH T. JONES.

Two Capacity Crowds Witness Sparks' Circus

Circus day, with its trumpeting elephants, tooting calliopes, cavorting clowns and pink lemonade, has come and gone and today the amusement-goers of Atlanta find their thirst for circus entertainment pleasantly appeased by the two excellent performances staged here yesterday by Sparks' Circus.

The big tent, which was boasted to have a seating capacity of 6,500, was filled to capacity both in the afternoon and evening, demonstrating the fact that the romantic lure of the circus is still as keenly alive as in the past.

Sparks' Circus, known as a Georgia institution by having maintained winter headquarters at Macon for the past 12 years, is presenting a program this year that contains every ingredient of a perfectly balanced circus performance. There is a wide variety of animal act, ranging from the ferocious jungle-bred tigers, lions and leopards to such domestic animals as dogs and barnyard hogs. The program includes several riding and liberty horse acts, in which more than four dozen Arabian steeds participate, and numerous acrobatic, aerial and tumbling offerings.

Highest individual honors, judging from the applause, was evenly divided between Miss Estrella Nelson, a charming young miss who performs a cyclonic series of acrobatic "flip-flops" on an elevated pedestal, and Franz Woska, the German subjugator of the lions and tigers.

Sparks' Circus boasts of being "a supreme achievement in clean amusement," and those who witnessed the performances here were of the opinion that the show fully lives up to its advance promises. Courtesy was apparent on every hand. The attendants were neatly uniformed and there appeared to be one at every turn, aiding the patrons to find their proper seats. The animals appeared to be in excellent condition and the tents, the stage properties, the seats and the cages looked as though they were fresh from the paint shop.

The clowns are generally considered to be the backbone of a circus and Sparks' Circus is generously supplied with talented funmakers.

There was no lost motion from the opening colorful processional to the finale, provided by the high and broad jumping horses. The presentation of the various numbers indicated excellent showmanship.

In brief, it was a good show.
L. E. HAWKINS.

At the Rialto.

"CLANCY IN WALL STREET," with Charlie Murray. Newsreel and short subjects. Feature starts at 11:40, 1:20, 3:00, 4:40; 6:20; 8:00 and 9:40.

One glance at Clancy and the world's akin. Another glimpse and troubles, big or small, are minor considerations. For Clancy's Irish face is his fortune. It tickles the risibilities of young and old alike, rich and poor, scholar and illiterate, and he who only sits and looks leads the life of Clancy.

So be it known to young and old alike, and all that sort of thing, that Clancy—known off location as Charles Murray—is no crying matter in his most recent aristocrat picture, Clancy in Wall Street, which opened Mon day at the Rialto.

As Marie Dressler would cop the show from John Barrymore, so does Clancy rollick away with all honors in "Clancy in Wall Street," despite excellent character acting by his partner in plumbing crime, Lucien Littlefield, bald-headed, wizened and burr-tongued Scotchman, in the role of MacIntosh.

Plot there is none, in so far as newness is concerned. It's the same old, time-worn story of one partner in business breaking with an old friend to take a whirl at stocks, and of his ultimate crestfallen return, contrite and appealing, with the inevitable son and daughter smoothing over the errors of their fathers by marrying, without benefit of dowry. It is left to be supposed that Clancy, broken in Wall Street's crash, returns, with MacIntosh, to sleeping under bathtubs at $6 an hour.

Aggie Herren, than whom no other could better play the role of Nora—Mrs. Clancy—and Littlefield contribute in no small part to the success of the picture. Retort and ready banter are always at their tongues' ends, and between the two they do an admirable job of bringing Clancy out of his financial trance.

Miriam Seegar and Edward Nugent, daughter and son of the firm of Clancy & MacIntosh, flit in and out of the picture with a listless courtship which is made amusing by its indifference.

Ethel Meglin's Hollywood Wonder Kiddies, in a song and dance revue, supply a refreshing bit of variety to the Rialto bill, as does a thrilling and instructive newsreel.

Norwegians Awaiting Andree Body Arrival

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 25.—(AP)—This part of the world awaits with considerable suspense arrival of the small sealer Bratvaag, at Tromsoe, probably about September 10, with the bodies of Salomon-Auguste Andree, Swedish balloonist explorer, and his two companions in the first attempt to cross the north pole by air.

While the meager reports brought here by the captain of the Terningen, another sealer which saw the Bratvaag off White island, Svalbard, where the bodies were discovered, have given some indication of details of the outcome of the adventurous balloon trip 33 years ago, but it is hoped that Andree's diary will tell the whole story.

At the time the Terningen met the Bratvaag this diary, which apparently was kept up to within a few hours of Andree's death, was frozen stiff with ice. It was being treated with extraordinary care lest in thawing out it be damaged and its secrets lost.

A single notation on the last page of the balloon's log, under date of July 18, 1897, reading: "83 degrees north, 32 west," can be seen without too much handling of the book, however. It is believed this position indicates the balloon approached to within less than 500 miles of the north pole and that after its descent the crew walked more than 100 miles back across the ice to their last camp at White island.

5 BRITISHERS KILLED IN INDIAN FIGHTING

Warizi Tribesmen Become Belligerent as Afridi Subside.

SIMLA, India, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A sharp encounter in which a British army officer and eight infantrymen were killed, was reported today to have taken place between British troops and Hathi Khel warriors of Waziristan in the northwest frontier province 32 tribesmen were slain.

With the repulse of an attack by Afridi tribesmen of Peshawar, key city of the province, the Waziri tribesmen to the southwest suddenly became active. The Afridis attacking Peshawar urged them to the field against the British.

A Lashkar, of Hathi Khels, led by a mullah named Fazal Quadar, advanced upon the remote city of Bannu, located in the mountains 100 miles southwest of Peshawar and the Khyber Pass.

A British force under Captain Ashcroft was sent out to parley with the tribesmen who had announced they were rallying at a spot on the Bannu-Kohat road.

As the parleying began, Captain Ashcroft entered into an argument with one of the tribal leaders and another tribesman shot him down from behind. Captain Ashcroft was killed instantly.

Immediately a hand-to-hand fight began. The mullah was fatally wounded in the British onslaught. Eight British infantrymen were killed and ten injured. Besides the 32 tribesmen slain, 14 wounded and 70 taken prisoner.

The British force included regular infantry, frontier constabulary and native police. Its object was to forestall the tribal rally and to arrest the mullah.

The mullah had sent a message stating he was prepared to surrender if he were permitted to march to the meeting place and then to the Bannu jail. At the jail he had promised that he and his followers would give themselves up without a fight.

Indian Chieftain Found Buried Amid Treasures

LA CLOCHE ISLAND, GEORGIAN BAY, Ontario, Aug. 25.—An Indian chief buried with all his treasures 500 to 1,000 years ago has been found by archeologists of the McDonald-Warren Foundation expedition exploring ancient graves in this area.

The skeleton will be removed to the Warren Foundation at Three Oaks, Michigan, together with the treasure taken from the grave.

Dr. George R. Fox, archeologist, who headed the party of scientists that came here from Chicago last month aboard the yacht Mizpah, in command of Eugene F. McDonald, Chicago explorer, yachtsman and radio manufacturer, unearthed the skeleton after days of labor, aided by a crew of excavators.

That the Indian was of an era of civilization unknown to the white man is the belief of Dr. Fox, and Dr. Alvin Laforge, Chicago, because of the bear tooth necklace, a shell necklace, stone heads and arrow and spear heads which did not bear any markings except those of the Indian tribes which inhabited this section previous to the coming of the French and English explorers, and later the Indian colonies.

The absence of glass beads, of silver ornaments, cloth, iron implements and other trinkets common to the graves of Indians known to have been friendly with white traders and trappers, is considered further proof the Indian unearthed by this expedition was of an age long before this land was trod by white persons and other Indian nations.

The discovery was made after a long steel probe struck a stone cairn buried in the sand. Marks were found in the rocks. In a second cairn nearby the party found slight traces of other bones.

The Indian had been honored, the archeologists believe, by his bear tooth necklace indicating his fearlessness of wild or savage animals. A shell necklace, a group of fine spear points of quartzite, chertz and rhyolite and a huge stone weapon of chertz, and a stone head completed the articles found, which were not too badly decayed to be identified.

DISHONORED MAJOR COMMITS SUICIDE

SZEGED, Hungary, Aug. 25.—(AP) Anton Horvath Von Csepreg, major of the general staff, committed suicide today in military prison by taking poison after having been struck off the register of Hungarian "heroes."

It was said that Csepreg sold a neighboring government important military documents through his sweetheart, the beautiful wife of a merchant of that country.

Son of Acadia Thanks Canada For Reception

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—In the classical French of his forefathers, preserved through generations along the Mississippi bayous, Dudley J. Le Blanc, of Lafayette, La., last night thanked the Canadian government for the courtesies extended to himself and his fellow Acadians on their pilgrimage back to the little Nova Scotia village from which their ancestors were deported 175 years ago.

Mr. Le Blanc, head of the pilgrimage and a candidate for governor of Louisiana, and the other pilgrims, all descendants of the Acadians, whose story is told in "Evangeline," were guests of the city of Montreal at a dinner.

There were toasts to the king, to President Hoover and to the 40 guests of honor. Then Mr. Le Blanc arose and spoke in a French that has none of the idiom acquired by the French who have remained in Canada.

"I speak in the French of my grandfathers," he said apologetically. "We Acadians have been too much occupied with getting settled and making a place for ourselves in the south to have time to bring our French up to date."

As he finished, Mons. George M. Le Pailleur, a canon of the Catholic archdiocese of Montreal, gently reprimanded him for his apologetic attitude.

"I am touched by the classic, ancient French our guest speaks and by the quaintness of his idiom," he said, "and I am charmed by the rugged eloquence of him whom it serves."

Whites Corrupt SeminoleIndians, Survey Charges

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Charges that Seminole Indians are faced by deplorable conditions from association with "irresponsible members of the white race in villages back of Miami" were contained in the report of a survey of the situation by Clement S. Ucker, member of the board of United States Indian commissioners. Mayor C. H. Reeder, of Miami, today received a copy of the report.

Mr. Ucker came here some time ago to investigate reports that the Indians were suffering from high water, disease and lack of food.

The report referred to allegedly alarming social and moral conditions during the last year and a half, and asserted:

"The changed condition of affairs is due directly to bootleg liquor and to the harboring of girls in so-called 'places of amusement' back of Miami.

"Wholly irresponsible people construct a 'typical Florida jungle' and in the center of this jungle is erected a 'typical Seminole camp.' The visitor is charged 25 or 50 cents admission to see a Seminole Indian village. A Seminole man is hired to look after the Indians. He pays them, feeds them, cares for them and keeps the camp supplied with Seminoles.

"Moonshine liquor is readily accessible to the young fellows and the old ones, too. Its effect is absolutely and totally demoralizing."

The report said the commission membership should be advised by the government doctor, employed to aid the Indians, that the Seminole women have been noted for their virtuousness within the last year and a half.

The report recommend enactment of a law providing a ten-year prison term for making liquor available to a Seminole; ten years for improper social relations with a Seminole; and recommended establishment of an advisory council in Florida to handle complaints by Seminoles or others regarding the Indians.

U. S. Foreign Workers To Receive Expenses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Foreign service officers are to receive funds for the first time this year for rent, heat, light and fuel and the state department today issued regulations under which approximately $1,750,000 in the new allowances are to be expended.

Under the regulations all chiefs of missions will receive a flat sum of $3,000 a year, while subordinate foreign service officers' allotments will range from $1,700 in the more expensive posts to $575 in the less costly posts.

All cities of the world, in which the United States maintains diplomatic or consular officers, were divided into five groups ranging from the first-class, containing the less expensive posts, to the fifth class, containing five cities where the maximum allotments are allowed. These cities are Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Montreal, Singapore and Tokio.

The regulations provide that foreign service officers with dependents will receive considerably more than those who are single and without dependents.

PILSUDSKI SELECTS CABINET FOR POLAND

"Uncrowned King" Answers Call of Distressed Nation.

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 25.—(AP) Marshal Joseph Pilsudski formed a new Polish cabinet today which received the approval of President Moscicki.

Premier and Minister of War—Joseph Pilsudski.

Minister Without Portfolio—Colonel Beck.

Interior—General Skladkowski.

Foreign Affairs—August Zaleski.

Public Worship and Education—Czerwinski.

Agriculture—Janta-Polczynski.

Agricultural Reform—Staniewicz.

Commerce—Kwistkowski.

Labor—Prystor.

Posts—Boerner.

Top—Crowd enjoys splendid barbecue dinner in grove on plantation of S. B. Byrom, near Byromville. Center—Inspecting cotton on 150-acre demonstration on plantation of S. B. Byrom. Left to right: R. B. Owen, farmer; S. B. Byrom, owner of plantation; Hon. Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture; Charles Griffin, Georgia agricultural department; L. A. Woodruff, cotton producer for Mr. Byrom; Colonel Harvie Jordan, director of cotton demonstration; Joseph O. Thompson, farmer of Roba, Ala.; J. H. Pressley, Albany, Ga.; O. D. Culpepper, Albany, Ga. Botton—Miss Evelyn Giles, Byromville, Ga.

BY HIRAM B. ROMANS,
Editor Southern Cultivator.

Mention acreage reduction to the average cotton raiser and he will "hit the ceiling," figuratively speaking; the principal reason that he doesn't hit you on the point of your chin is that he desires you to retain your mental faculties while he tells you wherein you are wrong and advocating a plan that means ruin to the great cash crop of the south.

The great majority of these cotton producers overlook the fact that most of the propaganda for acreage reduction is supplemented with arguments for increasing the production per acre and accompanied by plans showing how this can be accomplished, the general idea being to hold the crop of any year within the bounds of what the market will absorb readily at a good price, improve the quality, increase the length of lint, and reduce the cost of production.

Economists and agricultural experts long ago started warning the farmers of the south that haphazard methods that prevailed in the raising of cotton spelled ultimate ruin, and agreed that the four essentials mentioned above must be adopted in order to secure a profit from the south's cash crop.

Progress in Demonstrations.

Failing in securing a general adoption of these measures by argumentative means most of the agricultural colleges of the south inaugurated the five-acre cotton contests, and working through county agricultural agents, have made fair progress in demonstrations that revealed improved practices resulted in increased production per acre and greatly reduced the cost of raising the staple.

An independent organization working to the same end is the American Cotton Association of Atlanta, whose "better farming campaign" was inaugurated by Colonel Harvie Jordan some seven years ago. This organization has conducted two and three-acre demonstrations in several of the southeastern states and in every instance they have resulted in farmers who operated nearby taking up the intensive cultural methods employed, so that every year sees an increasing number of enterprising farmers forsaking old methods of cotton culture, under which they were raising less than a third of a bale to the acre at a cost of 16 to 20 cents a pound, and by the improved plans now are securing a bale or better to the acre with the cost averaging less than ten cents per pound.

This year Colonel Jordan enlisted the co-operation of S. B. Byrom, of Byromville, Ga., in conducting a demonstration in intensive cultural methods so large that it has attracted attention from New York to Texas. Mr. Byrom's demonstration consisted of three fields, one of 100 acres and two of 25 acres each. The soil is a gray loam with red clay foundation, fairly fertile and comparatively level.

In its preparation the land was broken deeply with tractors, and later was harrowed with discs to a fine tilth and bedded into rows three and one-half feet wide. Before planting there was drilled into the beds 500 pounds of a 12-4-7 high grade complete fertilizer per acre, on 125 acres, analyzing 23 per cent plant food. On the third plat of 25 acres there was used 600 pounds of a complete 8-4-4 fertilizer, analyzing 16 per cent with a filler of 400 pounds of cottonseed hulls in the mixture.

Planted in April.

The demonstrations were planted early in April with pedigreed Wilson Improved 1 1-16-inch staple seed, the seed being planted with improved droppers from 10 to 12 inches apart, and after germination chopped to a stand, leaving from three to four stalks to the hill. Thirty days after planting, a subsequent application of 100 pounds of sulphate of ammonia was applied per acre to the 100-acre test and 50 pounds of sulphate of ammonia per acre to the other two 25-acre plats. Thirty days later subsequent applications of sulphate of ammonia was repeated in the same quantity as above. This made 700 pounds per acre to 100 acres of the highest grade fertilizers ever used under cotton on large acreage and 600 pounds per acre of the same grade of goods on the smaller tract of 25 acres. Other applications were made later in differing quantities on the three plats, bringing the average applications for the entire demonstration up to 686 pounds per acre.

Cotton on the entire demonstration began to open rapidly the middle of August and a statewide invitation was extended for Saturday, August 23, for those who desired to visit the cotton fields of Mr. Byrom and see for themselves the results that had been obtained. More than 500 farmers, bankers, merchants and agricultural workers assembled in a grove on Mr. Byrom's plantation where a generous barbecue dinner was served to the visitors, and a meeting was held which was addressed by many leaders of thought and action on agricultural methods.

Practically every one present visited all three of the demonstrations, and were impressed with the fact that the improved methods of intensive culture which are being used by 4-H club boys on their one-acre tracts, by farmers on two, three and five-acre demonstrations, can be duplicated on tracts as large as the individual farmer concerned is able to finance.

Among the speakers who were introduced by Colonel Jordan to the assemblage was Mr. Byrom, who spoke at considerable length in giving details of operation. He stated that his cost up to picking time was $2,942.15. Fertilizer cost $18.93 per acre, and the entire demonstration was plowed nine times. Boll weevil control had been amply provided for and applications of poison were efficiently made at such intervals as were necessary to keep the cotton pest under subjection. Counting cost of seed, rent on land, and $100 depreciation on machinery brought his cost up to $3,542.15. He estimated that picking would cost $750 and ginning $400, making the cost to produce $7 per acre. Forty bales have already been picked, and estimates on the ultimate production of the entire tract are thought to be well over a bale to the acre, or 150 bales.

Object Lesson.

Mr. Byrom's big demonstration is an object lesson of what any farmer may accomplish by the use of fertilizer and intensive cultivation on land that had not been previously built up by special preparation. Experienced agriculturists who surveyed the fields and noted closely the results obtained voiced the opinion that his yield would have been greatly increased if the demonstration had been planted following Austrian peas, hairy vetch, or some other good legume sowed last fall and plowed under this spring.

Low prices of farm products, distress that existed among the farmers, and measures that would alleviate the situation were among matters that were discussed at the meeting that followed a general excursion of observation of the cotton demonstration, and when all was said two great facts stood out as responsible for the wail for "farm relief"—lack of organization among the agriculturists of the south to control surplus production and have some voice in determining the price of their products, and the reluctance of farmers to abandon obsolete methods for modern farm practices.

The end of distress on the farm begins to manifest itself with each individual farmer when he adopts the live-at-home method and raises every article of food and feed possible on his own acreage. The cow, hog and hen are large factors in this program, as well as the planting of leguminous cover crops to help save the top soil during the winter season and to plow under as green manure in the spring.

Cotton will always be produced in Georgia, and it will be a real cash crop bringing a profitable price for the average farmer, when he increases the productivity of his soil so that he can raise a bale per acre of inch or long staple at a cost of around 10 cents a pound. Cotton acreage reduction must come and it will come when each individual farmer realizes that reducing the acreage along sound farming practices will increase and not decrease his return on the staple.

TRUE RICHES—But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness.—1 Tim. 6:11.

ALADDIN COMES TOO LATE.

The gubernatorial campaign in its last throes has developed a deplorable situation.

Here we have five candidates for governor strenuously propounding to the perplexed people their several remedies for the deficits of the state's revenues, estimated variously from $5,000,000 to a possible $8,000,000. They are hard working to answer the demand of The Constitution to tackle that paramount problem of state finance.

And yet all unbeknownst to us there sits almost in sight of the capitol dome one who could grab up the state's debts and liquidate them before any of us could say "Jack Robinson."

On this page is printed an editorial from the Carroll County Times showing how, in our financial bewilderment, we have innocently overlooked the biggest bet in Georgia. The esteemed Times says:

"A five million dollar deficit or debt for the state of Georgia is no burden at all and no one knows that better than does The Atlanta Constitution."

Just so! Naturally all we know about it is that many thousands of our school teachers are hawking their back pay warrants over the state at 10 to 20 per cent discount to get needed money to live on; but, of course, as the esteemed Times says, that "is no burden at all" to them.

All we know further is that thousands of Confederate veterans, mostly around 85 years of age, are without their meager pensions, they and the Confederate widows largely in dire distress, and the old gray heroes dying more than one a day with the state in their debt; but that "is no burden at all" to them.

But, yes, we know more—that the insane at Milledgeville are suffering from underkeeping and overcrowding, and the county jails are carrying hundreds of those miserable victims of mental disease because there is no room for them at the state's hospital—and all because the state cannot pay its debt to them, and to the tubercular inmates at Alto sanitarium where beds and board are lacking; but all that "is no burden at all" to those victims of a swelling state deficit.

The esteemed Times tells the people that Joe Veal, business manager of Carroll county, "would laugh at handling such a bagatelle as five million dollars" of state debt.

And here the entries for the governorship are closed—and Joe Veal undiscovered until it is too late to conscript him into the race!

But once unveiled to the hungry eyes of our debt-ridden citizens they must suffer the chagrin of not being able for another two years, at least, to turn over their huge treasury deficit to the deft hands of Carroll county's financial wizard who could strike the bald rock of our "many fold more million tax resources," as the esteemed Times puts it, and cause a stream of solvency to flow into the treasury and the debts due the teachers, veterans, state sick and state educational institutions to vanish "like the baseless fabric of a dream."

It will be tough to sit for two years more under the blasted fig tree of state credit lamenting the fate that deprived us of the salvation service of Magician Joe Veal!

OUR SURPLUS COUNTIES.

In a well-argued editorial the Columbus Enquirer-Sun presents the case of "too many counties in Georgia" and says:

> It would appear the time has come when the question of operation and economy should demand the merging of many of the counties which are not self-supporting with others.

The Constitution has advanced that opinion many times and given the reasons that should be convincing to the citizens who are taxpayers in the counties that are overburdened with the expenses of county officers and administration.

There are scores of obvious cases in the state where two, and some times three, counties could be merged with no loss of conveniences and with great savings of expenses and taxes. It is easy to point out such cases, where one set of county officials, one courthouse, one jail, one term of court and jury service, one school system, one poor farm and one chain gang could serve two or three adjoining counties, with great savings of public money to their citizens. Modern roads and transport make that consolidation of interests even more convenient than the creation of separate counties was supposed to be when their chopping out occurred.

The constitution of the state provides that—

> Any county may be dissolved and merged with contiguous counties by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors of such county, voting at an election held for that purpose.

Therefore it is purely a question for the electors of a county to determine whether they will continue to be overtaxed for useless officers and administrative costs, or will combine with another county to reduce officials, expenses and taxes. There is scarcely a doubt that the taxpayers in fifty counties of the state would vote for county mergers if they had demonstrated to them the unquestioned facts and figures that argue for such consolidations. But their county officials will not supply them with such a demonstration.

PITIABLE!

On Sunday at Cincinnati two past commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union army veterans of the War Between the States, warned the national convention of Federated Patriotic Societies "to combat the baleful influence of the Daughters of the Southern Confederacy."

It was a pitiable throw-back to the archaic "bloody shirt" era and came from minds still afflicted with the gangrene of sectional hatred. The utterances of the two old chauvinists will be viewed generally as more defiling to them as soldiers and patriots than to the objects of their bitterness and fears.

The warning that "the Daughters of the Confederacy is the country's worst enemy" is too ridiculous to be taken as more than the splenetic eruptions of a couple of "Old Mortalities" seeking to renew the fading record of a national misfortune long since redeemed and resealed permanently by the loyalty and valor of the sons and daughters of the conquered Confederacy of 1861-5 in the national crises of 1898 and 1917.

The assailed Daughters of the Confederacy have no occasion to feel hurt by these belated echoes from superannuated irreconcilables, sounded over the graves of their fathers, brothers and sons who have given their lives to the reunited nation and are buried on national battlefields and in national cemeteries. Their record is clean and their purposes to keep history truthful and southern motives in war and peace untainted for treason in the one case and disloyalty in the other, commend them to all who value sincerity and impeccable honor.

It is only an incitement to pity when these feeble-minded old men find a public medium for their outdated ravings over a past now covered with sacred memories and the palms of later mutual fraternities and victories for noble common causes.

Senator Moses is going west to round up the "sons of the wild jackass" and he would do well to heed the advice of Josh Billings and approach them from their fronts.

Chairman Fess is another republican with reversible prohibition principles.

There may be significance in that the "Hoover Highway" doesn't run westward.

In these "endurance" contests the defenseless people are winners by many lengths.

Senator Borah says the tariff bill isn't helping the farmers. Does he consider that news?

What this country needs is more private parking reservations for played-out politicians.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

A Russian Divorce.

A Russian poet, writing in a Moscow magazine recently, described how he looked at his wife in the morning as she lay asleep. He observed, like d'Annunzio did this once of Eleanore Duse, how her face had grown deeply grooved and tired and how many white hairs had appeared in the mass of black. And so the poet said to himself speaking of his wife: "You are old, but I am young. I have lately seen a lovely young girl at a window in our street. I am grateful to my wife for her help in the long struggle. But I have my life to live. I will divorce her this very day." This unbosoming, done in poetic language, was hailed as a fine piece of writing by some of the Moscow critics. And, as the poet in question did not confine himself to words, but actually proceeded to put his wife away and married the young girl, his act was called a demonstration of the new sense of independence in the proletariat and an indication of the breakdown of the old bourgeois legality. But some days thereafter there came the voice of Besimansky, another Bolshevik poet and he wrote: "Why do we permit such rot in our magazines? It is rankly counter-revolutionary this kind of lost. The woman who has gone through famine and civil war is thrown aside. And who takes her place? The well-preserved little dame of the petty soviet bourgeoisie, a girl who plucks her eyebrows and smears her lips with rouge to imitate the bourgeois ladies of Paris. Are we going to have our young workers be instilled with this kind of subtle poison? Away with this depraved counter revolutionary bunkum!" That is the way Besimansky talked. Whether the first poet's procedure was counter-revolutionary does not matter. The phraseology of the bolsheviks is often startling. But that in many cases it is a shabby egoistical trick, which, alas is not confined to the workers' republic, no decent man will gainsay.

Hero Factories.

At last we have learned the secret of the stuff heroes are made of. Mrs. Adams, lecturer on biology at Cambridge University, explained the other day that bravery in great danger or at a sudden crisis was due to the flow of adrenalin from the adrenal gland into the blood. Heroes it appears, are merely people with enlarged adrenal glands. But what is more gratifying still, Mrs. Adams added that adrenalin can be made by the distillation of coaltar. All this makes a London paper exclaim as follows: "Bless your honor! cried Trim, advancing three steps as he spoke, does a man think of his Christian name when he goes upon the attack? Or when he stands in the trench, Trim? cried my uncle Toby, looking firm, or when he enters a breach? said Trim, pushing in between two chairs. Or forces the lines? cried my uncle, rising up and pushing his crutch like a pike. Or facing a platoon? cried Trim, presenting his stick like a firelock. Possibly not; but he certainly ought to think of his adrenal glands. What Hannibal would have given to know of this useful wrinkle! How glad Mark Antony would have been to learn what could be done with a little distilled coaltar! As for us, we shall be prepared another time. The battle of Waterloo might have been won, not on the playing fields of Eton, but in the laboratories of London."

Herriot As Writer.

When a discriminating litterateur and a savant like Edouard Harriot, who only recently made a speech in such Latin that even his political adversaries marveled at its purity, when such a man goes on a journey and that journey leads him of all places to Athens, the description which follows is bound to be a delight. And such, indeed, is the former French premier's new book "Under the Olive Tree." The title comes from the late Anatole France. France wrote some fascinating dialogues on the subject of peace in the last year of his life. His secretary grouped them under the title: "Under the Rose Tree." A few days before his death, the old master, lying in a reverie at the villa, suddenly roused himself and calling his secretary, said: "Corday, we have made a mistake with the title of that last book. Since we talk of peace, the book should have been placed under the symbol of peace: the olive branch." Edouard Herriot referred to the two titles in a valedictory speech he pronounced on the occasion of France's death. And now he has used the ensign of the olive tree in his own travelogue. M. Herriot revealed himself a consummate artist already with "The Normandy Forest," but in the present work he has surpassed his former self. By profession instructor of classical languages and culture, he is the ideal man to take for guide on a voyage through old Hellas. The book shows that he is filled with the Hellenic spirit and bubbling over with enthusiasm for his subject. Under our eyes the ruins arise again and the gods on Olympus speak once more. The phantoms of heroes and philosophers, under Herriot's magic touch, people again the gardens and temples of Athens and Corinth, and the author communicates their conversation to his readers.

$5,000,000 State Debt "No Burden at All" To Joe Veal, of Carroll

(From the Carroll County Times).

It is a fact that the state is behind in the payment of certain appropriations, it is claimed, about $5,000,000, and as done with deliberation, not to say malice, these defaulted payments are due to those most needing them and the least able to do without them, the common school teachers, the state institutions, asylum and old veterans.

In common justice when payment was being made on the various appropriations for salaries to the governor, etc., there should have been no discriminations, all should have been paid alike. In that event there would have been no great hardship and the amount now due and unpaid would have been distributed among all and there would not today be the complaint that there is.

A five million dollar deficit or debt for the state of Georgia is no burden at all, and no one knows that better than does The Atlanta Constitution and the few who follow in its lead.

During the five years that Joe L. Veal has had charge of the business affairs of Carroll county, he has met a bigger deficit relatively in county funds, nor did he go whining round about the burden he was carrying. Within the first few months after he came into office, through no fault of his, but following and resulting from the mistakes of a former administration, the county sustained the loss of more than $150,000 of taxes collected and being held to meet the current expenses of the county. So far as the burden of this loss was concerned hardly a dozen men in the county knew it. He pursued the even tenor of his way, husbanded his resources, and met every claim and has built several hundred miles of good county roads. A year or two later when the courthouse was burned, with his characteristic promptness and good hard horse sense, he has built us a new courthouse which is the pride, not merely of Carroll county but of the entire state, where it is known.

Now five million dollars and the burden of the state government is not nearly so heavy a burden to Georgia, with her immense resources, as was the $150,000 loss to Carroll, with no income save from the taxes derived from less than eight million dollars of farms, etc.

Georgia has lost nothing, and has many fold more million tax resources than Carroll. Joe Veal would laugh at handling such a bagatelle as five million dollars.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL.

Kellogg as a Voluntary Justice of the World Court at the Hague.

The nomination, by the American group at Geneva favorable to the World Court, of Frank B. Kellogg to succeed Chief Justice Hughes as a justice of that international tribunal is a high recognition of the character and past services of that eminent ex-senator, ex-ambassador to Great Britain, and former secretary of state.

Judge Kellogg, as co-author of the Kellogg-Briand treaty to renounce war as an instrument of national policy, has become a world figure of exalted stature. He has obtained the respect and confidence of national leaders around the globe as a statesman of seership and as an apostolos of the good ship "Harmony" which bears the common hopes of humanity for a permanently pacified world.

* * * *

What the World Court Is For.

Partizanry in these United States, mainly inflamed to discredit and defeat the great visions of President Woodrow Wilson, on the conclusion of the World War, has discolored and deceived public opinion as to the creation and functions of the International Court.

While so much of cavil and criticism is revolving about it in state and national campaigns it is highly worth while for thoughtful and patriotic citizens to examine how the court came to be and what for?

Those things cannot be clearly learned by listening to stump harangues by persons with the cunning art of appeals ad captandum vulgus—to the prejudices and ignorant fears of men and women who believe in ghosts and goblins.

The World Court is, in truth, the greatest effort in all history to reduce civilization and international relations to a system of pacific judicature.

* * * *

This Nation Not a Member.

While the court was adopted by the signatories of the League of Nations and definitely organized by the election of the nine judges in 1921, with the seat of the court at The Hague in Holland, the United States has not been one of its members. The United States senate refused to ratify the protocol setting up the court without there should be agreement upon five reservations adopted by the senate in the interest of the United States.

The league assembly accepted the reservations "in principle," except that it demurred to the stringency of the fifth reservation—"that the court shall not, without the consent of the United States, entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has or claims an interest."

That is claimed to be a stipulation that would hog-tie the court and subject it to possible plenary dictations by the United States.

* * * *

Stalled, and Still Stuck.

Right there the adhesion of the United States became stalled, and the whole matter is still stuck.

President Coolidge refused to ask the senate to modify or recede from its reservations.

Meantime Elihu Root, the real promoter of the court and framer of its statute in large part, agreed with a British associate to an "interpretation" of the senate reservations, which has been accepted by the league representatives.

Thereupon President Hoover ordered our Ambassador Gibson, present at Geneva, to sign the protocol for the United States and has submitted it in its amended form, including the American reservations, to the senate for ratification. That matter will come up at the resumption of the senate session in December. Then the whole subject of adhesion to the court will again be threshed over.

* * * *

A Shuttle-Cock of Politics.

This issue of possible relations of the United States to the "Permanent Court of International Justice," which is the legal name of the so-called World Court, has become a shuttlecock in our national and state politics.

An interminable lot of flubdub and poppycock has been spread over the country to confuse the people about a great international interest of which they have little understandable information.

Politicians who are adepts at playing to the traditional prejudice of Americans against "foreign entanglements" have spread among the people the despicable rot that adhesion to the court will put this nation handcuffed into the power of the League of Nations, subject our rights of sovereignty to its dictations, and obligate us to send our sons at its demand to fight the battles of European and Asiatic people.

* * * *

The Place Where McGregor Sits.

Of course, the United States do not "have to" join the World Court. We have an incontestable right to be our own big bully, and tell the rest of the world to go to—; but the full importance and imperative influence of that great court will be lacking while "McGregor" is absent from the table, for "where McGregor sits is the head of the table!"

The World Court was conceived by prescient Americans and owes its existence to their initiative and juristic wisdom and skill.

When and if the United States enters it officially it will immediately feel the thrill of a new and commanding power in all its joints. The other nations of the world, now lacking satisfying confidence in its sanctions, will agree that the United States will give to its judgments an authority that will make them supreme in international justice.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 25.—Sex may be only two times three to the comedians but it's the greatest asset one can have in Hollywood.

Despite all her shenanigans which have made the best and blackest headlines of past months, Clara Bow has been signed to another contract by Paramount.

Bets have been against it; rumor has reported the Bow as on the verge of retirement or adventuring to another studio. But box office receipts mean more to a movie producer than discretion. So the Clara who came five years ago to this studio as a protege of B. P. Schulberg, will continue with these producers.

The contract is made for one year's time. If I am any guesser at all, it will be just full of clauses and restrictions. But none of these have hampered Clara in the least in years past, so there is no reason to believe that her technique will suffer any sea change now.

That her contract reads for 12 months instead of three to five years, may be executives' way of disciplining their red-headed star. In the past their means of getting at Clara Bow has been through her pocket book. But she pays with a smile, events have proved, and is true to her idea of herself.

A new haircut, a slimmer figure than she has displayed for several seasons, and a husky quality of voice which puts over that red-hot sex idea on which she made her fame, are the assets she is bringing to "Her Wedding Night," a picture she will shortly begin.

* * * *

Lila Lee is still in Arizona waging war on a depleted constitution. She became, from a plump and pleasing type, one of the wilow-slim beauties which directors adore and which have occasioned more sorrow and tragedy than any other angle of screen qualification. The work involved in the making of talking pictures is heavier than that of accomplishing a silent film. But the camera demands are the same. And food must be cut to such a minimum that the body has little to travel upon.

Slim Summerville pockets his five-year contract and looks on life with eyes of security for the first time in many, many years. The long, lanky actor with faded eyes and a pathetically wistful, thwarted look on his grotesque face, has gone over the top as the most sought-after type in the colony at the present time.

Following his success as Tjaden in "All Quiet on the Western Front," he was offered parts by several studios. But he really couldn't believe his luck and played them dazedly all the while thinking this was a flash in the pan.

Then a five-year contract—which is just about as good as they come in Hollywood these days—starts him off in a series of two-reel featured comedies, the first of which, "Parlez Vous," is about the funniest thing made in this village for many months.

Slim was once a Keystone cop; whenever an actor or actress makes good in Hollywood in a great big way, go back to their beginnings and nine times out of ten, if they are of a certain vintage, you discover that Mack Sennett keyed them in their acting gunge and gave them an opportunity to capitalize on their talents.

Russell Gleason is one of the most loyal friends in the young set here. A girl he knew was recently bemoaning her fate because she had to make a flying trip to New York and "didn't know what to do with her cats and her car."

"Bring 'em over here," said Russell generously. "We've got lots of room and we'll be glad to take care of 'em for you."

She brought them. Eight cats which were installed in the Gleason estate in somewhat precarious proximity to the four dogs which already contributed to the family menagerie. Her car went into the garage along with a large and varied assortment of Gleason cars.

A few days ago she dropped a casual note saying she was going to stay in New York.

Yes. . . . . He's thinking the same thing.

Army Acts To Halt Influx of Jobless

In order to lessen the southward rush of unemployed transients during the coming fall and winter, the Salvation Army is issuing a warning in all cities and towns where it operates for these people to "stay at home."

The movement is instigated by Commissioner Alexander M. Damon, who is in charge of the southern territory, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., and by securing the co-operation of the other American territories, it will become a national affair.

It is believed that this will materially lessen the burden which is piled every year upon the charity organizations of the cities of the south.

Health Talks

HOW DOCTORS BECOME OLD FOGIES.

A reader submits his query, along with full documentary data. The reader saw a magazine advertisement by a quack who is so good that he has to use that means of attracting new patients. It never entered this reader's head, evidently, that a doctor who is good enough to please or satisfy his patients gets all the advertising he needs—his satisfied patients become walking ads for their doctor. Ain't it the truth? Well, you're not familiar with the tricks of the doctor trade if you doubt it.

This unsophisticated reader happened to have what the ad mentioned—varicose veins. The quack promised in the ad to remove 'em without operation, and assured prospects that he is a graduate of a medical school that once, indeed, was famous, but in the last 30 years has degenerated far below the standard of Class A medical schools in America. So the city yokel, let us call him, all in good spirit, consulted the quack, who, as you may expect from quacks only, guaranteed to cure him for a certain sum to be paid at a certain time, the old hokum, you know. But the good angels must have been guarding this little innocent, for he didn't sign up for the quack's treatment; he hesitated.

The near victim's next step was an odd one. He wrote to the life insurance company in which he had an insurance policy. The papers submitted by my correspondent did not include a copy of his letter to the insurance company, but they did include the letters he received from the insurance company. First was one from the medical director of the insurance company; this doctor is probably a nice, affable, dignified gentleman, always dressid in a quiet yet impressive style as befits an officer of a great insurance corporation with a lot of ordinary doctors under him. He merely tells the dumb policyholder coldly that he would question the desirability or safety of any such method of treating varicose veins. He further informs the policyholder that "we have no knowledge of the qualifications of the writer of this advertisement."

That was no kind of an answer for the medical director to make. If he did not know that the method of treating varicose veins exploited by the quack is the best treatment we can give—and evidently he didn't—he should have assigned the query to some doctor who does know what is going on in the medical world today. If he couldn't see on the face of it that the advertiser was a quack and an unsafe man for his policyholder to have any truck with, he should have turned that question over to some physician who does know a quack when he encounters one. Had this corporation employe kept in touch with the progress of medicine he would have known that the policyholder was on the right track but in the wrong pew. There are hundreds of good, reputable physicians in the same city where the quack holds forth, who are competent to obliterate varicose veins without interrupting the patient's ordinary occupation. A great insurance company's medical director naturally would not be aware of that. His job does not call for a working knowledge of modern medicine.

American Tourists Reported in Crash

BICESTER, OXFORDSHIRE, England, Aug. 25.—(UN)—Several Americans were reported among a party of tourists badly injured today when a sight-seeing bus overturned while returning from Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's home.

Twenty-seven persons were reported in the bus at the time of the accident.

CLUES DISSIPATED IN FAIR, AIKEN HUNT

to materialize later in the day when the sheriff decided against issuing a public statement he had indicated he would give to the press, assuming "full responsibility" for the escapes of last Thursday. During the forenoon Sheriff Lowry had informed reporters that he would "give out a statement" later in the day, taking all responsibility for the affair, and would reiterate his opinion therein that his jail personnel was blameless.

"I am still sheriff of Fulton county," Mr. Lowry told newspapermen in discussing his anticipated statement, "and as sheriff it's up to me to run the Fulton jail. I'm responsible for what goes on there, and I have decided, after full investigation of the escape of Fair and Aiken, that there is no need for a 'shake-up'."

Decides Against Statement.

Late in the afternoon, however, the sheriff declared he had "decided not to make a statement."

In the interim Ed A. Stephens, assistant solicitor-general in charge of investigating what has been called an "elaborate" and "wholesale" conspiracy on the part of "outsiders," continued his inquiry into the circumstances of the escapes from the conspiratorial angle. The assistant solicitor, however, aside from admitting that he had called Mrs. Fred Fair, wife of one of the fugitives, and Mrs. Kitty Heath, another woman connected with the Fair case in its earlier stages, to his office, declined to make public the names of any other persons he might have questioned or that he may in the future interrogate. It was recalled, however, that last Saturday it was indicated by attaches of the solicitor's staff that virtually every person who has ever visited either Fair or Aiken during their incarceration would be closely checked in an effort to determine possible sources of information linking "outside" individuals with the escape plot.

Mr. Stephens, who Sunday had announced that he would take immediate steps to combat the earlier move of counsel for Aiken and Fair to obtain further legal consideration of their cases at the hands of the Georgia supreme court, Monday declared that due to the pressure of other business he had not been able to appear before the high tribunal thus far in such efforts. He said, however, that some time today he would make a move in the supreme court to have dismissed Fair's plea for a rehearing of a former decision by the high court, which had affirmed the procedure and sentence of death of inferior courts.

Speculation on Whereabouts.

About the courthouse, in the absence of definite statements from official sources, speculation continued to be rife as to the probable general whereabouts of the escaped pair. While many clung to the far-flung theory that Fair and Aiken had been taken far away via the air route, others stubbornly insisted that it was their belief the two men are in hiding somewhere in or around Atlanta.

Those who hold to the airplane or automobile escape possibility point out that indications are that the plot had been long in the making and that the opinion of officials that they were aided by a closely-knit group of co-conspirators augurs strongly for an elaborate medium of getaway. The others, however, point out that both men were virtually penniless, without any outside means of getting far away, and must of necessity be in hiding in the city or near-by.

If He Thinks Himself a Prince He Will Stand Before Kings

By Robert Quillen

If you would keep a boy decent, give him reason to be proud.

The boy who doesn't care how he looks or what people think of him is a boy whipped by shame.

If he can stoop to vice or trickery or petty crime without shame, it is because he has sullenly resigned himself to the level of his background.

Because his father is a worthless ne'er-do-well despised by the community—because his parents quarrel and berate one another like the commonest of trash—because of dirt or ill manners or dishonor—because of a background that offends his ideals and shames him when he compares it with other homes, he thinks himself a scrub by birth, denied the possibility of becoming a fine gentleman, and shame and resentment combine to make him a comrade and partizan of the worthless.

The normal boy's soul is clean and fine. He longs to be a Galahad. His highest ambition is to be without fear and without reproach. He pictures himself as a knight defending and preserving things that are fine.

He wants to believe his mother the most beautiful and the most gracious in the world; he wants to believe his father the bravest and strongest and wisest of men; he wants to believe his home, however humble it may be, a shrine worthy of a nobleman.

Say, if you will, that he lives in a dream world; but his dreams are fine and to shatter them is to leave everlasting scars on his soul.

Give him something to be proud of.

Let him be proud that his father looks the world in the eye while other men turn away; let him be proud that his mother speaks gently while others snap or scream; let him be proud, if need be, that his father takes a daily shower while other men are sour with old sweat.

Play-act if you must—pretend to be finer than you are, if that is necessary—but in some way and at any cost give the boy a background to foster the decent pride on which his manhood and his future must depend.

J. P. Wall Favors Single Primaries

Ward nomination of all aldermen and councilmen in the special primary which Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, will ask to select nominees to fill seats vacated as a result of the graft probe will meet no opposition from Murphy, he announced Monday night.

J. P. Wall, chairman of the city democratic executive committee, declared Monday that he will ask for such an arrangement to curtail expenses of candidates in the event that council passes to the committee Mr. Murphy's formal request that the primary be held.

In the past, all aldermanic nominations have been made as the result of city-wide campaigns. Mr. Wall's plan would limit such nomination to ward selection.

There will be approximately a dozen vacancies which must be filled, including aldermen from the second, seventh, eighth and ninth wards. There are councilmanic vacancies in the second, third, sixth, seventh and ninth wards.

fident of victory following a spirited campaign.

This race has been the center of interest in the primary as the other elections for circuit and chancery judges are of local interest. The other seven congressmen and United States Senator Pat Harrison are unopposed for re-election.

Congressman Collins has based his campaign on his record of 10 years in congress, while R. P. Harrelson has attacked the congressman charging him with lack of party loyalty in the last presidential election, claiming Collins should have taken the stump for the Smith-Robinson ticket. In defense, Collins has produced affidavits in the form of letters supporting the democratic presidential candidate.

GOVERNORSHIP HOLDS CALIFORNIA'S INTEREST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—(AP) A three-cornered contest for the republican nomination for governor, in which personalities figured rather than issues, featured California's primary campaign which closed tonight. Tomorrow some 300 candidates for federal and state offices will receive the verdict of most of the state's two million registered voters.

The fight for governor centered around C. C. Young incumbent; James Rolph, Jr., mayor of San Francisco and Buron Fitts, district attorney at Los Angeles. Others who seek the republican gubernatorial nomination are Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, of Los Angeles, sister of United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, Milton K. Young, sole aspirant for the democratic nomination.

In California candidates may seek nomination from more than one party. Adherents of Governor Young charged Milton K. Young's name was placed on the republican ballot to confuse those who sought to vote for the governor. At the last hour Milton K. Young sought to withdraw his name from the republican column but was too late.

in last week's communication from the bureau, Assistant Director Hill announcing the unfavorable ruling in absence of the director.

Political string pulling, carried on over the head of the census director, was believed responsible for the changed attitude by the bureau. Louisville would be outranked by Atlanta as a leading southern city under the new census totals. Political pressure apparently was brought to bear by the republican congressional representative from Kentucky, who is up for re-election soon, it was stated by members of the chamber committee in touch with Washington politics.

GEORGIA COTTON CO-OP TO GET ADVANCES

the grower may order the sale of his product at a specified price, may borrow 80 per cent of the value of their cotton. If the price of cotton advances substantially the percentage of the loans will be scaled down on the theory that the amount the growers need for cash is lessened by the higher market.

Discussing the plan, J. C. Stone, vice chairman of the general arm board, said it was formulated on the assumption that cotton prices "could not go much lower," and probably would rise. It would be impossible at this time, he added, to estimate the money necessary to supply the demand for loans.

Creekmore's statement said "both the farm board and the management of the American Cotton Co-operative Association feel that it is unwise to make a fixed advance on cotton regardless of market prices."

"It is believed," he added, "that on the present level of prices the amount which can now be advanced to southern farmers on delivery of their cotton will enable a majority of them to take advantage of co-operative marketing and in that way receive the benefit of any future advance in price."

Cincinnati Plays Host to G. A. R.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Cincinnati took official cognizance of its 25,000 visitors to the national encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic and its allied organizations with a civic reception tonight.

After a day of registering, verifying credentials, renewing friendships and parading about the streets with fife and drum the fading line of blue converged on Music Hall in company with thousands of wives, widows, sons and daughters of Civil War veterans to receive the welcome of the city and state.

The first business session of the 64th encampment is scheduled for Wednesday, election of officers Thursday and a pilgrimage up the Ohio river to the birthplace of President Ulysses S. Grant at Point Pleasant, Ohio, as the closing event Friday morning.

PERU PRESIDENT QUITS OFFICE

Captain Julio Goicochea, minister of foreign affairs, also a naval officer.

The dramatic close of the present 11-year regime of President Leguia came at dawn, after a night during which the elderly chief executive fought to save his tottering power. He held an all-night conference with members of the opposition who forced him out and subsequently formed the military junta.

It was shortly before 5 a. m. that President Leguia, pallid and nervous, handed the junta his resignation. Accompanied by his two sons, Juan and Jose, and his son-in-law, Alfredo Larranaga, together with several military aides, he left by automobile for Callao.

There all four boarded the cruiser Almirante Grau, which sailed toward Panama at 6 a. m. The former president was expected to board a steamship at Panama for Europe, rumors said, but his destination was not definite.

He sought to the end to remain in office, and during the night attempted to create a new cabinet of his own selection. He had started to swear the new ministers into office when the military leaders interrupted the solemn proceedings.

The scene occurred at midnight. The president had called his new cabinet members to the presidential palace. They gathered in the reception room and were about to receive the oath of office. General Sarmiento was to be president of the council and minister of war; the others were Colonel Roberto Lopez, Captain Goicochea, Colonel German Yanez, Colonel Montague, Colonel Eulogio Castillo and Rear Admiral Bielich.

President Leguia was interrupted suddenly by the arrival of Colonel Gonzales, commander of the civil guard, who strode into the room and asked the executive to receive an important communication.

The president, worn and pale, returned to the private salon, where the military commission informed him that his cabinet was not acceptable. He withdrew, bowing, and said, bitterly:

"Now those who take over the power will see the bitter difficulties of government."

The delegation then went to the army headquarters for a brief consultation. At 1:30 a. m. they returned to the ancient palace on the Plaza de Armas. Leguia, obviously tired, awaited them.

He was surrounded by a group of loyal friends, including his two sons, his son-in-law, Focion Mariategui, president of the chamber of deputies, and several members of the Peruvian congress.

The president was informed of the decision of the military group, and the plan to organize the junta at once. Leguia again bowed, and replied:

"Gentlemen, I am disposed to bow before any decision of armed forces."

Word of the revolution spread rapidly through Lima. Crowds gathered early and by 4 a. m., huge throngs were marching through the streets, shouting: "Long live the army of freedom."

Military and political prisoners were ordered freed as one of the first official acts of the junta. The censorship on outgoing press cables also was lifted.

Popular dissatisfaction with the government and the general belief that President Leguia's administration had been at least partly responsible for the economic crisis in Peru were the main forces behind the revolt.

Persons close to the president rather than Leguia himself were blamed for the alleged bad administration of funds and for other acts which the rebel leaders considered contrary to public policy and the public's good.

Members of President Leguia's family with the exception of the three aboard the cruiser with him, were understood to be at Chosica, a resort about 35 miles from Lima. His three daughters, Lola Leguia Martinez, Carmen Rosa Ayula and Maria Isabella Larrangai and three daughters-in-law were reported at the resort, and the junta was understood to be guarding them against harm.

SUITS TO FORCE SALE OF POSTOFFICE TRACT

Condemnation Proceedings Threatened Against Two Parcels.

United States Attorney Clint W. Hager Monday was preparing to institute condemnation proceedings against two parcels of the property which the government has agreed to buy for the new Atlanta postoffice.

A majority of the property owners, Hager said, have agreed to protect the government against any loss that may result from condemnation proceedings, and the total cost of the property will not go above $880,000.

Owners of the two parcels who have refused the government offer—F. T. Pike and Mrs. Elizabeth Breitenbucher and others—are holders of Spring street frontage. More than a dozen parcels of land are involved in the tract.

Clark Donaldson, chief of construction for the city, Monday approved the government's request for permission to build an underground tunnel connecting the proposed building with the Terminal station. Council is expected to ratify this action at its next meeting.

Pistol, Mistaken For Toy, Wounds Demorest Man

A practical joke that went astray resulted Monday afternoon in a painful wound for J. P. Thompson, 62, of Demorest, Ga., who was shot in the left side with his own pistol in the hands of a friend, Tom Liders, of 887 Highland View, N. E., who, mistaking the gun for a toy water pistol, attempted to scare him.

Thompson, who handles produce, has been in the habit of bringing his wares to McCullough Brothers on Produce Row, where Liders is employed. Monday Thompson went to Liders' desk, left a pistol in a drawer for safe keeping, without informing Liders.

In the drawer was a small water pistol, owned by Liders, and when Thompson came back a few hours later Liders, wanting to scare his friend and to squirt water on him, grabbed what he thought was the toy from the drawer and pressed the trigger. It was Thompson's own gun and a superficial wound was inflicted in his left side.

He was taken to Grady hospital, later to his home.

Tabernacle Class Attendance Leader

The class attendance was led in the Sunday schools of Atlanta by the Agoga class of the Baptist Tabernacle with a total present of 305, the Men's Bible class of Druid Hills Baptist came second with 228 present, and Judge Warner Hill's class of St. Mark's Methodist came third with 145 present, it was announced Monday by the Georgia Sunday School Association.

The school attendance was led by the Druid Hills Baptist Sunday school with 1,238 present, the Baptist Tabernacle came second with 1,161 present, and Druid Hills Methodist came third with 799 present.

The total attendance in the 58 schools reporting for the day was 20,848.

The report of the day follows:

Attendance at schools with an enrollment of less than 150 included: East Point Avenue Methodist 47; Ponce de Leon Avenue Methodist 50; Ephphany Episcopal 69; Union Congregational 71; Stewart Avenue Baptist 110; Inman Park Presbyterian 62.

Marital Tangle To Delay Woman's Trial in Shooting

COURT TO AIR "HUSBANDS'" CLAIMS

Whether Mrs. Corabelle Barnes has one or two husbands at present, and, if so, how this unconventional state of affairs will affect the trend of her trial on a charge of attempting to murder one of them, L. C. Barnes, 20, who was found shot three times last June 18 on the banks of the Chattahoochee, near Atlanta, will come up for airing in Judge E. E. Pomeroy's court this morning.

Evidence that went into the court record while the jury was out Monday was that the 18-year-old blonde defendant's marital entanglements involved at least two husbands—the one she is accused of attempting to murder, and Charlie F. Rice, a taxicab driver—and that so far as records are concerned there has been no divorce.

Complications Arise.

The complications set in early during the first day of the trial. The state is charging that Mrs. Barnes, in company with her husband and a man known as Parson Phillips, conspired to kill young Barnes during an automobile ride out Garrett Bridge road last June 18. Phillips has never been arrested and the young wife of the victim has clung steadfastly to her original story that Phillips shot her husband without her knowledge when the trio went "to get some whisky."

It was when Assistant Solicitor John A. Hudson attempted to put the victim on the stand that the involvement began. The defense promptly objected to Barnes testifying on statutory grounds. As the husband, Defense Attorney Frank Grizzard protested, he could not take oath either for or against the defendant, who was his wife.

"Legal Wife of Rice."

Hudson interjected that he would show that, although the young woman married Barnes in February of this year, she had done so while she still was the legal wife of Charlie F. Rice, a taxicab driver, whom, the prosecution alleged, she had married at Marietta on May 23, 1927.

The court upheld the objection, and Hudson then called Rice to take the stand.

Objection by the defense followed. Rice, Grizzard said, could not testify either for or against the defendant because he was the woman's husband.

Certificate on Record.

The state succeeded in putting in the record a marriage certificate showing that Rice and the defendant were married May 23, 1927, and then Rice was called to the stand.

"Is the defendant there the woman you married May 23, 1927?" the state asked.

Rice hung his head and declared he was not "required" to answer the question.

Judge Pomeroy held, however, that unless the defendant wished to stand on his constitutional right by declining to answer because his reply would incriminate him "in a criminal action," he would have to answer.

"I am a married man now, judge," Rice said in a low voice.

Admits Marriage.

But Judge Pomeroy insisted upon an answer unless the witness stood upon constitutional prerogative, and Rice finally admitted he and the defendant had been married upon the specified date.

At this juncture, Judge Pomeroy declared it was plain to him that unless the state and defense cleared away the complications arising from the entanglements the case would be greatly delayed. Upon agreement of opposing counsel to do their best, court was adjourned until this morning at 9:30.

85th Birthday To Be Observed By W. W. West

Admitting he is getting along in years, but is not losing his youth, W. W. West, pioneer Georgian and old-time Atlantan, will spend his eighty-fifth birthday at his Campbellton road home with his aged helpmeet and other relatives today in fond reminiscing.

Mr. West has much to recall concerning affairs of this section. Born in Putnam county in 1845, he has observed the development of Atlanta and the state through many phases. When the War Between the States came he served with the First Volunteer Confederate regiment of Savannah under Colonel Charles A. Armstead in the well-known "Republican Blues" company.

Mr. West has aided in the developments as well as observed them. As a member of the city's construction department, he aided in civic improvements, serving the city in this capacity for 20 years, up to the death of Superintendent Henry Collier several years ago. With eight children, 42 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren to his credit, he has given a number of them to local civil service. Three of his sons are on police organizations. They are John W. West, with the Atlanta police; James William West, with the East Point police, and Ed West, with the Fulton county police.

Mr. West has resided in Atlanta 30 years, during which time one of his most regular hobbies was his daily perusal of The Constitution.

Rezoning Petitions Draw Board Action

Members of the city planning commission Monday afternoon took definite action on three petitions for rezoning and deferred two others for further study.

A petition to rezone the property fronting 143 feet on the south side of Highland avenue and Sampson street for a depth of 200 feet from business and apartment to industrial was favored.

The commission denied a petition to rezone from residence to business property fronting 450 feet on the north side of DeKalb, beginning at a point 157 feet west from the corner of Scoville street.

An ordinance to rezone the south side of North avenue from Willow street to Piedmont avenue from business to apartment was approved with the exception of one lot, 59 feet wide, on the southeast corner of Willow street and North avenue.

The following petitions were held over for further study:

To change from residential to business property the strip beginning 50 feet on the west side of Whitefoord avenue, beginning 50 feet north from the corner of Fair and Whitefoord, and another strip fronting 52 feet on the east side of South Pryor street beginning 100 feet south from the corner of Dodd avenue.

Wedded in Summer Teachers Will Return

More than 50 teachers in Atlanta's elementary schools who were married this summer, will resume their posts with the opening of the new term, Miss Mary Postell, assistant superintendent of schools, announced Monday.

All those who performed their tasks satisfactorily will be retained, according to Miss Postell.

BOY, 13, KILLED WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Roy L. Tucker, Jr., Skates Into Path of Car Near Home.

Cautioned by his mother against skating in the streets, Roy L. Tucker, Jr., 13, of 1384 McPherson avenue, was fatally injured Monday morning when his roller skates carried him into the path of an automobile, according to reports of police. The lad was struck near his home by a car driven by E. B. Baker, of 296 East Side avenue, the reports showed.

Baker stopped his car and, with the aid of Policeman G. O. Carroll, rushed the injured boy to a hospital. Young Tucker, with a fractured skull, was dead when he arrived at the hospital.

Officer Carroll, who resides near the scene of the mishap and was off duty at the time, was an eye-witness to the tragedy. He and other witnesses were reported as declaring the accident apparently unavoidable.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the boy, collapsed at Grady hospital when told her child was dead. Following her recovery she was quoted as having cautioned her son against skating in the street. She said the boy was on the way to the home of a friend to return the skates, which he had borrowed. The boy's father, Roy L. Tucker, Sr., formerly district representative of the Intertype Corporation, was in Kentucky at the time of the accident.

Barker was held at police headquarters on a charge of reckless driving. He is to appear before Recorder A. W. Callaway for hearing of the case at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

"Whistlin' Lyd" Dies.

She was stricken with pneumonia at her home in Ashton, Idaho, four days ago and brought to a hospital here.

Absolutely NEW in breakfast foods

Never before have delicious flavor and definite health-regulation been so combined in Cereals.

Entirely new effects come from the inclusion of soft, fluffy particles of vegetable-cellulose, the same kind that the best vegetables and fruits themselves contain, but highly refined.

These fine particles which you cannot see or taste increase in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating, forming one of the mildest, gentlest yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage known to scientists.

Excellent for supplementing the vegetable diet of people who don't like vegetables and, therefore do not eat enough of them to regulate health-habits properly. Not a bran-food. Children, especially, can't resist the Flavor of HEINZ Rice Flakes so they don't resist their benefits.

Patented by HEINZ, after eight years of tests, this great advantage is available ONLY IN HEINZ CEREALS.

Serve twice daily for one week to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. Your money back from any grocer if not satisfactory in every way.

Send post card now for free booklet "Children's Futures Told in Foods" with sections telling about adult's needs.

Address H. J. Heinz Company, Dept. R-22, Pittsburgh. Sole makers of this new triumph in foods.

Four broadcasts of events at the national air races will be made today from Chicago.

The National Broadcasting system is planning three 15-minute programs, the first at 1:15 p. m., another at 1:45 and the third at 3:15 on the WJZ network.

The Columbia Broadcasting system will put on a description of a mock air battle over Chicago from 12:15 to 12:45 p. m. A radio-equipped airplane flying above the battle and carrying short wave apparatus will be the link to the network. Announcers will be Lieutenant Arthur I. Ennis and Lieutenant E. S. Moon.

* * * * *

A program of request numbers in which Gus Van, vaudeville partner of the late Joe Schenck, will make his return to the public, will be presented in the Radio Vaudeville hour, WSB and stations, at 8:30 p. m. Other features will be Floyd Gibbons and Ann Seymour, comedienne.

If you recall the hay deal of Jo Green vs. Farmer Dawson in which Jo took a licking of 30 dollars, it might interest you to know that Dawson sold that same hay to Nels' cousin for 50 dollars. Jo, knowing this, turns the tables on Dawson when he returns for the apple crop for which he is made to pay 30 dollars. A few days later back comes Dawson and tempts Jo with a sweet cider offer at the small price of 30 dollars and Jo falls. We can't say how good this cider is, but we will know this evening at 8 o'clock, when Jo Green's cider party will be broadcast over the Columbia coast-to-coast network in the Graybar Mr. and Mrs. hour.

* * * * *

Bernadine Hayes, "Red Head of the Air," includes two song hits from "Sailor Behave," "Highway to Heaven," and "Leave a Little Smile," in h · O'Cedar Time contribution, over WGST, and the Columbia Broadcasting network at 8:30 this morning. Miss Hayes also sings another hit, "Mr. and Mississippi." Sam Rosey, pianist-composer, plays his own arrangement of "Let's Do It."

* * * *

At just about the same time this evening a smart audience of first-nighters is hearing them at the New York premiere of the long-awaited Second Little Show, two hits from that brand-new revue will be broadcast during the Happy Wonder Bakers' program over the coast-to-coast network. Locally the program comes through WSB at 7:30 o'clock. For one of the numbers, which out-of-town critics and theatrical trade papers predict will sweep the country, its composer, Herman Hupfeld, is going to take a fast taxi ride from the theater to the broadcasting studio in order to sing and play the song which has the alliterative title of "Sing Something Simple." In this Mr. Hupfeld will be joined by the Happy Wonder Bakers' trio, and the orchestra conducted by Frank Black.

The second song from the Second Little Show, which actually comes first during the broadcast, in fact opening it, is "Lucky Seven." About it, too, the critics had very nice things to say. It will be done as an ensemble from a special scoring by Frank Black.

Broadcasting will render a tribute to the perfection achieved in the manufacture of the radio receiving set when the Westinghouse Salute is heard over WSB and a National Broadcasting Company network tonight at 8 o'clock.

A feature of the salute will be the first broadcast by a typical radio set. All owners of radio sets throughout the nation are invited to take part in the "Listening Game," a novel form of entertainment on the radio.

Parts of the program will be broadcast in the usual fashion, direct from the artist in the main studio to the receiving set in the home. Other parts wil be relayed through a nine-tube receiving set in an adjacent studio, where the program will be picked up by a microphone placed in front of the loudspeaker.

"The Listening Game" consists of trying to detect any variance in perfection of tone between direct broadcasting of the artists and the broadcasting through the radio set.

A 50-piece symphony orchestra will present the musical background of classical and light music. Isabelle Hoffman Cooper, operatic soprano, will be the guest artist. A double male quartet will also be heard.

* * * *

A request program featuring such well-known stars as Gus Van, formerly of the team of Van and Schenck; Evelyn Hoey, musical comedy star; Ann Seymour, character comedienne, and Joseph Regan, tenor, will be presented as the RKO program over WSB and stations associated with the NBC at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

* * * *

The "Juba Dance," "Oh, Miss Hannah" and "Old Uncle Ned" will be played by the Pure Oil orchestra under the direction of Wayne King in a broadcast from WSB and the NBC Chicago studios tonight at 6 o'clock.

Dragging Feet

If your VITALITY is slipping away from you try S.S.S.

JUST one complaint—those dragging feet—yet they tell a big story. Back at the fountain-head the red-blood-cells are not up to standard. When your red-blood-cells are only 80% you are NOT yourself—60% is dangerous. You haven't the vitality to fight infection and disease.

S.S.S.—the great blood Tonic—stimulates the blood-building organs to supply the necessary red-cells. Your appetite picks up. Your body is strengthened, invigorated—you feel like yourself again! And DRAGGING FEET become STEPPING FEET.

Take S.S.S. before each meal.

Millions of people have found it the easiest and surest way to keep themselves "fit." Its successful record of over 100 years in building red-cells in the blood is a guarantee of satisfaction. Get the large size bottle. At all drug stores. © S.S.S. Co.

LEAGUE CRITICIZES BRITISH IN PALESTINE

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The League of Nations' mandate commission's criticisms of the British mandate in Palestine, contained in the report published today, were mainly these:

That the fatal troubles of last August should have been foreseen but were not.

That the Arab outbreak was incited primarily by Arab disappointments over non-realization of their political aspirations, laid at British doors.

That British troops and police were insufficient to maintain order in Palestine, considering the inflammable character of the mixed population.

That the Palestine government has shown itself unable to provide security for persons and property, the essential condition for the development of the Jewish national home.

That Arab interests, in the face of Jewish colonization, were not fully safeguarded.

The main points of Mr. Henderson's rejoinder to the report were:

That although fully informed through annual reports of conditions in Palestine, the mandates commission itself did not foresee the disorders of last August.

That the Arab outbreak was not incited by resentment against the British as allegedly responsible for failure of Arab aspirations. This is clearly indicated by the fact that there was no attack upon any representative of British authority.

That the Arab outbreaks were not premeditated according to careful inquiry by the Shaw commission and therefore could not have been foreseen.

That when the outbreak came the British government was attempting to establish the status of the wailing wall by agreement, which it regards as the only satisfactory settlement.

That the Palestine government has not unlimited funds for agricultural and other developments which the mandates board recommended.

Council Committee Will Meet Today

Two important committee sessions are slated for this afternoon at the city hall.

Alderman Claude Ashley, chairman of a special committee of council, named to consider a proposal of centralizing the municipal bookkeeping system in the office of the city comptroller, has called a meeting of that body for 3 o'clock.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a special committee from the Atlanta board of education will consider measures for procuring additional school funds in 1931 and also favorable legislation. Commissioner E. R. Sweat, of the tenth ward, is chairman of the school committee.

In addition to Alderman Ashley, other members of the council group are Alderman G. Everett Millican and Councilman E. P. Dodd, Ellis B. Barrett and W. Paul Carpenter.

HOLDUP BRINGS DEATH TO HALT GAY PARTY

Those arrested are Angelo Bell, 20, his brother, Mike, 16, and Ross Valone, 18. Police said the Bells confessed to the holdup and named Valone as engineer of the plot, and that Angelo admitted firing the fatal shot "because Wilkison was after my brother."

Guests at the party said five robbers participated in the holdup but the accused men said there were only three. They were heavily armed and masked, but their robbery efforts were those of amateurs.

Seeing the robbers were nervous, Wilkison and several other guests advanced cautiously toward them, while the gunmen backed toward the door. Once outside, Wilkison grabbed Mike Bell and threw him to the ground. As the student started to get up a bullet struck him in the head and caused his death two hours later.

While the holdup was in progress neighbors summoned police. Three patrolmen arrived in time to join with members of the party in pursuit of the fleeing robbers. They found Angelo and Mike, both wounded in a leg, and captured them without resistance. The wounds apparently were accidentally self-inflicted, police said.

A .32-caliber revolver from which all bullets had been fired, was found in Angelo's pocket. A 47.50 caliber rifle, known as an "elephant gun," was found where Mike was captured.

In addition to the three charged with murder the police held for questioning the Bell brothers' father, Andrew Bell, 39. They found three revolvers, two rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition in his home.

Wilkison, who was a manager of athletics at Princeton, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Wilkison, of Shaker Heights. The elder Wilkison is a prominent investment securities dealer. Dunham, who was giving the party, is a prominent dealer in real estate.

Clearing of Old City Hall Site Speeded

Augmented by another steam shovel, furnished by the city construction department, forces working on clearing the debris at the old city hall site Monday redoubled their efforts to complete the work and tender it to the Carling Hotel Company, lessees of the tract, by September 1.

Tender of the cleared site would force a showdown on the 65-year lease which the company now holds on the tract and for which the city is to get $3,550,000 if the contract is carried out.

Lessees have moved to break the contract on the ground that it was illegal and have cited this reason for their inability to finance a $2,500,000 improvement, guarantee for which they posted a $50,000 certified check with the municipal government.

Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, announced Monday that the city has sent another steam shovel to the work, making two steam shovels and a fleet of ten large trucks at work in the effort to clear the site so that the city can begin collection of $3,333 a month rental, under terms of the lease.

Fess Defends Hoover Stand On Enforcement of Dry Law

Opens G. O. P. Campaign for Congressional Majority — Shouse Replies to Wood's Charge of Maligning.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(UN) President Hoover's "strong stand" on dry-law enforcement was praised by Sena Simeon D. Fess, Ohio, the new republican national committee chairman, in the course of a review of administration achievements delivered in a radio speech tonight opening the fall campaign of his party.

It was the first mentio.. of prohibition in the national phase of the fight for control of congress at the Nov ber election.

When Fess became committee chairman two weeks ago he said prohibition would not be made a campaign issue.

Fess made a passing reference to the republican committee's attack on democratic press-agent methods, by stating:

"It is rather hard for the public to get a clear conception of this situation while so many false statements, some of them emanating from high political sources, have been put forth in an attempt to secure advantage by increasing the minds of the people the fear of an economic depression."

On the democratic side, Executive Committee Chairman Jouett Shouse issued a statement replying to Republican Congressional Chairman Wood's criticism of the press bureau. Shouse through the now famed Michelson publicity bureau quoted speeches made by Wood in congress after Mr. Hoover upheld President Wilson's request for a dem.. ratic congress. Wood was quoted as saying Mr. Hoover was "unfit for a responsible position of trust." Wood's criticisms of Woodrow Wilson on the floor of congress also were quoted, including one in which the Indiana man said the then president was an "opportunist pure and simple." The statement said these assaults of Wood on Wilson were forgotten now that Wood is charging the democrats with attempting to slander and discredit President Hoover.

Fess in his speech took up the farm relief and tariff issues, outlining the bills passed as fulfillment of the platform pledges of 1928. As to farm relief, he said, "The fundamental soundness of the legislation lies in the principle of maximum encouragement from the government with minimum interference by the government."

After explaining the Hawley-Smoot tariff, Fess said that talk of retaliation by foreign countries comes from "selfish interests." He commented that prior to passage of the 1930 act, 31 countries had already adopted in some form or other the protective system as a sound economic policy.

"There has been no retaliation legislation and there will not likely be any," he said. "We will continue to sell what we have to those countries which need our wares, and will continue to buy what we need that other countries want to sell."

Fess described the business stimulation campaign undertaken by President Hoover after the stock market crash and ensuing depression, commenting that "our opponents seem quite willing, but only to prolong a period of uncertainty in tariff legislation in order to bring a final vote as near to the campaign as possible, but were vocal in their numerous bulletins declaring that the final vote would be adverse." These statements, he said, were made in the face of knowledge that the democratic party would supply enough votes to insure passage. Five democratic senators voted for the Hawley-Smoot bill on final passage.

World peace, said Fess, has been the aim of the most notable service of the first year and a half of the Hoover administration. He told of the naval treaty, Haiti, and other international developments.

The Ohio senator's full comment on prohibition and law enforcement follows:

"The administration has taken advance ground on moral and social questions which yield to government administration.

"The president is uncompromising on the necessity for enforcement of law. No subject has appealed to him in a greater degree than the tendency toward violation of law. He appointed a commission of notable ability to investigate and report its findings on the subject of crime.

"He has taken a strong stand on the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and has presented to congress recommendations of legislation to more effectively enforce the law, chief of which was the transfer of the enforcement division from the treasury to the legal department of the government. He has attempted to secure the best possible available talent for this service. In addition he has directed efforts to reach an agreement with Canada to reduce the importation of liquor. Some of his recommendations to congress have already been enected into law, while others remain for final action by the two houses."

Indication that the speech was a reflection of Mr. Hoover's attitude was seen by many in the fact that Fess was the president's week-end guest at Rapidan, and also conferred with Mr. Hoover at the White House today before completing his written speech. The address was broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up of radio stations.

Moving Day Permit Warning Is Issued

City Clerk J. Henson Tatum Monday issued a warning to transfer companies and persons who expect to move that the charter amendment requiring that a permit costing 25 cents be taken out at least three days before the moving takes place must be complied with.

Failure to comply with the law subjects the offender to a fine not exceeding $50 or 30 days, to be imposed at the discretion of the recorder.

A total of 139 additional moving permits had been issued by the city clerk's office Monday, bringing the total since last September 20 to 29,850.

Gasoline Tax Shows Large June Increase

An increase of $90,928.32 in fuel oil tax collections for the month of July over the preceding month was announced Monday by Comptroller General William H. Harrison in reporting the receipts.

Collections for July, which have been turned over to the state treasury, amounted to $1,207,200.26, as compared with $1,116,271.94 for June, and with $827,967.23 reported in July, 1929. At that time only four cents per gallon was collected, however, as compared with the six cents collected now.

Mercury Hits HappyMedium South of 86

Nothing but fair weather is in sight for Atlanta, Director C. F. von Herrmann, official prophet at the United States weather bureau, said Monday in preparing his forecast. Temperatures will hardly rise above 86, the high mark reached Monday, and are carded to range between that figure and a low of 68.

South Georgia probably will have cloudy weather today, Mr. von Herrmann added, and light showers. The temperatures will be moderate the first half of the week and a little warmer the last half.

Little Hope Is Held For Miss Woodside

Physicians held but little hope Monday for the recovery of Miss Margaret Woodside, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Woodside, as she lay at the point of death at St. Joseph's infirmary from a bullet wound inflicted accidentally at her home Friday night.

The pistol from which the bullet was fired belonged to her grandfather and had not been taken from a safe for seven years, the family stated. Friday it was removed during a search for some papers, placed on a mantel and forgotten. It is thought that Miss Woodside picked up the gun out of curiosity and that it went off in her hands.

FRANCIS CHECKS MEMPHIS, 4-0, AS MATES WIN

By Ralph McGill.

Ray Francis shut the leading Chickasaws out Monday afternoon at Spiller field, beating them, 4 to 0, in one of those rare pitching exhibitions which delight the fan flock and disrupt the foe.

Ray Francis had the Chickasaw hitters just as helpless as Kay Francis, the movie siren, has the boys on the silver screen. He just toyed with the Chickasaws. Four hits were their total.

The scoreboard boy hung up so many hor. collars he rode a hobbyhorse home. Nine of them in a row was the Chicks' reward for near two hours' of effort at hitting the left-hander whom Johnny Dobbs sent out there to the box.

The game reduced the lead of the Memphis club by a full game. The second place fever was burning in their veins as they dressed after the game. The Chicks are getting nervous.

STORY OF FRANCIS.

The story of the game is really a story of Ray Francis. He was turned lose by the Barons as being through. Johnny Dobbs, who is pretty tough to fool when it comes to judging ball players, took him on.

In little more than two months he has won 11 games for the Crackers and lost but one. He threw that one away, a wild throw to first base letting in the winning runs. No one has really beat Ray Francis since he joined the Crackers.

Francis likes to work for Johnny Dobbs. He tried hard enough at Birmingham but Johnny knows how to let him work. Today Francis is one of the most valuable pitchers in the league.

CARLYLE BUSY.

He got plenty of hitting aid Monday from Roy Carlyle, the big leftfielder. Carlyle celebrated his return to the game by getting two triples and a single in four trips up.

Carlyle has been on the suspended list with an injured hand. He came back Monday when Andy Chambers, pitcher obtained a few weeks ago from Newark, was taken off the list.

The lay-off did him good. He drove two far up on the distant rightfield bunk. He scored Sheehan in the first inning and counted himself on Shirley's hit in that same frame.

HITS TRIPLE.

Ray Francis weathered a stormy first inning. For a time it appeared that he might be sunk. Chet Howard was warming up furiously in the bull pen.

Francis walked Waddey and Williams, the first two men up. Tex Jeanes then forced Waddey. But Francis hit Brazill and the bases were full.

BEGINS BEARING DOWN.

The veteran began bearing down. Doc Prothro popped out to Rosenthal and Sammy Vick forced Brazill at second. The storm was over. From then on it was clear sailing.

Harry Kelly pitched good baseball for Memphis, but the Crackers hit in three pinches for four runs.

The game clicked off smoothly enough. There were a couple of errors, but no serious ones. Sam Langford turned in a great one-handed catch of Berger's drive to center in the fifth and Williams made two fine stops at second for Memphis.

But the story was Ray Francis.

The two clubs meet again today at 3 o'clock with Joe Kiefer or Andy Messenger slated to pitch for Atlanta.

Merrimack Victor In Dallas Series

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 25.—Merrimack won the ninth game of the ten-game series with Dallas Saturday afternoon, 4 to 1, making it six to three in the nine games played. The batteries were Hauer and Herrin for Dallas, Denton and Green for Merrimack.

Freed of a load of ill health, Knute K. Rockne is bustling around South Bend these days in old-time form.

A visit to Rockne's office gave one reporter a mighty urge to see a football game again; the atmosphere of the gridiron is so thick there it can be cut with a knife and spread upon slices of bread.

From the shady campus can be seen the yellow brick walls of the new stadium, a graceful, impressive structure that seats 56,000 people around a rug of turf.

The stadium is the thing at Notre Dame now; it is complete save for installing a few frills. Long before the first game is played there with S. M. U. October 4, it will be completed to the last ornamental gate and shining concrete walk.

So with a prospect of having the football team play at home for five (5)—count 'em—five (5) games, South Bend is agog, or very nearly that way. In the past the Irish have played away from home almost constantly.

ROCKNE TALKS FAST.

Rockne's spirits are so bouyant, what with getting well and scenting a resumption of active coaching and all that, that he fairly oozes news stories to his visitors.

A few questions from an interviewer and he is off like a polo pony after a loose ball.

"Miniature golf? It is an indication that the youth of today is getting soft. The long walks over the hills of a regular golf course simply are too much for them. Miniature golf just suits them."

"We intend to put out an intercollegiate miniature golf team this fall, however. We may not win many tournaments, but we will be the best dressed."

"We expect to bar Tom Thumb golf to our football players during the season, as it takes their minds off their studies and off football, especially if it also is played by young ladies in pajamas, such as I saw at Miami Beach. Besides, vest pocket golf makes boys stoop-shouldered."

"The new rules are O. K., all except the suggestion of the referee counting six to measure it. That is the bunk. In our games the referee will carry a stop-watch and I will furnish it."

"We are stopping at one and two-tenths seconds, the same as last year, and the rule does not affect us."

"I am advising all coaches using the Notre Dame system to stop 1.2 seconds after a shift."

"I feel now that there was a movement against the shift by certain parties, but I don't think they will dare show their heads again for several years. They want to eliminate all cleverness in football."

"Our prospects? Pretty good. We expect to have a good team, but I do not know how good our opponents will be. We play some of the best of them."

"Carnegie Foundation? Say, where have I heard of that before? No wonder Carnegie Tech has such a great team."

"Football as to rules is in fine shape now and they had better leave the game as it is."

ASKS ABOUT "HIS BOYS."

Rockne keeps in very close touch with the south, where so many of his boys are coaching. Mehre and Thomas at Georgia; Collins, Cerney and Enright at North Carolina; Bachman at Florida; Wynne, Kiley and Cannon at Auburn; Oberst at Washington and Lee, are some of them.

"They are great boys," Rockne said, "and I am for every one of them. They pretend to take our stuff and change it around to suit local conditions, but they really don't do a thing to it."

Nearly all of them have visited Rockne this summer and no doubt have gone away with a few pointers. The 1.2 seconds pause on the shift is one of the iron-clad pointers Rockne gave them this year. He figures that will save them from mistakes in games where the referee is timing shift plays closely; the two-tenths seconds additional is percentage.

GRANT ENTERS STATE TOURNEY AT EAST LAKE

First Day's Play Holds No Upsets; Mooney Also Plays.

By Roy White.

Their hopes of a free-for-all fight ruined by a last-minute decision on the part of Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, some 75 of Dixie's best tennis players swung into action on the East Lake Country Club courts Monday afternoon in the first round of the annual Georgia state tournament.

Favorites advanced, generally, with Grant, defending champion, pacing the seeded stars. Grant dropped but one game in taking a 6-0, 6-1 decision from George Mitchell, Atlanta player.

Grant's decision to enter was made late Monday morning, just in time to include his name in the bracketings.

He had returned from the eastern grass court play with Jack Mooney late Sunday night after driving through the country. Neither he nor Jack had expected to enter the state meet when they left the seaboard, but both reconsidered Monday.

NEEDED REST.

"Bitsy" decided to defend his title against the wishes of his parents, who suggested a rest for the young star. He has just finished, for a time, a strenuous campaign which began with the midwestern season and was climaxed by the march to the national clay court crown at Kansas City and by victories in the east. He had originally intended to utilize his present home stay in resting up for the coming national grass court tourney at Forest Hills.

Grant was enthusiastic after his first match Monday and indicated a resolve to get in plenty of clay court play while here.

"These courts are much faster than I had remembered," "Bitsy" said Monday. "Play here should speed my game a lot, and I believe it'll help me when I get back east for the nationals. Grass courts are much easier on both the feet and the eyes than clay, but you need speed as much there as here."

PLAY THIS MORNING.

Play in the boys' singles will start at 10 o'clock this morning and the juniors will square off at 11 o'clock. The men's matches in the second round will resume play at 3 o'clock and all second and third round matches will be completed today. Pairings for play in the women's singles will be drawn today and first matches will be played Wednesday.

George Boynton heads the seeded list in the boys' play and is followed by Rex Godwin, Burtz Boulware and Joe Grier.

WOMEN ENTERED.

An unusually strong number of women players have entered the tournament. Miss Julia Pickens, of South Carolina, heads the list, which includes Mrs. J. S. Reed, Miss Evangeline McLennan, Mrs. John M. Smith, Miss Bill Davis, Douglas, Ga.; Mrs. E. H. Blackmon, Mrs. Frank Coyne, Miss Margaret Garrison, Miss Phoebe Rhett and Mrs. Jane Collingsworth.

MONDAY'S RESULTS.

W. L. Stribling and Wife Visit Atlanta

W. L. (Young) Stribling, leading heavyweight title contender, with his wife, arrived in Atlanta Sunday afternoon by plane and spent Monday here taking the semi-annual examination required by the government. W. L., who has had more than 700 hours in the air, is an excellent pilot. He will fly to the air races at Chicago Wednesday.

SANDLOT SERIES SET WEDNESDAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 25.—(UN)—Two district champion baseball nines are expected here Wednesday for a day's workout before the American Legion "little world's series" begins Thursday for a three-game series.

New Orleans and Baltimore will be represented in the games, to be viewed by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball czar; President John Heydler, of the National league; President E. S. Barnard, of the American league, and Mike Sexton, of the N. A. P. B., among thousands of lesser lights and fans.

Optimistic forecasters have predicted scouts from the major league clubs will be on hand to look over boys of teen age who have attained championship reputations.

New Orleans eliminated Long Beach, Cal., far-west junior champions, in the final western divisional contest at Colorado Springs, Col., Saturday, 6 to 5. Baltimore defeated Manchester, N. H., for the eastern title at Charlottesville, Va., 9 and 1.

Together the nines represent the best of some 500,000 youngsters who have been competing for city, county, state and district titles for the past three months.

A national radio hook-up will broadcast play-by-play account of the games.

Eastern Champions Off for Finals.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Champions of the east, the baseball team sponsored by the Baltimore & Ohio post of the American Legion left here tonight for Memphis to meet New Orleans in a series that will determine the winner in the Legion's junior national baseball championship.

The Baltimore team reached the finals at Charlottesville, Va., last week, eliminating Manchester, N. H., Saturday. In Colorado Springs in the semi-final game, New Orleans defeated Long Beach, Cal.

Bearded Players Bow to Giants, 7-1

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Parmelee held the Bearded House of David nine to one hit and the New York Giants won an exhibition game here today, 7 to 1. The single came in the ninth and was turned into the Davidites' sole run.

Chicks Through-Rell; We'll Win Out-'Doc'

By Ralph McGill.

Wearing a smile resembling a slice of watermelon, Rell J. Spiller hooked his thumbs under his suspenders Monday afternoon and said, "The Chicks have cracked wide open. They aren't hitting. They look down. There is a chance for Birmingham, New Orleans and Atlanta."

Down in the dressing room, Doc Prothro, skipper of the leading Chickasaws, pulled on his sox, adjusted his double grip garters and announced:

"We aren't hitting. That's all. We'll start soon. Maybe tomorrow. There isn't anything wrong with the club. None of us are hitting except Sammy Vick and Berger.

"We have a lead of nine and a half games. We could lose four more and still have a great lead for this time of the year. We'll come out of it all right. We haven't cracked."

Here's a Fish Yarn, But It's a Good One

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—(UN)—Five tarpon, each over six feet in length and weighing well over a hundred pounds, in five hours, is the record catch hung up over the week-end by Leo H. Marrero, of New Orleans.

Fishing off Grand Isle, a famous tarpon grounds in the Gulf of Mexico, Marrero and his party caught nine tarpon, seven in one afternoon, five of which were caught within five hours by Marrero himself.

The silver king tarpon gives such a fight that it usually requires as much as half a day to land one or two.

While two such divergent and partisan views were being broadcast for the edification of the baseball writers, the fact remains that the Cracker official seems to have something on his side of the debate.

The Chicks have violated all the accepted parliamentary rules of baseball by refusing to have a slump. They have gone right along at top speed while other clubs were having their share of grief and reverses at the scoreboards over the league.

Johnny Dobbs, who is not an extremist on any subject, looked at the matter with a cold and calculating eye.

MAY NOT PULL OUT.

"Memphis may not pull out of this slump as quickly as they think," he said. "Once a club gets down they find it difficult to get up. This slump may last a week or so and in that time the lead could be wiped out.

"Our pitchers have been going great. Especially is that true of Bunny Hearn and Ray Francis. Hearn won two four-hit games on the road and both were marvelous exhibitions of pitching. Francis has helped us a lot.

"In fact, the entire club deserves much credit. The boys have been fighting hard. When we go into a town now they worry plenty. They don't take us lightly any more. I think we have a fine chance to go to third place or higher. If we have no bad luck just watch us."

IN THE GRAVEYARD.

Meanwhile the Chickasaws are whistling through the graveyard, so to speak. Nine and a half games is a tremendous lead.

Doc Prothro is worried. I do not mean that the doctor has deep circles under his eyes or that he tosses on his cot for long hours without sleeping, but nevertheless the doctor is slightly harassed.

The Southern association baseball race still looks very much like Memphis. But the lock isn't as tight as it was a week ago. One of the hasps is slightly loose.

PLAY CRACKERS TWICE.

Memphis has two more games with the Crackers. They then move into

Hauser on Road To World Record

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25. — Joe Hauser, of Baltimore, once a major league first sacker, likely will hit more home runs this year than any man has ever hit in any league. Weeks ago he passed th International league record of 44, made by Billy Kelly, of Buffalo, in 1926. Barring accidents he'll soon pass Babe Ruth's mark, and then perhaps go on to new heights.

Hauser hasn't batted against the major league brand of pitching, of course, but the pitching in the International this year is as good as usual, perhaps a bit better. That is why major league clubs are offering $50,000 or more to get Joe back in the big fast. They haven't lost their interest in sluggers.

Here are some of the pitchers Joe has faced this year: Fred Fussell, Henry Wertz, Joe Shaute, Jess Barnes, Johnny Prudhomme, Lefty Faulkner, Leo Mangum and Leverette —all big leaguers at one time or another.

JACK'S MANAGER ARRIVES HERE FOR INTERVIEW

Striblings Leave For Macon Home

Stribling stood test for his pilot's license which expired while he was in Europe on his ring campaign recently.

By Ed Danforth.

Dempsey today through Leonard D. Sacks, his business manager, will offer to "do anything in his power to help Young Stribling to a match with Max Schmeling, world's champion." A talk with Sacks who arrived in Atlanta last night indicated that Jack Dempsey, himself, is ready to promote such a battle anywhere in America.

Long an admirer of the Striblings, father and son, as types of men who are a credit to the boxing profession, Dempsey has commissioned Sacks to sound out the Georgians to see if a deal of some sort can be worked out that might result in Stribling's winning the world's title before a million dollar gathering.

Sacks will get in touch with Pa today by long distance telephone. He arrived in Atlanta from Montgomery a few hours too late to see Stribling himself. He is arranging a series of refereeing engagements that will bring Dempsey into the ring almost nightly from August 28 to October 1, but is to interview the elder Stribling today on a more important matter.

DEMPSEY'S WARD.

"I talked with Dempsey at length just before leaving California, August 12," Sacks said last night, "and three days ago by long distance telephone. On both occasions he made it clear to me that I was to see the Striblings and extend his offer of assistance in any way that might lead them into a world's championship match.

"Dempsey thinks highly of the Striblings as a credit to the fight game. He did not think W. L. was ready to fight such an experienced man as Berlenbach and was convinced at Miami Beach two years ago that Strib was not in the best shape to meet such a rugged experienced man as Sharkey. Now he believes Young Stribling is ready to fight any man in the world.

"And was he glad when Strib knocked out Scott? Say, Jack refereed the Scott-Von Porat fight that Scott claimed on a foul and he was disgusted with the Englishman."

LIKES PA.

"Do you mean that Dempsey would like to manage Young Stribling?" Sacks was asked.

"Absolutely not. Jack could not afford manage any fighter. He can make more money refereeing a few fights each year than he could out of any fighter in the world. This tour of a little over a month will net him $90,000.

"But Jack would be interested in lending his offices as promoter or in associating himself with Young Stribling simply for the good of the game. He believes Stribling is the best man in the world today. And he thinks that Pa is the best possible manager for the boy, all other critics to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Jack simply wants to help Stribling win the title if he can and in any way he can. That was his last word to me, and I am going to talk with Pa today if I can reach him."

Sacks has been associated with Dempsey for years as his business manager and handles all Jack's affairs. He has helped Dempsey make a financial success annually even without a world's title. What the dapper young man says Dempsey will do, goes, as they say. The outcome of his interview with Pa Stribling will be watched with interest. Any sort of association between Stribling and Dempsey would mean increased human interest and gate receipts.

Wolgast, Genaro Sign With Garden

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Officials at Madison Square Garden announced today that articles have been signed for a 15-round bout between Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, and Frankie Genaro, of New York, for the world's flyweight championship. The bout will be staged in the Garden October 17.

The battle should provide an undisputed titleholder in the flyweight division for the first time since Fidel LaBarba retired as undefeated champion in September, 1927.

SAME TURF.

Notre Dame has a new stadium this year, but though it is some distance from old Cartier field the grass is the same. Knute Rockne had the old field scalped and transferred to the new.

Turf Casualties Among Better Horses Reach Fearful Total

WHICHONE LAST TO BE ADDED TO LARGE LIST

Opinion Grows That Gallant Fox Is Not Real Mudder.

By George Daley.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(NANA)—That upheaval of the Travers stakes when Jim Dandy, an actual 100-to-1 shot, beat Gallant Fox, the pride of Belair, and Whichone, the Futurity winner of 1929, still is being discussed in racing circles and the wonder grows that a colt with so flat a background and so poor a record could rise to such heights, more particularly in such an easy manner.

I for one am convinced that the Fox is not a mudder in the true sense. He did win the Kentucky Derby following a stiff rain, but the water had not soaked in and the footing underneath was firm. He appeared to be laboring in the deep going of the Travers. Still, the fast early pace and that bitter, spectacular battle, head and head, with Whichone for seven furlongs was even more responsible for his defeat than the mud. The combination ruined him.

Risque ran the six furlongs of the Spinaway stakes in 1:16 3-5. The Fox and Whichone went the first six furlongs of the mile and a quarter Travers in 1:13 3-5. That was killing.

NATURAL MUDDER.

Jim Dandy was well back of that furious speed struggle and then, too, he is a natural, almost freakish, mudder. He beat Mokatam, Hi-Jack and others over the same kind of a track in the Grand Union Hotel stakes in 1929 and then raced off and on for a full year before winning another purse and turning another upset.

Such is racing.

Gallant Fox can recover and make amends for his defeat even as Reigh Count did when beaten by Petee Wrack in the same race two years ago. The Travers is coming to be famous for its upsets and the rise of some giant killer.

The real tragedy of the race, however, was the breaking down of Whichone and his definite retirement. His loss to racing is a heavy one.

To say nothing of the loss to H. P. Whitney. This well-known sportsman has been curiously unfortunate in having so many of his good horses go wrong. He has not had a real stayer capable of winning the Belmont stakes since Johren in 1918 and now his dream that Whichone would satisfy a long-time ambition has been shattered by infirmities.

MANY LOST.

The casualties of 1930 among the better class of horses have been fearful. Whichone, Blue Larkspur, Sortie, Osmand, Diavolo, Toro and Distraction have run their last races, while Jack High has had a narrow escape and may not come back to his best this season.

Whiskery, too, pulled up lame in his last start in the middle west, and Victorian, winner of the Agua Caliente Handicap of $100,000, is on the doubtful list.

It is hard to recall a year when so many have gone wrong. The backbone of racing has not been broken but it has been strained.

WHISKERY.

The case of Whiskery is an interesting one. Bred in the purple, he was cut out for great things and actually accomplished much but weaknesses at critical times blocked the path which led to his real destiny. Bred by H. P. Whitney, he won the Kentucky Derby in 1927. That was the day when Mr. Whitney went out to Churchill Downs to see him run but returned to his private car in the railroad yards, because of his aversion to clamoring crowds, and sat smoking a cigar when his good three-year-old beat Osmand a head.

In the following year Whiskery was sold for a fancy price, said to be $60,000, and since then he has not earned interest on the investment, much less paid his keep.

It is safe to say that the son of Whisk Broom II-Prudery by Peter Pan, carrying as he does the blood of Broomstick, and also of the great Domino, will pay returns in breeding which he has failed to pay the owners of the Morven stud in racing.

BIG EARNINGS.

He earned only $1,195 in 1929 by running second five times. He did not win a single race in 16 starts. This season he has won two purses and $3,220 in nine starts, but in minor handicap company and under comparatively light weights for a horse of his class. Now that his legs have failed him the chances are in favor of his being retired. He must return his purchase price in the stud, having failed to do so on the track.

Still thanks to his Kentucky Derby triumph he is in the silver circle of winners with a total of $111,785. The bulk of this, however, was earned before sold to his present owners.

The Hopeful Stakes will be run next Saturday as a climax to the vacation meeting here. It is rich in money and turf values, also it is well named. Many owners and trainers are hoping to win the major share of the $65,000 purse, a sum which makes it the second richest two-year-old fixture of the racing year, second to the Futurity at Belmont Park, which carries a prize of $135,000.

None are more hopeful of winning the Hopeful than George D. Widener and his veteran trainer, Jack Joyner, who has brought Jamestown along to score in the more important stakes of the current meeting and to make good his own prediction of last June that the son of St. James-Mlle. Dazie is the best colt he has developed in years.

THE FAVORITE.

With H. P. Whitney's Equipoise ineligible, Jamestown is sure to be favorite for the week-end fixture with Gifford A. Cochran's Epithet the most dangerous threat. The prize is so attractive that 15 horses are likely to face the starter, but even with the running of the Travers and the defeat of Gallant Fox by the 100 to 1 shot Jim Dandy so fresh in mind most horsemen are disposed to put full faith in Jamestown. Lightning, even racing lightning, rarely hits twice in the same place.

The probable starters include George D. Widener's Jamestown, the Belair stud's Ormesby, E. R. Bradley's Black Tyrone, which has shown signs of class, G. A. Cochrane's Epithet, W. R. Coe's Polydorus, winner of the Tremont Stakes; Dorwood stable's High Day, Glen Riddle farm's Sergeant Donaldson, Greentree stable's Conic and Surf Board, Rancocas stable's Ladana, Sagamore stable's Rip Van Winkle and War, W. J. Salmon's Ladder, M. L. Schwartz's Black Forest, Wheatley stable's Blenheim, H. P. Whitney's Rideaway and Panasette, J. E. Widener's Novelist and William Ziegler's Ilium.

DISAPPOINTING.

Ormesby and Black Forest, which promised so much when the meeting opened, have disappointed and for the moment hardly are worth considering. In truth none of those mentioned except Epithet can be accepted on any form so far developed to beat Jamestown, and even Epithet must be accepted on faith. The last-named is a son of Epinard, the great French horse, out of Fairy Wand, and his first start here was so convincing of quality that many are pointing to him as one which may go on to the top of the two-year-old heap. As said before, he is the dangerous threat.

Jamestown has won four straight races and all so easily that there is no telling just how good he is. His first start was in an overnight race at Aqueduct and since the meeting opened here he has scored in the Flash stakes, of $5,525, in which he beat Neverfade and Black Tyrone, the United States Hotel stakes, of $13,575, when he ran away from Novelist in the stretch, and the Saratoga Special, of $15,050, when he defeated Equipoise, the early season champion, in a way most impressive. His total earnings to date are $34,850.

HANDICAPPED.

It is quite possible that Equipoise was hampered by the blind splint, which popped just after the running of the Special, when he finished second to Jamestown. The ailment is not serious and he will have a chance later to get another shot at his conqueror. So far he has won six out of nine starts and $65,575, which makes him the leading money winner to date.

The Hopeful stakes has reached its majority but is not so ancient as many other fixtures. It first was run in 1903 and with two lapses during those dead racing years of 1911 and 1912 when legislation closed the gates, the renewal next Saturday will be the 26th. This is long enough for a background, which helps so much in racing. Delhi was the first to score in the colors of the late James R. Keene and since then the winners with one or two exceptions have been of top class and gone on to other honors.

H. P. Whitney's Boojum raced to victory a year ago with Whichone, his stable companion, second. Later he suffered from tendon trouble and has not been seen under colors this season but may be back in 1931. He ran the six and a half furlongs in the record time of 1:17.

JACK HIGH.

Jack High, the world's record 1:35 miler of the Metropolitan handicap last June, raced to the front in the hopeful of 1929, beating Blue Larkspur and Che. ..ut Oak among others and before him came such good ones as Brooms, the ill-fated Lord Chaucer, Pompey, the best of his age in 1925; Master Charlie, Diogenes, Dunlin, Morvich, unbeaten as a two-year-old; Man o' War, Sun Briar and Regret among others.

Only two fillies have won in the 26 years—Tanya and Regret. It is a race in which the colts usually predominate.

THE FILLIES.

Mrs. John D. Hertz's Risque has taken a place at the top among the two-year-old fillies by her sterling race in the Spinaway stakes when she came from behind to beat Baba Kenny a head, with H. P. Whitney's Panasette a distant third, and George D. Widener's Sovietta far back after being up with the early pace. She carried 122 pounds and was giving away 7 to E. R. Bradley's Baba Kenny, which made all the running.

Risque beat Panasette in the rich Lassie stakes at Arlington Park last July, but the critics did not accept that decision seriously convinced that the latter had been rushed off her feet in going the first half mile in better than 47 second. Now, however, the daughter of Stimulous-Risky has confirmed that running, showing speed, stamina, courage and the ability to run in the mud.

The midsummer meeting at Saratoga Springs is drawing to an end. A return to the New York district will be made on September 2 for the fall meeting at Belmont Park, where the Futurity of $135,000, the Realization, the Jockey Club gold cup and other rich fixtures will be settled. The Realization may bring about another meeting between Gallant Fox and Gallant Knight, which ran him to a neck in the classic.

Huntsville Sells Three Ball Players

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 25.—President Dillard, of the Huntsville club of the Georgia-Alabama baseball league, has announced the sale of three members of the team, one to the Philadelphia Athletics and two to the Atlanta Crackers. Pitcher Buck Carter, of Opp, Ala., a former diamond star of the Auburn Polytechnic team, has been sold to the Athletics but will finish out the season with Huntsville, reporting for duty at the Athletics' spring camp next year. Catcher Patterson and Outfielder Hammond go to the Crackers after the end of the present season. Patterson is a sandlotter from Barnesville, Ga., and Hammond is from Atlanta.

Club officials declare that the sale of these players, who will not be lost to the team this season, together with stock subscriptions among the fans of Huntsville, puts the club in a very much stronger financial position than formerly and will enable the management to go right ahead with plans for next season. No longer, they declare, is there any danger that the league franchise will be given up.

MAYS WINS BY K. O.

DECATHLON WON BY INDIAN STAR AT PITTSBURGH

Florida Boy, Hall, Comes Third in National Championship.

By Ted Vosburgh,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP) Loping along with the free and tireless stride of his Indian forebears, Wilson Charles, steel-muscled Oneida from Haskell Institute, won the national decathlon championship this afternoon by running big Jim Stewart, of the Los Angeles A. C., into the ground in the final event, the guelling 1,500-meter run.

Trailing Stewart with nine of the ten events completed as the sun sank over the rim of the big Pitt stadium, the lithe, 180-pound Indian athlete sped along like a brave on the warpath to cover the distance in 4 minutes 55 seconds, and beat the giant Texan by more than an eighth of a mile.

Charles turned in the best performances of the day in the running broad jump and 1,500-meter run.

A sturdy newcomer from the University of Florida, Joe Hall, nosed out Harlow Rothert, of Stanford University football fame, for third place. Fifth also went to an unheralded representative of the Florida institution, Forest Munger, the lightest man in the starting field of 13 as he weighed but 140 pounds.

Thirteen athletes, drawn from all parts of the country, began the exhausting 10-event test at 10 a. m. and 11 of them stuck to the finish more than eight hours later.

Here is how they stood in points at the end of the program which consisted of the 100-meter run, broad jump, shot put, high jump, 400-meter run, 110-meter hurdle, discus throw, pole vault, javelin throw and 1,500-meter run:

Charles, first, 7313.343; Stewart, second, 7119.605; Hall, third, 7075.071; Rothert, fourth, 7073.13; Munger, fifth, 6480.005; Howard Jones, New York A. C., sixth, 5917.755; Ivan Dyckman, Denver A. C., seventh, 5813.09; Walter Hutchison, Ithaca (N. Y.) School of Physical Education, eighth, 5706.867; Edward Wlodyka, Boston A. C., ninth, 5645.57; Fred Pusch, Grove City College, tenth, 5600.463; Louis Peresenyi, Union A. C., Pittsburgh, eleventh, 5258.30, and Jim Deering, Yale, twelfth, 4594.005.

Everett Utterback, former University of Pittsburgh athlete, dropped out when in second place at the end of the first two events and Dyckman was forced to give up after he had finished nine of the ten. His nine-event point total gave Dyckman a place in the final standing, however.

Charles' winning mark, although a creditable performance, was some 471 points short of the American record established by Ken Doherty, of Detroit, last year at Denver before he retired from amateur competition to become a coach.

TRIBE THROUGH, SPILLER SAYS

Birmingham for a series. That will be fun.

Following that series they meet Little Rock in three games and the Travelers have been most successful against the leaders this season.

The Crackers, meanwhile, get Little Rock in three games and follow with three against the Mobile Bears. All of which makes the chance to go higher in the race quite roseate. Or lovely if not that.

New Orleans has a great chance. Larry Gilbert has had to build his club over about three times. If Cleveland doesn't step in and borrow an infielder or pitcher the Pelicans have a grand opportunity.

Woman Champion Shatters Record

BERLIN, Aug. 25. — (AP) — Lina Radke, of Germany, women's Olympic 800-meter champion, bettered the world's record for 1,000 meters today when she ran the distance in 3 minutes, 6 5-10 seconds.

The listed world's women's record for 1,000 meters is 3:08 1-5, set by Miss Trickey, of England, at London in 1924.

A BOOM IN LIGHTWEIGHTS.

INTEREST increases in the lightweight division of the cauliflower industry with the advent of Senor Justo Suarez, and incidentally enthusiasm for the fight racket has spread to the other side of the equator on this hemisphere. In fact, at the current writing there is more interest, judged by the newspaper space devoted to the Saga of Suarez, in the Argentine republic than there is within the jurisdiction of those Three Muddled Moguls, the New York State Boxing Commission.

The latest achievement of Justo Suarez was the stopping of Bruce Flowers, the somber Senegambian lightweight of New Rochelle, who was highly thought of by the boys in this vicinity. Instantly the critics decided that Suarez is another and a greater Kid Lavigne. But then the same essayists insisted that Kid Chocolate was another and a greater Joe Gans, and that Kid Berg, the modified murderer of Whitechapel, London, is another and a greater Harry Greb. Obviously the boys are a bit over-enthusiastic.

But you must give Senor Suarez a little credit. Most of the visiting gents in the fight racket spend a year or so looking for set-ups. Primo Carnera has been with us some little time and nobody knows yet whether the signor, who is masquerading as a Venetian gondolier, is a fighter or just so much excess gorgonzola. Just as he was about to give the boys a chance to find out by meeting our Mr. Jack Sharkey in a real test, the garrulous gob changed his mind about it. This strengthens the suspicion that Carnera really could fight, if he had to.

In fact, Senor Suarez seems to be emulating Senor Luis Angel Firpo, who first interested the people of the Argentine republic in the manly art of modified murder. Firpo arrived with a spare celluloid collar and no excess in the form of a manager. He took them as they came in his stride until he met Jack Dempsey.

In that bout he put more melodrama into the show than ever was seen in a heavyweight bout. He sent the champion out of the ring head over heels. But Dempsey came back, a little late, but he came back. As a matter of fact, Firpo did win that fight twice on technicalities. Dempsey was out of the ring for more than the conventional 10 seconds and later Dempsey, standing directly behind Firpo, struck the Argentine down when he still had one knee on the floor. But in the record books it is written that Firpo was knocked out.

The Argentines rather felt that Firpo got the works, as the boys say, consequently it strikes me that the Muddled Moguls ought to see to it that Justo Suarez gets a few of the breaks. With the heavyweight division in a very sad condition indeed, something ought to be done to liven up the lightweight class.

You may or may not recall that when James J. Jeffries, forced to take to the stage because of a lack of competition, finally became weary of it all and retired, the lightweight division came into prominence. That was the era of Gans, Nelson, Wolgast and the rest of them. Nobody would walk across the street to see the heavyweights falling. It looks as though this condition might prevail again. The Sharkey-Campolo thing, which is the only heavyweight bout scheduled for the near future, is not exciting the customers to any marked extent.

Senor Suarez must not be crowded out of the lightweight going this year or the Argentines will have some reason for saying that the best that a South American, who happens to be good, can get in this vicinity is the worst of it.

Apparently Suarez wants to fight, and fighters who feel that way ought to be encouraged.

VERY HEAVY LIGHTWEIGHTS.

BOTH Suarez and Flowers came into the ring the other night a pound and a half over the present lightweight limit. This makes it look as though Suarez might be one of those heavy lightweights, like Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler. It has leaked out that when Leonard and Tendler fought the last bout as lightweights, they really were very healthy welterweights. Their public weighing in was held in strict privacy.

In fact, there are no natural lightweights of any prominence in the game these days. Twenty years or so ago all of the lightweights were naturally in that class, and the lightweight limit then was 133 pounds. That was the perfect weight for Battling Nelson. Ad Wolgast, who won the championship from Nelson, always weighed a few pounds under that. Joe Gans, who fought all comers at all weights, could make that limit when he had to and without losing too much power. There were a dozen others who were lightweights naturally.

In this division particularly, the boys seem to be getting heavier and worse with the years. It is a long descent from Gans, Nelson and Wolgast to the present titleholder and the present crop of contenders. Hence, when they get as promising a newcomer as Justo Suarez he certainly should get what the boys call a break for the sake of amicable relations with Latin America as well as for the improvement of the breed of lightweights.

In the days of Firpo it was feared that the heavyweight championship might leave America. Well, it has left America at last and the answer seems to be, "What of it?"

It would do no harm if the lightweight championship also left the country, not to mention a few more championships in the cauliflower industry.

Clyde Spinks Aces West End Number 8

Another West End golfer, Clyde Spinks, extended his membership in Atlanta's hole-in-one club with an eagle one on No. 8 at West End Monday afternoon. He was playing with Henry Wright.

It was the second time within the past month that Spinks has scored a dodo on the par 3 110-yard hole.

J. B. McConnell negotiated an eagle on the same hole Saturday afternoon for the second time since early July.

NOT MUCH HOPE.

Regardless of his showing the remainder of the season, Urban Faber, of the White Sox, will be disposed of this winter, rumors indicate.

CADET GRIDIRON SQUAD GATHERS AT DRILL CAMP

G. M. A. Candidates in Hendersonville; Smithies To Leave Thursday

Georgia Military academy football candidates will assemble today in Hendersonville, N. C., for a preliminary two-week training period. Coaches Padget and McQuarrie left Atlanta Sunday afternoon and were the first to arrive at the camp Monday. They will be in charge during the practice periods.

Tech High candidates will be called together at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Tech High Military building for instructions as to their training camp. The team will leave Thursday morning for a week's work at Camp Langston, near Fairburn, Ga. Coach Tolbert will be in charge of the camp training.

G. M. A. has one of its hardest schedules in recent years. The Navy plebes will be played in the second game of the season in Annapolis, Md. It will take plenty of hard work to whip the Cadets into shape for the early hard games, particularly the Navy game.

Prospects for G. M. A. are much brighter than in recent years. The team may not have the brilliant individual players as last year but have a much better balanced team than before. The loss of Norman Hackney at quarterback and Ep Suddeth at end was a severe blow to the team. Hackney was regarded as one of the best prep backfield stars in the south last year.

In a spring practice game with Boys' High, G. M. A. won out, 6 to 0, and only those players who will be eligible for fall work were permitted to play.

This is the second year that the G. M. A. Cadets have trained in North Carolina and much work was accomplished last year. The G. M. A. summer school closed last week and the camp was immediately placed in order for the football candidates.

Sixteen or 18 candidates are expected to report for camp training today, it was learned from Colonel J. C. Woodward at G. M. A. Monday afternoon.

Cincinnati Girl Will Marry Pie Traynor

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 25.—(AP) Harold J. "Pie" Traynor, star third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will marry Miss Eva Helmer, of Cincinnati, it was announced today. No date was given.

British Polo Team Beats Roslyn, 12-8

GLEN COVE, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The British polo team defeated Roslyn, 12 to 8, in a practice game today.

The showing of the invaders could hardly be called impressive as they failed to win by a margin equal to the five-goal difference in the official handicaps.

Desautels' Advent Helps Earl Whitehill

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—Earl Whitehill became a star pitcher with Detroit this year after Eugene Desautels, Holy Cross collegian, joined the Tigers as a catcher. From then on Whitehill began to win.

SHEA IN FAST DRAW.

Connie Sounds Call For Reinforcements

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Just a little bit panicky perhaps at the way the second-place Senators persist in trimming the first-place Athletics, Manager Connie Mack has sent out a hurry call for reinforcements.

While Washington was cutting down the A's lead at Shibe Park today Mack told newspapermen that Jim Moore, a big outfielder with the Dallas club, in the Texas league, would be on hand Thursday to give the champions a helping hand. Moore is an outfielder recently acquired by Mack. He goes on the active players' list at once, Mack said, and is to remain the rest of the season.

Haas' injury and the erratic playing of Summa in Washington yesterday are believed to have caused Manager Mack to also send a rush order for another fielder.

'STRONGEST MAN' FACING TEST MONDAY NIGHT

Bartush Challenges Steinborn's Claim to Title; Marvin "on the Pan."

While almost every one is thinking about the Paul Jones-Tom Marvin match at the ball park Monday night, there is another bit of squabbling going on between two wrestlers who will meet in the semi-windup. There is not just anyone who would talk about or even argue about the mat's strongest man but right now there is one hefty person who is having quite a bit to say about this strong man stuff. 'Tis none other than Bill Bartush, newcomer to Atlanta man fans. He meets Milo Steinborn in one of the matches at Spiller's.

Bartush is by no means a newcomer to the game. In fact he is quite a smart sort of fellow with worlds of power. He thinks he has enough strength in his great muscles to contest the right of Milo Steinborn, the man mountain who bursts almost anything he chooses to take hold of. Bartush laughs at the idea of Steinborn lugging around that title and has had no little to say in expressing his opinion of his foe. That argument should be settled in the ring at Spiller field. There are many who would like to see Bartush come out the big end of the horn.

There are also many more who are looking forward to the Jones-Marvin match. They want to see the Texan do away with the Indian wrestler and don't care how he does it. Marvin is like Daviscourt in that he makes all the fans hate him and want to see him licked.

Jones is one of the most clever wrestlers in the game and a great favorite. A large crowd will be on hand to see him meet the Indian. The Texan is usually a cool, easy going grappler but can make it mighty hard on his foe when the occasion arises and that is expected to happen Monday night.

Huntsville Plans Invitation Net Meet

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 25.—A north Alabama tennis tournament is to be sponsored by the Central Y. M. C. A., of Huntsville, and the dates have been set for September 4 and 5. The early dates were selected in order to permit college players who are preparing to return to college the opportunity of entering this tournament.

The tournament will include both singles and doubles and appropriate trophies will be awarded the winners in both divisions. Huntsville will be represented by at least a dozen bet stars and practically every other town in north Alabama will have at least one entry.

Cronin Slugs as Sam Jones Hurls Senators To Win Over Macks

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—(AP) Joe Cronin's timely hitting in support of Sad Sam Jones' brilliant pitching gave the Washington Senators a 3-to-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics today and at the same time cut the first place lead of the world champions to six and one-half games.

Lefty Grove, seeking his ninth straight and 22d mound victory of the season for the Mackmen, also was in rare form but he caught Jones on a day when the 38-year-old Washington ace had the Athletics swinging wildly at his curve ball while Cronin was connecting with hits when hits meant runs.

FIRST CLOUT.

Cronin's first part in the Senators' victory came in the fourth inning when he drove in Heinie Manush with a homer into the left field stands. The A's tied the count in their half of the same frame. Successive doubles by Bishop and Summa, followed by Foxx's sacrifice fly, were responsible for the two tallies.

In the eighth Cronin came to bat again and this time Sam Rice was perched on third with the score still tied. A sizzling single to right produced what proved to be the winning run.

Meanwhile Jones was breezing along, issuing a base on balls now and then but tightening when the Athletics got a man on base. The champions placed two men on base in the fifth and again in the seventh but each time they were forced to go scoreless.

EVEN HONORS.

In everything but hitting Grove had the best of Jones. The Philadelphia speed ball king struck out five to Jones' two while issuing but two free tickets to the Washington hurler's five. Grove, however, was touched for eight hits as Jones held the champions to six safeties.

The game, witnessed by a crowd of 20,000, took on a world series atmosphere with four umpires on the job. Hildebrand was behind the plate, Moriarty at first, Guthrie at second and Nallin at third.

Uncle Dan Names Six Vandy Stars

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 25. (AP)—Dan McGugin, the dean of southern football, who starts his twenty-seventh year as head coach at Vanderbilt this fall, has named six players whom he considers the most brilliant that have played on his famous Commodore teams.

Looking back over the 26 seasons he has directed the gridiron destinies at the Nashville school, McGugin selects three linemen and three backfield stars as the best he has ever coached.

Ray Morrison, now coach at Southern Methodist University; Lew Hardage, McGugin's present assistant at Vanderbilt, and bounding Billy Spears, of the 1928 squad are his backfield luminaries of all time.

CUBS NEED REST BUT COPS, FANS NEED IT MORE

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Cubs today had a day of rest on which to contemplate their thrilling 3-to-2 victory over the Giants yesterday, but they didn't need it any more than 300 policemen who battled to handle the crowd at Wrigley field.

Inside the park 47,000 persons sat, stood and leaned—outside nearly that many milled and stormed in their attempts to get in to watch the series final between the National league leaders and the runners-up. The coppers not only had to regulate the flow of humanity, but were forced to combat all sorts of strategy employed by eager fans.

The mobs started to gather at 7:30 yesterday morning with a line of 300 prospective customers. At 1:15 p. m. President William L. Veeck ordered the gates closed for not another inch of space remained. The regular police detail was swamped by the ever-growing crowd and 100 emergency policemen were sent out to help, while ticket salesmen deserted their booths and grabbed megaphones through which they announced that no more room was available in the park.

Ten mounted policemen attempted to clear the sidewalks about the park, but gave up when the mob good-naturedly refused to disperse, and there was danger of injury from their horses' hoofs.

The prize trick of the day worked several times. An enterprising seeker of entrance obtained a telegraph messenger boy's cap and a suitable envelope and made his way by a gatekeeper with his "important message." It worked again and again, until an elderly man wearing a cap meant for a smaller head, was nailed and the ruse ruined.

Another borrowed a ladder from a near-by back yard and placed it against the wall, but it was smashed to pieces by others who sought to help him use it. The standout failure in strategy was the "invited guest of Mr. Wrigley, Mr. Veeck, Joe McCarthy" system.

Wilkes-Barre Loses Exhibition to Braves

WILBES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Boston Braves pounded out a 6-3 victory over the Wilkes-Barre team of the New York-Pennsylvania league here this afternoon in an exhibition game.

THE NEXT WORLD SERIES.

THE general opinion among the soothsayers was that if the Cubs could leave home next Sunday night five games ahead they should have enough to work on for the remainder of the season, while bumping along hostile roads.

They now have a five-game lead over the Giants. They have six home games left this week—two with the Pirates and four with the Cardinals. In the same space the Giants are facing the Dodgers in a four-game series, so unless an unusual development breaks loose the Cubs should just about retain this margin before setting sail for foreign ports on Sunday night.

From that point on the schedule favors the Giants, but a five-game lead isn't any too easy to chop away in a month. Brooklyn won't agree to this statement, however. The Dodgers left home leading by three and one-half games and they came back trailing by six and one-half games, having watched 10 games blow away from their old lead in less than a month. This has been such an in and out season that predictions are no longer to be trusted too far. Yet with all the in and out performances of the year, the two clubs that won pennants last fall are now leading by fairly safe figures. The Cubs have never believed the series of 1929 was a true test of comparative merit and they should have a chance now to prove their claim.

THE BRITISH ATTACK.

WHEN Miss Betty Nuthall took over the women's tennis championship of the United States at Forest Hills, L. I., on Sunday, the young English star handed Great Britain the first sprig of laurel in the big invasion sons and daughters of the Union Jack have put under way. The next test opens on September 6, when the polo carnival swings into action, and here the British have a harder time of it. They will have to meet one of the strongest teams that polo has seen in many a year.

The third test will start a week later when Shamrock V goes after the venerable cup of the seas, and here the invader has at least an equal chance.

The British had to watch Bobby Jones win at St. Andrews and Hoylake while Tilden was romping through at Wimbledon. But Diana Fishwick and Betty Nuthall in golf and tennis prevented the tide from turning into a tidal wave.

DOING PRETTY WELL.

ALL in all, the invading or foreign department is doing pretty well. Suarez, the Argentine lightweight, looks to be the most formidable party in the field in this division. Schmeling, a German, wears the heavyweight toga, in spite of the fact that it may be slightly ragged around the edges. Carnera, an Italian, is raking in most of the spare cash. Berg, a British lightweight, is also doing well enough. The French still hold the Davis cup. All in all, there is no one-sided smear over the sporting map.

SOME one seems to have chucked a monkey wrench into the home run parades of the game's two leading artillerymen—Babe Ruth and Hack Wilson. After a wild rush upward they both paused abruptly and now there is little chance that the Babe will crack or even reach his old mark of 60. Hack is still thumping along on the Babe's heels and the stocky Cub isn't out of the running yet.

GETTING HOT.

WINNING golf in big tournaments is largely a matter of getting hot. Mac Smith was on fire at the Engineers when he finished with two 68's. Armour was blazing in the Canadian open when he had a 64 or a 65 and finished with two 69's, including the play-off. It was Gene Sarazen's turn in the Western open when he finished with a 67-69. Sarazen made the 72-hole march at 10 under even 4's. When one contender gets steamed up to that extent there is no catching him.

What is "getting hot?" It is the sudden blend of timing, touch and confidence. One feels the complete smoothness of the swing. The cup on the green looks as big as a wash tub. The game that was hard suddenly becomes easy.

Next week it may be harder than ever, but for this one brief turn it is another and a simpler game. It is a matter of nerves, the physical side and mental attitude, all blended into working harmony. But the next day they may all be in the midst of a civil war, no longer on speaking terms.

ADD famous battles of all sport—the scrap for the No. 2 position on the United States polo team.

HARD TO CHECK HIM OUT.

IF TILDEN could get through the Newport tournament on a limp, it is hard to see just what younger star is going to check him out at Forest Hills when the big show opens. This next national championship should be full of action but the shadow of the lanky one still carries the greatest distance.

FAVORITE MELODY.

WILL DO FOR A WHILE.

IF young Wesley Ferrell of Cleveland isn't the best young pitcher that has crashed into the game since the days of the old stars—Matty, Johnson, Alexander and Walsh, he will do until some one else can prove this statement is wrong. If he isn't a star, then the species is extinct.

LINDALE, Ga., Aug. 25.—Rip Fanning's home run over the left field fence in the 11th inning gave the Pepperells a 6-5 verdict over Anniston here Monday. The Pepperells overcame leads twice to win.

They scored two runs in the last of the ninth and three in the 10th after Anniston had scored three in the extra frame. The Nobles failed to score in the 11th and Fanning's homer was the winning counter. He hit it on the first ball pitched.

CAPTAIN DAVIS LEADS DEVILS BACK TO DUKE

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 25.—Captain Lee Davis has led the advance guard of Duke University's football squad back to the campus preparatory to the beginning of a new season. Davis is in top condition and looking toward the coming season as his best. For two years the sorrel-topped guard from Waynesville has been one of Duke's most consistent linemen.

Other seniors comprise the first quota of returning gridders. Bob Hayes is on the campus early and already determined to make his last year as an end count for a lot. Bill Murray, the only senior backfielder on the squad, is with the bunch working to keep in condition. Charlie Rupp, center, is the fourth senior back. There are only five third-year men on the squad and Buzz Rosky is the fifth.

Kid Brewer, quarterback, and Emory Adkins, center, two Blue Devils entering into their second varsity year, are also back after summer vacations and are tanned and hard.

Practice will begin on Tuesday, September 2, a little more than one week off, and approximately 50 boys, most of them sophs and juniors, will greet Coaches DeHart, Cameron and Tilson. Coach DeHart has been in Durham most of the summer.

Abbott Pigeon Takes Gate City Club Race

A pigeon from the loft of C. A. Abbott, Marietta, won a 125-mile race of the Gate City Racing Pigeon Club from Milstead, Ala., to Atlanta Sunday.

It was the third of a series of young pigeon races conducted by the club.

'Six' Mates Idle, Al Fails To Boost Mark

With only two games played in the major leagues yesterday, Al Simmons was the only member of the Big Six to get into action and he failed to do much in the way of upholding the honor of the "select."

The Philadelphia slugger faced Sam Jones, of Washington, three times but got only one hit with the result that his batting average remained stationary at .391.

Teamwork Used In Golf Twosome

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 25 Those who say that team work cannot be used in golf as much as in football or basketball are asked to consider the case of Howard Parkes, of Dallas, Texas, and Jack Landy, of Rochester.

This twosome was playing a round on Soldiers' Field course. On the 200-yard 8th hole, Parkes drove his ball to the green and it trickled up to the flag and stopped on the lip of the cup.

Landy, grieved to see his partner cheated of a hole-in-one in this manner, drove his ball to the same spot and it rolled up and knocked Parkers' ball in the cup for an ace.

Golfers here, however, said Parkes' score on the hole could not be counted a hole-in-one, though it went on the score card as an ace.

LOGAN ENTERS LAKEWOOD CARD

Endurance Record Holder Will Pilot Craft Labor Day.

Joe Logan, holder of the world's outboard motor endurance record, made recently on the lake at Lakewood park, Monday filed his entry for the free-for-all motorboat races to be held at Lakewood Monday, September 1. Logan will use a new F-60 Lockwood motor which was received from the factory Saturday afternoon.

The motor boat races will be a part of the triple racing program to consist of motorcycles and automobiles also. A cash prize of $125 will be given for first place in the boat races.

Members of the Atlanta Motorcycle Club will help sponsor the motorcycle races and have secured a sanction for the five-mile southern championship race to be held as the day's feature. Whitley Roberts is the first entry for the motorcycle races.

Wesley Argo, who has been appointed as an assistant track manager in charge of automobiles, has entered his Frontenac Special in the auto races.

All motorcycle entries are being received by the Atlanta Motorcycle Club while Oscar Mills, secretary-manager of Lakewood park, is receiving the automobile and motor boat entries.

Thomasville Beats Bainbridge, 3 to 2

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—Thomasville defeated Bainbridge, 3-2, in the first of a seven-game series here this afternoon in the play-off for the 1930 championship of the South Georgia and North Florida Six-County league.

Many fans from Bainbridge, Monticello, Tallahassee, Valdosta and other towns of this region came to witness the contest. The attendance was large.

Bainbridge fell on Scott, pitching for Thomasville, and annexed two runs in the first inning. Scott held them thereafter through the fourth inning, when he was replaced by Pugh, who let the visitors down without another tally.

Stapleton twirled excellent ball for Bainbridge, and the locals only got next to his delivery in one inning, the third, when they crossed the plate three times, which was enough to win. The second game of the series will be played in Bainbridge Tuesday.

TIGER COACHING STAFF IS READY FOR COMEBACK

Three All-Americans To Work With Promising Auburn Squad.

AUBURN, Ala., Aug. 25.—(UN)—Three All-American coaches will go into a huddle with 15 lettermen and a large gathering of sophomores and reserves here on September 2, hoping to build within 25 days a team that will breathe the bygone fire and brimstone of old Auburn during the fall season.

Chet Wynne, All-American halfback at Notre Dame in 1921, will have the task of starting a collapsed Auburn machine on the steep climb to football eminence again, and of making the Alabama school shine in the first ranks of the gridiron as in former years.

Assisting him will be Roger J. Kiley, Notre Dame end, who also made the All-American team in 1921. He will train the ends, and will spend the season here before returning to a lucrative Chicago law practice. He was formerly coach at Loyola for five years.

Earl McFaden, coach of the Auburn freshman team in previous seasons, will drill the linesmen, and Jack Cannon, another All-American from Notre Dame, will take over the training of the first-year men. Cannon shone during the past season at the Indiana school.

Chief among the things which Wynne must teach to his new squad is punting. Kickers sent the balls 50 yards through the air on some occasions last fall, and at other times booted them scarcely half that distance.

Within the first 25 days Auburn will meet Birmingham-Southern September 26 in a night game at Montgomery. Then will come nine others in which Auburn must show its mettle to start the long trek back to the southern championship. Wynne expects no winning team the first season, but he does hope to build a creditable one.

Oct. 4—Spring Hill College at Auburn.
Oct. 11—Florida at Jacksonville.
Oct. 18—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.
Oct. 25—Georgia in Columbus.
Nov. 1—Wofford College in Auburn.
Nov. 8—Tulane at New Orleans.
Nov. 15—Mississippi A. & M. at Birmingham.
Nov. 22—Vanderbilt at Nashville.
Nov. 27—South Carolina at Columbus.

E. L. Hardy Pigeon Wins Opening Race

Over 200 young pigeons were entered in the first of a series of races by the Atlanta Homing Pigeon Club Saturday from Barnesville, 50 miles from Atlanta. A bird belonging to E. L. Hardy was clocked first with a speed of 1,059 yards per minute.

The pigeons, making up the largest number ever to compete in a race by the club, were liberated early Saturday morning in Barnesville.

1. E. L. Hardy, 1,059 yards per minute.
2. W. J. Stoddard, 1,056 yards per minute.
3. Boynton Cole, 1,032 yards per minute.
4. Hill-Top Loft, 1,018 yards per minute.
5. O. C. Johnson, 1,002 yards per minute.
6. C. A. Murphy, 993 yards per minute.
7. P. E. Tucker, 984 yards per minute.
8. W. M. Crawford, 958 yards per minute.
9. Capitol View Loft, 919 yards per minute.

Volume of State Leaf Sales Establishes All-Time Record

Total of 103,379,543 Lbs. of Tobacco Disposed of During Four Weeks of Season.

Georgia's bright leaf tobacco auction entered the fifth week of the season Monday with a record volume of sales for all time established during the past four weeks.

Figures announced by the state department of agriculture showed a total of 103,379,543 pounds of leaf sold during the four weeks of the season ending last Friday. The average price for the season, so far, is 10 cents a pound. Farmers have already received $10,312,508.42 for their products.

Sales last week on the market totaled 23,280,442 pounds at an average price of 6.88, the lowest in the history of the Georgia tobacco industry. The farmer received $1,600,716.17 for the week's sales.

At the end of the fourth week last year 86,740,003 pounds had been auctioned at an average of 18.76 cents a pound for a return to the farmer of $16,271,301.19. Sales for the same period in 1928 were 74,861,759 pounds at an average of 13.26 cents a pound and a gross return to the growers of $9,929,144.40.

Three Leading Markets.

Douglas, Valdosta and Blackshear were the three leading markets in poundage sold last week. Douglas sold 3,489,098 pounds at an average price of 7.06 cents; Valdosta 2,659,566 pounds at 8.59, the highest of any market for the week, and Blackshear, 2,396,528 pounds at 7.86 cents a pound.

Thomasville, with sales of 79,698, was the lowest in sales for the week. The average price at Thomasville was 7.12. Bainbridge, with an average price of 4.42 on sales of 213,004 pounds, was the lowest average auction in the belt.

Blackshear, Tifton, Valdosta and Vidalia marketed more than two million pounds of leaf, while Metter, Moultrie and Nashville had sales of more than one million pounds.

The department of agriculture said that Waycross had the only warehouse not to report during the week, the sales from the farmers' warehouse coming in too late for the tabulation this morning.

Several markets have closed, the department said, including all warehouses at Adel, Bainbridge, Thomasville and Waycross. Other warehouses closed were Piedmont and Planters No. 2 at Baxley; Planters at Hazlehurst; People's at Moultrie; Quick's at Quitman. The remaining warehouses are expected to close on or before the end of the week.

Reward Asked To Aid Hunt for Missing Girl

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP) Solicitor-General H. H. West, of Oconee county, Monday requested Governor L. G. Hardman to offer a reward for information leading to the whereabouts of Miss Eva Autry, who disappeared from her home here two years ago.

W. F. Bell, who Solicitor West says left his home here about the time Miss Autry disappeared, still is confined in the Watkinsville jail charged with kidnaping the girl. He denies the charge.

West says he has learned Bell traveled with a girl, as yet unidentified, under the name of "W. F. Johnson."

CORDELE POLICE PROBE DEATH OF ATLANTAN

CORDELE, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Authorities here were trying today to determine whether the shot which killed C. T. Streetman, of 688 Plum street, Atlanta, Sunday night, was accidental or was fired with suicidal intent.

Accompanied by a man and woman, Streetman was en route by automobile from Florida to Atlanta. His companions left him alone in the car for a few minutes here, and the shot was fired while they were gone.

ROME, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Floyd county and Lindale authorities Monday were continuing their efforts to apprehend Milo and Clarence Moore, following a dance hall shooting affray Friday night at Roozeville, near Lindale, in which Johnny Beard, 20, was fatally shot and there others wounded.

The Moore brothers are said to have fled immediately after the shooting and have not been seen since. Milo Moore is about 26 years old and Clarence is a few years younger.

Harper Demonia, 16, of Lavender; Grady Abney, 19, of Lindale, and Pete Whitmore, 20, also of Lindale, were the others wounded. Their injuries, however, are not serious, authorities said.

The shooting is said to have been started over some girls who were attending the dance. The firing took place at a filling station directly across the street from the dance hall.

Officers said Beard, the slain man, was engaged in a fight with Clarence Moore. Beard, they said, had Clarence on the ground and was making an effort to gain possession of a knife which Clarence was attempting to use on Beard. Milo, the authorities charge, came to the rescue of Clarence and shot Beard just above the heart with a .32-caliber pistol.

H. P. Meikleham, agent of the Massachusetts Mills in Georgia, who operate the mill village at Lindale, has posted a reward of $100 for the capture of Milo Moore.

WAYCROSS MAN WINS MEDAL FOR HEROISM

WAYCROSS, Ga., Aug. 25.—The National Safety Council has announced that it will award its president's medal and a special bar to L. B. Green, of Waycross.

The medal is being awarded to Mr. Green for his prompt and efficient services in saving the lives of Emily Stewart and Billy Corbett, of Waycross. On May 17, 1929, these two young girls, then aged 10 and 11 years, were playing in a cave they had dug. The cave collapsed and the children were in extreme danger of being smothered to death. Mr. Green, a neighbor of the two families, directed the work of rescue and the work of artificial respiration which brought the children back to life.

Georgian Falls Dead Entering Ball Park

LINDALE, Ga., Aug. 25.—W. A. Marshall, 58, for 35 years superintendent of the Massachusetts Cotton mills, dropped dead here Monday afternoon as he was entering the baseball park. He is survived by a sister, Miss Helen Marshall, Lindale, and a brother, Charles Marshall, New York city.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE HELD IN CARTERSVILLE

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—The First A. M. E. church, of which the Rev. C. C. Ealey is pastor, closed a successful quarterly conference here Sunday night. The Rev. J. A. Hadley, D. D., presiding elder of the Marietta district, presided.

Fourteen auxiliary organizations, including the trustees and stewards board reports, revealed a substantial gain in church activities and an increase of membership and accessions to the church during the past three months.

The reports included a petition for the return of the pastor and presiding elder for another year. The Sunday school and Christian Endeavor League work, under the management of Professor J. F. Dorsey and Julia May Ealey, also was reviewed in reports.

Dr. W. R. Moore, M. D., and Professor J. Anderson assisted Dr. Ealey and the congregation in the program.

BARNESVILLE TO HOLD CITY PRIMARY TODAY

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—A city primary will be held in Barnesville Monday, and the regular election Tuesday, to elect four aldermen. There are seven candidates for the places, three of whom are incumbents, these being E. G. Horne, S. Batson and A. L. Mills. The others are George Klugh, W. E. Stembridge and Z. T. Maxwell. Ben Turner, who recently resigned from the council, has decided to run to succeed himself. Junius Carson, the mayor, has another year to serve on his term.

TINNER IS INJURED IN TEN-FOOT FALL

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 25.—Arthur Slappey, well-known Americus mechanic, sustained serious injuries when he fell at the home of H. E. Allen here early Monday. Slappey, who is a tinner, was repairing the roof of the Allen home when he slipped and fell about 10-foot to the ground.

University of Georgia Summer Students Receive Diplomas

A class of 86 summer students was graduated from the University of Georgia. The group is shown in the university auditorium where the exercises were held under the direction of Chancellor Charles Snelling.

M'CULLOUGH PROVIDES BOND AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Van McCullough, at whose home a shooting affray with federal prohibition agents occurred Sunday, August 18, came to Columbus today and made $1,000 bond for appearance in federal court here next week on a charge of selling liquor.

His son, Everett McCullough, still is in a Newnan hospital suffering from wounds received in the gun battle. The elder McCullough was wounded in the arm, and Prohibition Agent E. J. Hancock suffered a slight wound in the leg.

The warrant was served on the elder McCullough last week in Greenville while the county grand jury was investigating the shooting.

After the affray McCullough said he had not known the men who came to his home were officers until after the battle. No liquor was found in the house, but federal officers said the agents went there to serve warrants sworn out after a liquor purchase there some time before.

SAVANNAH MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Attributed to ill health, George L. Helmly, bicycle store proprietor, shot and killed himself Monday morning at his home in Avondale, near Savannah. He was found lying on a bed with a wound in his head and a pistol nearby. The coroner declared it a suicide. The local Ku Klux Klan will conduct services at his grave during burial tomorrow.

SANDERSVILLE HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—Flames destroyed the dwelling of O. J. May, in this city, at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. May and his family were awakened by the falling of timbers above the ceiling. They rushed from the building only a few minutes before the roof fell in.

The fire engine reached the scene too late to save the building and the fire company engaged its attention in protecting nearby residences. Mr. May stated that he could not account for the fire unless it was caused by sparks from the kitchen stove. The building and contents were only partially insured.

SINGERS TO GATHER IN SAVANNAH SEPT. 25

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Savannah Chamber of Commerce announced Monday afternoon that 1,500 old-time fiddlers and singers were expected here September 25, 26 and 27, to attend an annual convention.

The fiddlers, headed by Gid Tanner, of Dacula, Ga., who has won six fiddling contests at conventions throughout the country, will hold their contest on September 25. Georgia, Florida and South Carolina will send representatives to the old-fashioned music contests.

BACON COUNTY SCHOOLS DUE $12,000 FROM STATE

ALMA, Ga., Aug. 25.—The state of Georgia is debtor to the schools of Bacon county to the amount of more than $12,000, according to a statement issued by J. T. Altman, county school superintendent. This covers unpaid balances for the year 1928 and 1929.

Under the Barrett-Rogers act the balance to the county for 1928 is $2,000 and for 1929, $2,000. There is due independent systems under the same act for 1928-29, the sum of $2,889.70, while from the general school appropriations act for 1928 there is a balance due of $2,380.12 for 1928, and $2,779.50 for 1929, making a grand total of $12,149.32 due Bacon county and its independent system.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—A resolution, adopted by Thomasville city council, and signed by Mayor Roy Hay, declares Wednesday, September 10, to be "Louis S. Moore Day" in this city. Louis Moore, former state senator from this district, past state commander of the American Legion of Georgia, prominent attorney, and extensive farm owner, is a candidate for secretary of state of Georgia.

Long Lost Parents Of Benning Private Reported Drowned

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Private Arbuth York, of Fort Benning, who has conducted an extensive search for his parents, from whom he was separated in childhood, has been told they were drowned in the Holston river in Sevier county, Tennessee, when he was 16 months old.

This information was given him by F. E. Smith, of LaGrange, Ga., a cousin of York, who formerly lived in Knoxville, Tenn. The LaGrange man said he had forgotten their first names, but told York he was later adopted by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. York, of Knoxville.

York, whose investigation has led him to believe his parents were named Smith, started his search several weeks ago. Every lead proved futile until the LaGrange man, who says he is a cousin of the Fort Benning youth, saw a story about York in a newspaper and came to Fort Benning to give him the information.

AUTO WRECK FATAL TO TIFTON YOUTH

TIFTON, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Homer Belflower, 21, died in a hospital here Sunday night of injuries received when an automobile overturned south of Tifton at noon Sunday.

LAMAR COUNTY VOTERS WILL ELECT BOARD

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 25.—A county advisory board will be elected for Lamar county at the coming September primary. At present the board is composed of the following members, W. A. Sullivan, W. H. Phinazee and B. H. Hardy, ordinary. The following have announced their candidacy, W. A. Sullivan, P. W. Ethridge and Cohen Milner. Mr. Hardy will not have to run again, as his term as ordinary has not expired.

Court Decision Results in Appeal By Both Sides

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—A court decision unsatisfactory to both sides has resulted in the unusual—an appeal by plaintiff and by defendant also.

For some time the city of Valdosta and Lawton Dasher, a Valdosta grocery merchant, have been engaged in a controversy about payment of a city license. Dasher has contended that his disability while serving in the World War entitled him to exemption from a business license. The city contends that his disability is only in his hearing, one ear being affected, and therefore he is not exempt.

Suit was instituted to compel the city to accept the disability certificate, and when the decision was rendered it was in such way that neither side as willing to accept it, so attorneys on both sides have taken an appeal to the appellate court to have the case reviewed by that higher tribunal.

It appears that after the court of appeals passes on the question that the losing side will then take the litigation before the supreme court, and when the case is finally decided Georgia will have a complete court ruling which will settle all similar disputes which may come up in future.

SUTTON TO ADDRESS M'DONOUGH STUDENTS

M'DONOUGH, Ga., Aug. 25.—Professor Hardy H. Hargrove, superintendent of McDonough public schools, has announced the program for the opening of the 1930-31 session on Friday.

Dr. Willis Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta publics schools and president of the National Educational Association, will deliver addresses. Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, state president of Parent-Teacher Association, will speak also.

State Deaths And Funerals

FUNERAL OF C. A. HOLLAND.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 25.—Funeral services were held here for Charles A. Holland, 70, former Brunswick citizen, who died at his home in Baxley Thursday. H. W. B. Van Conenhover, supply rector at St. Mark's Episcopal church, conducted the services. Mr. Holland, a son of the late Marshall B. Holland, collector of this port in the early seventies, is survived by his widow; a sister, Mrs. J. T. White, of Atlanta, and a brother, M. R. Holland, of McIntosh county.

RUM BOAT CAPTURED ON GEORGIA COAST

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A ship of British registry with a cargo of assorted liquors valued at $40,000 was brought into port here Monday by patrol vessel CG-292, in command of Lieutenant Burton.

The rum boat was captured by the coast guard last night at the mouth of St. Catherine's sound, halfway between Savannah and Brunswick, according to Lieutenant Burton. The runner was sighted at dusk about seven miles from the government patrol boat, the commander said.

It was evident, Lieutenant Burton said, that the ships sighted each other at the same time but that the government boat succeeded in intercepting the liquor ship just before it was beached on St. Catherine's island.

As the federal boat drew nearer, Lieutenant Burton said, three of the men on board leaped into the ocean while a fourth sought safety by hiding in the cargo. Thecoast guard boat continued the chase and struck the rum ship on the starboard side, opening her seams.

Lieutenant Burton said that by running the motors of the rum boat, coast guardsmen from the CG-292 succeeded in keeping water from the leaking seams and brought her to port with the cargo intact.

The boat was the motorship Nedeva. Among the crew captured were two white men and a negro. Another white man is reported missing, thought to have been drowned when the crew, with one exception, took to the sea when the coast guard ship drew near. The prisoners are: Captain W. Johnson, of Nassau; L. D. Sykes, of Savannah, and Charles Saunders, of Nassau. Ben Heald, of Nassau, was said to be the man drowned.

VALDOSTA SHOOTING PROBED BY POLICE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—Valdosta police are making an effort to learn how Thomas J. Hanson, Jr., received a slight bullet wound in his head.

Hanson first told the officers he did not know how he got shot; he said he did not even know where he was when the wound was inflicted. At another time he said that the wound was self-inflicted, an attempt to commit suicide.

Authorities are not satisfied with Hanson's explanations and are making an effort to get at the cause of the affair.

THREE MULES BURNED IN UVALDA BLAZE

UVALDA, Ga., Aug. 25.—A barn on the farm of T. W. Walden burned early Monday morning, destroying several bales of cotton, three mules, a quantity of hay, corn, wagons and farm implements amounting to more than $2,000. Origin of the blaze has not been determined.

YOUR CHEAPEST NECESSITY...

YOUR fire insurance dollar pays for indemnity—for immunity against financial loss when calamity overtakes you. But that dollar buys so much more than the indemnity it pays for that it ranks as one of the most effective dollars you spend.

Fire insurance, from the indemnity standpoint alone, is one of the cheapest of present-day necessities. Its cost has consistently declined for many years—even during the period of war inflation.

And this in spite of the fact that insurance service—as rendered by the more than 250 Stock companies constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters—has multiplied its activities for the public welfare and greatly enlarged their scope.

Research and Engineering

Your fire insurance dollar may pay for indemnity only, but for good measure provides engineering and research services to make life and property safer—laboratories in which to test materials and devices—scientific measurement of fire hazards — building construction codes—arson detection and investigation—organized fire prevention—and other voluntary measures designed to lower the fire waste and thereby reduce the cost of fire insurance.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

A thorough understanding of what Stock Fire Insurance really means and does—and greater public use of its facilities—will result in a still further reduction of the fire waste and a consequently greater service to the insuring public.

Mrs. Oscar Davis has set Friday, August 29, for the buffet luncheon at which she will entertain at her home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Convere McAden, of Charlotte, N. C., who arrived yesterday to visit Miss Mary Ann Carr. Twenty members of the younger set will be invited by Mrs. Davis to meet the honor guest.

Miss McAden will be honored at a round of social gayeties during her visit to Miss Carr at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Sr., on Peachtree road.

NEW FACE POWDER IDEA CREATING GREAT INTEREST

It's quite a common occurrence now to hear women discussing "skin types." Since beauty experts recently emphasized the importance of choosing face powder according to one's type of skin, women are busy finding out if their skin is oily, dry or normal.

The three different types of skin (oily, dry, normal) made necessary three distinctive face powders (one for each type) and Plough has created them. When you choose your Plough powder you'll marvel at the satin-smooth finish it gives your complexion; you'll rejoice at the way it clings for hours; you'll breathe deeply of its fragrant perfume; you'll readily understand why this specially prepared powder can do so much more to enhance complexion charm than ordinary face powders could possibly do.

Each Plough Powder comes in white, flesh, pink, brunette and sun-tan tints, and is sensibly priced to appeal to women who shop wisely and well.

If you are not certain as to which Plough Face Powder you should buy, write Peggy Martin, Beauty Consultant, Plough, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., specifying tint, and she will send test packages of the three powders.

Miss Cheek Weds Hoke S. Chatham At Quiet Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Ethel Hazel Cheek, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cheek, and Hoke S. Chatham, youngest son of Mrs. Gennie Chatham and the late Rev. G. L. Chatham, was quietly solemnized last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William M. Sentell. The service took place before an improvised altar of ferns, pot plants and cut flowers.

Miss Doris McLean acted as maid-of-honor wearing a gown of navy blue georgette crepe with accessories to match. Her shoulder bouquet was of Ophelia roses and swainsona. Grady C. Chatham, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bridal party entered the living room to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" rendered by little Miss Ellen Hudson, Sunday school pupil of the bride, who wore a dainty frock of crepe with corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and swainsona. During the ceremony Miss Hudson softly played the "Melody of Love."

After a short motor trip to Asheville, N. C., and other points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Chatham will be at home on Catherine street.

Daisy Breaux Arranges Film Production of Book

The following excerpt from a column of the Macon Telegraph of August 24, is of interest here. Mrs. Clarence Crittenden Calhoun, to whom the article refers, is well known in Atlanta, where she visited during the gay nineties.

"A clipping of widespread interest has just been received from the column's California correspondent:

"Pietro Gentile is to be the lead in the picture which will make its appearance in 1932, Mrs. Calhoun said.

"'The Autobiography of a Chameleon,' a story of her life, is the latest work of her pen. Because of its intimate stories of Washington society the book has been well received both abroad and in the United States.

"During her stay at the Town House,, Mrs. Calhoun is being entertained by her relatives and friends. She will remain in Los Angeles for three weeks.

"According to the information available, Mrs. Calhoun's pen name is the real name of her mother, the beautiful Daisy Breaux, who is well known to many people in Macon, where she once visited as the guest of the late Mrs. William Felton and of Mrs. Willis Sparks; in Charleston, where she went as the bride of the late Andrew Simonds, Jr.; in New Orleans, where she was born.

"After the death of Mr. Simonds she converted their beautiful home into an exclusive hotel, which she named the Villa Marguerita, and it is still operating under that name. Several years later she married again and moved to Trenton, N. J., it is said."

Atlanta Girls Awarded Honors.

MAYLAND, Tenn., Aug. 25.—Misses Colette Howell, Kathryn Lynch and Elizabeth Mitchell are three popular Atlanta girls who were awarded honors at the closing of Nakanawa camp on trophy night.

Miss Mitchell was given a medal bearing the name Nakanawa for perfection in swimming. Misses Howell and Lynch were among the group of young campers selected by the counselors as having best embodied the Nakanawa spirit by being all 'round, helpful and outstanding in camp activities.

Miss McLaughlin Weds Dr. Martin.

Of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the state was the quiet home wedding of Miss Eloise McLaughlin to Dr. J. D. Martin, Jr., which took place Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church, officiated.

Miss Thalley Weds Aubrey Motz, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Bertha Elizabeth Thalley and Aubrey Motz, Jr., was quietly solemnized Friday, August 22, in Walhalla, S. C., Rev. Watson, of the Methodist church, officiating.

Mrs. Motz, the second daughter of Mrs. Effie J. Thalley, of Wilmington, N. C., is instructor of violin and piano at Piedmont college at Demorest, Ga. She received her B. M. degree in both piano and violin at Brenau college in Gainesville. While in college she was a member of the junior faculty of Brenau, having assisted Otto W. J. Pfeffercorn for two years. Mrs. Motz was a member of Mu Phi Epsilon sorority and the Theta Epsilon at Brenau. She is also a former pupil of Hugh Hodgson, of Atlanta, and broadcasts both piano and violin over WSB.

Mr. Motz, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Motz, of Atlanta, is a graduate of McCallie school at Chattanooga, Tenn., and received his Ph.B. degree from Emory University. He is secretary of Habersham mills, Habersham, Ga.

After a motor trip through the mountains of western North Carolina Mr. and Mrs. Motz will return to Habersham, where they will make their home temporarily.

Colonel Mayson's Birthday Remembered

Members of Colonel James L. Mayson's Sunday school class surprised their teacher with a party recently at his home on Fifteenth street in honor of Colonel Mayson's sixty-eighth birthday. After congratulating Colonel Mayson punch was served in the sunken garden of the house, which had been illuminated for the occasion and where a number of games were played. Mrs. Mayson cut the birthday cake which was a three-tier masterpiece of decoration by Wilmer Greiner, a member of the class. Colonel Mayson has been teacher of the James L. Mayson class of Grace M. E. church since its organization about 10 years ago and is beloved and highly esteemed by all of its members.

Miss Coleman And Mr. Sutherland To Wed August 30

Plans for the marriage of Miss Anna Lee Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay G. Coleman, to Jack H. Sutherland, are of social interest. The marriage will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, August 30, at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Morningside drive. Dr. E. M. Poteat, pastor of Second Baptist church, will perform the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and intimate friends.

Miss Coleman has chosen as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Dorothy Coleman, and as her bridesmaid, Miss Ellen Graham. Mr. Sutherland will have as his best man P. W. Smith, of Montgomery, Ala., and as groomsman, Grady A. Lee, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Dorothy Wolfe will render an appropriate group of selections on the piano, playing the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Mrs. A. W. Miller, of Washington, D. C., will sing.

Following the ceremony an informal reception will be held at the home honoring the bridal party, members of the two families and friends.

Following a wedding trip to the Atlantic coast and other eastern points, including Washington, D. C., the young couple will make their home in St. Louis.

Miss Coleman is being entertained at a number of prenuptial parties. Miss Harriet Logan will entertain this evening. Miss Ernestine Collins will give a luncheon Wednesday and Miss Gertrude Grace will entertain at luncheon Thursday. The bridal party will be entertained at a luncheon Saturday by Miss Dorothy Coleman. Among those who have entertained for Miss Coleman are Mrs. Lane Hubbard and Miss Ellen Graham.

Alabama Democrats Organize Campaign

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Leaders of the democratic party from every corner of Alabama were here tonight helping shape a program for the campaign against an independent ticket. The state executive committee will meet tomorrow.

There was no formal program but the three candidates facing opposition from the independent ticket headed by Senator J. Thomas Heflin were here meeting friends and conferring with party leaders.

A campaign manager to direct the fight against the independent ticket was the chief topic of conversation, with statewide plans and county organizations under consideration.

Among the host of party leaders were many candidates who met defeat in the primary of two weeks ago tomorrow, as were nearly all the nominees.

One thing appeared certain, however, that headquarters will be established in both Birmingham and Montgomery, for directing the campaign.

Ed Pettus, chairman of the state executive committee; John H. Bankhead, senatorial nominee; Judge B. M. Miller, gubernatorial candidate, and Hugh D. Merrill, the party's choice for lieutenant-governor, were in caucus tonight.

Miss Martha Hardman Weds Mr. Reagin.

MANSFIELD, Ga., Aug. 25.—The wedding of Miss Martha Hardman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Paul Hardman, of Mansfield, and Loyd Odell Reagin, of Lithonia, was solemnized Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at a lovely informal ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Sherrod M. Smith. Two solos, "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly" were sung by Mrs. Ewell Lunsford. The wedding party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," which changed to "Lohengrin" at the approach of the bride and groom. During the ceremony "Hearts and Flowers" was played.

Miss Pauline Hardman, sister of the bride, gowned in blue chiffon, and Miss Frances Campbell, in eggshell chiffon, with shoulder bouquets of sweetheart roses and valley lilies, lighted the tapers, and Master Lundy Jackson, dressed in a suit of eggshell satin, acted as ring-bearer. The flower girl was Mae Harwell, cousin of the bride, who wore pink taffeta and tulle.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of dark blue chiffon; with this she wore a blue velvet hat and blue kid slippers. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. Mamie Terrell, of Miami, and Mrs. Conley Sorrow, of Stone Mountain; Mrs. R. W. Franklin, of Atlanta; Miss Jewell Nash, of Dacula; Mrs. S. A. Ginn, of Covington. Miss Ruth Campbell and Miss Mary Franklin served punch, and Miss De Vera Carnes, of Monroe, kept the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Reagin left for a motor trip through the mountains of Tennessee. On their return they will be at home in Lithonia. Mrs. Reagin traveled in an ensemble of navy blue wool crepe with eggshell satin blouse. Her hat and accessories were of blue.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Mamie Terrell, of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. S. A. Ginn, of Covington, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Sims, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hardman and family, of Conyers, Ga.; Mrs. E. M. Carnes, Miss De Vera Carnes, Miss Annette Robison, Mrs. G. J. Hearn, Jr., of Monroe, Ga.; Miss Jewell Nash, of Dacula, Ga.; Mrs. Ralph Baker, of Chickamauga, Ga.; Mrs. R. W. Franklin, Miss Mary Franklin, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Conley Sorrow, L. T. Y. Nash, Lewis Nash, of Stone Mountain, Ga.; Mrs. Frank Greer, of Decatur, Ga.; Mrs. G. H. Davis and Mrs. Paul Harwell, of Newborn, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Reagin, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Chupp, Mr. and Mrs. John DeJ. Turner, W. A. Bond, of Lithonia, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Lunsford, of Porterdale, Ga.

Atlantan To Study Journalism At New York University

Miss Barbara Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Baker, who leaves in early September for New York, where she will study journalism at the University of New York. Photograph by The Little Studio.

Miss Barbara Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Baker, of Seventh street, is another Atlanta girl to decide upon a journalistic career. She leaves in early September for New York, where she will continue her journalistic education at New York University with the newspaper field as her goal. While studying in the metropolis Miss Baker will reside with her aunt, Miss Mary Griggs, who is a leading figure in Gotham's educational and artistic realms.

Miss Baker graduated with distinction from Girls' High this past summer. She won the medal in the ready writers' contest in the fifth district and won the second place in the state. In the literary edition of Girls' High Times, her poem, "Dogwood," won first prize. For the third time she won in the U. D. C. essay contest, her paper on Jefferson Davis drawing a medal.

During Miss Baker's editorship of Girls' High Times, that paper was awarded first place in the Dixie Interscholastic Press Association, third place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and received All-American honor rating from the National Press Association. She was elected vice president of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association for 1929-1930.

Miss Baker is a popular member of Atlanta's younger set and her career in her chosen profession will be watched with much interest by her score of friends.

High Seas Arrest Asked for Diamond

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The discovery of a blood-stained automobile coming soon after seizure of the greatest gangland armament ever found in this city tonight led police to request the master of the liner Baltic, now at sea, to take into custody today Jack "Legs" Diamond, gang chieftain.

Diamond, who has been arrested and freed a score of times, thrice on murder charges, is believed to have sailed Saturday for Europe. Police also wired a request to authorities at Cobh, Ireland, to detain Diamond when the ship arrives there.

The car belonged to Harry Weston, owner of the Chateau, a roadhouse halfway between Kingston and Saugerties in the Catskill mountains. The roadhouse is in the zone of influence of Diamond, who has a country estate not many miles away at Acra.

Weston left his home in the car Friday, telling his wife he had an appointment with "two or three fellows." He has not been seen since. Police believe he may have been killed in Kingston or its environs, and they asked the sheriff of Ulster county to help search for his body.

The finding of the car resulted from questioning of prisoners arrested when the arsenal, including bombs, pistols, hand grenades and armor, was seized under a bed in a Brooklyn flat. The prisoners, three men and a woman, were all friends or employes of Diamond, former bodyguard of Arnold Rothstein.

Oesterreich Jury Is Unable To Agree

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Unable to reach a verdict the jury which heard the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich for the slaying of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, was discharged late today.

The jury had deliberated since Saturday morning.

The six women and six men, after being dismissed, told newspapermen the voting stood 10 to 2 since yesterday, with the majority favoring conviction of second degree murder, and two voting for acquittal. Saturday they said four ballots were cast for conviction of first degree murder.

Small hope had been held for a verdict since the jurors notified Superior Judge Hardy yesterday they were hopelessly deadlocked.

Mrs. Oesterreich was indicted this spring with her "attic sweetheart," Otto Sanhuber, for the slaying of Oesterreich August 22, 1922. Sanhuber, tried separately, was convicted of manslaughter but freed by the statute of limitations.

He willingly admitted being in attics of Oesterreich in Milwaukee and Los Angeles, so he could be near Mrs. Oesterreich.

Elevator Runs Wild, Kills 1, Causes Flood

Andrew Dublin, an assistant engineer, was repairing the car at the street level when it started upward suddenly then dropped to the bottom of the shaft, then shot to the top, crashing into a water tank on the roof. Water poured into the lobby and cellar. Dublin's body was found at the bottom of the shaft half submerged.

MISPLACED HEART FAILS AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Born with his heart on the wrong side, Mike Callos, 17, confounded physicians by living an active life until yesterday. The abnormal organ finally weakened and he died.

Although the boy's heart never functioned normally he went through grammar school and continued at high school until last fall, when his condition prevented further studies. His heart beat slowed down steadily and last night ceased altogether.

New Magazine

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Aug. 25. (AP)—A new southern literary magazine, The Agora, will be published at the University of North Carolina this fall. The magazine, a monthly, will make its initial appearance September 15 under the editorship of Richard A. Chase. Its contributing editors include faculty members of numerous southern universities and colleges.

87-Year-Old Twins End 40-Year Debate

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 25.—(UN)—Today was one of those red letter affairs for Memphis' 87-year-old twins, Miss Mary Holt and Mrs. Marie [illegible]rlowe. Of course there were the usual numerous greetings and gifts to be read and opened and smiled over but among birthdays today's was outstanding.

It marked the first anniversary in 40 years in which long standing controversy over whether a window in the twins' bedroom should be opened wide or only part way.

Aunt Mary, who likes her air fresh and brisk, had argued daily that that particular window should be raised "all the way up." Aunt Marie, who prefers a room warm and comfortable, had insisted as often the window, be raised "part way up." Thus the matter stood for 40 years, and Aunt Mary appeared to be batting at a higher average for neighbors reported Aunt Marie complained often in winter, summer, spring or fall that she was a "little chilly."

Relatives at times were alarmed by the spirited nature of the debate and despaired of an eventual settlement.

The controversy is settled, all agree, but nobody knows who won, if either did, or how high the window stands these nights.

"At any rate, Watson," Holmes continued, "the information seems to have made Straker vaguely uneasy, for Mrs. Straker, awakening at one in the morning, heard him moving about. He said he could not sleep because he was uneasy about the horses, and intended to walk down to the stables and see that all was well. She begged him not to go, as she could hear the rain pattering against the window, but Straker pulled on his large mackintosh and left the house.

"Mrs. Straker awoke at seven to find her husband had not yet returned. She dressed hastily, called the maid, and set out for the stables. The door was open; inside, huddled on a chair, Hunter, the stable-boy, was sunk in a state of absolute stupor. The favorite's stall was empty. There was no sign of Straker. . . . ©1930 By Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

"The two lads who slept in the loft were quickly aroused. They had heard nothing during the night. Hunter was under the influence of some powerful drug. No sense could be got out of him, and he was left to sleep it off, while the two women and the boys ran out in search of the absentees.

"They saw nothing of the missing Silver Blaze, but they perceived something which warned them they were in the presence of a tragedy. About a quarter of a mile from the stable, Straker's mackintosh was flapping from a furze bush. Just beyond there was a bowl-like depression in the moor, and at the bottom lay the body of the unfortunate Straker."

MRS. O'DONNELL WINS PACIFIC LADYBIRD RACE

Mrs. O'Donnell, mother of two children, crossed the finish line of the 2,245-mile derby from her own home town, Long Beach, Cal., at 3:18 p. m., sent her ship groundward with a final triumphant flourish and then shot straight into the air in front of the grandstand. Had she shut off her motor for a moment she would have heard deafening cheers.

Mildred Morgan, of Beverly Hills, Cal., was runner-up to Mrs. O'Donnell, and Jeane Le Rene, of Chicago, took third place. The official elapsed times were: O'Donnell, 15 hours 13 minutes and 16 seconds; Morgan, 21 hours 18 minutes and 35 seconds, and La Rene, 21 hours 45 minutes and 45 seconds. Ruth Stewart, of St. Louis, and Ruth Barron, of Hollywood, were the only other contestants to finish.

Close on the heels of the women derbyists, came John Blum, of Seattle, to win the men's Pacific Class A derby—1,545 miles from his home city. Blum crossed the finish line at 3:50 p. m. His victory was no invasion of feminine rights for it was also German Day and Illinois' Manufacturers' Day.

Nick Mamer, of Spokane, took second place and Floyd Keadle, of Portland, Ore., was third. Keadle nosed out Frank Kammer, of Wenatchee, Wash., by less than 6 minutes. The elapsed times were: Blum, 18:24:31.1; Mamer, 18:47:46.4, and Keadle, 19:21:08. The fifth contestant to finish was Bert Ruoff, of Seattle.

Art Chester, of Joliet, Ill., won both of the civilians' closed course races, each of them 25 miles around the pylons. In the event for planes of 275 cubic inch displacement he made an average speed of 112.29 miles per hour, and in the event for planes equipped with OX-5 motors, two seats or more, his average speed was 102.10 miles per hour.

Ben O. Howard, of St. Louis, took first place in a speedy free-for-all civilian race. He was declared the winner several hours after the event when Charles "Speed" Holman, of Minneapolis, was disqualified for "cutting" the second pylon of the course. Howard's average speed was 162.65 miles per hour. Errett Williams, of New Orleans, and George L. Harte, of Wichita, Kan., took second and third places.

Captain Frank Hawks, holder of the records for both east to west and west to east transcontinental flights, was an entrant in the free-for-all but he arrived from Wichita too late to start. He will race in several future events.

Ralph Lapere, Cincinnati, Ohio, won the parachute jumping contest, landing 47 feet, 6 inches from the center of the target circles.

Three derbies remain to be finished. The women's Dixie Derby from Washington arrived at Springfield, Ill., tonight with Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, of Memphis, in the lead in the point of elapsed time. It will end at the air races tomorrow. Mrs. Martie Bowman, of Hempsted, N. Y., was second to Miss Laura Ingalls, of St. Louis.

The non-stop derby from Los Angeles may be started tomorrow. It has been held up because of unfavorable weather.

Ocean Mail Flyer Marries in Paris

PARIS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Jean Mermoz, French ace, who this summer made the first air mail flight from Africa to South America, today married Mlle. Gilberte Chassaz at the Church of Saint Francis Xavier. The families of the couple and a few friends were present.

Virginians Carry Water From Capital

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Jugs of all sizes and descriptions have become a common sight on street cars and busses running from the capital to Fall Church, Va., eight miles away. Drouth has so decimated the town's water supply that many families have only what they can carry in from other points.

So much difficulty has been experienced in getting drinking water that in many families the matter of baths and the washing of dishes and clothes have become major problems.

Fuch of the town's water is obtained from wells, and diggers have been working day and night, deepening the shafts in hope of striking more water.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

REDDY MAKES A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The best of us at times will make
A foolish or a grave mistake.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox is a patient fellow. He is an exceedingly patient fellow when he has something to gain by being patient. Just now he lay hidden by the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard, hoping that Impy the black Chipmunk would show himself. It was partly curiosity that had brought Reddy there. He had heard of that black Chipmunk and he was anxious to see him. At the same time, he hoped that he would be able to catch Impy.

Reddy kept his eyes on the old stone wall in the direction of Striped Chipmunk's home. You see, he knew where Striped Chipmunk was in the habit of disappearing between the stones of the old wall to reach his home down underneath and he felt sure that the black Chipmunk was living in the same place. For a long time nothing happened. Then he saw the head of Striped Chipmunk pop up from behind a big stone. A moment later Striped Chipmunk was sitting up on that stone. Reddy hoped that Striped Chipmunk would come in his direction. He wanted to see that black Chipmunk, but he wouldn't miss the chance of catching Striped Chipmunk if he got it.

Striped Chipmunk sat for quite a while without moving. He was enjoying a sun bath. Finally he turned and, to Reddy's disappointment, raced away along the top of the old stone wall in the opposite direction. Reddy sighed with disappointment. It was a sort of inside sigh, a silent sigh. He was far too clever to sigh in a way that might be heard. How he did hope that that black Chipmunk would come out soon. But when after a long time Impy did not appear, Reddy began to wonder if perhaps he were making a mistake and that Impy was not living in the home of Striped Chipmunk, but had made a home for himself somewhere.

"I guess the thing for me to do," said Reddy to himself, "is to use this nose of mine to discover if there is more than one place in the old wall that is being used right along by Chipmunks. Of course, I am likely to find many places where they once in a while go in or come out between the stones, but if there is any other one place, excepting that one that I know leads to Striped Chipmunk's home, being used regularly, I ought to be able to find it."

So Reddy got to his feet and, as he did so, he looked back in the direction of the Green Forest—the direction from which he had come. His heart gave a little leap. He had caught a glimpse of something black. It was only a glimpse, but he was sure that what he had seen was black. Very, very carefully Reddy began to steal forward. With each step he stopped to look and listen. Little by little he moved along. He had not seen that black thing again. He was sure that it was Impy and that Impy had simply disappeared between the stones somewhere. When he reached the place where he thought he had seen it, he stopped, and there he crouched ready to spring.

Reddy hoped that Striped Chipmunk would come in his direction.

At last his patience was rewarded. He heard the faintest of sounds—nothing more than the rustle of a leaf. And then he saw something small and black—as black as the blackest thing he had ever seen. It appeared for an instant from between two stones of the old wall and then disappeared. Reddy took two steps forward and crouched ready to spring. He waited, holding his breath. Once more it appeared and Reddy sprang as only Reddy can. He felt sure that he would have Impy the black Chipmunk as a reward for patience. An instant later Reddy discovered that he had made a slight mistake.

Mill Workers Egg Communist Agents

Two men and a woman, after giving out pamphlets during the day, returned after dark to vocally recommend their cause.

The mill workers greeted them with hoots, jeers and yells. When the eggs were brought into play the speakers departed.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

"Madame!" Sam interrupted, his face slowly whitening with anger. "You're insulting."

"Is that so? Well, I propose to have the truth before you get out of here. Mona's a good girl—or she was until you met her."

"Oh, mother!" The words came from Mona in a quavering cry eloquent with meaning: they were a confession and a plea that would have moved the hardest heart. "I didn't know! I—he—he was so good and kind to me. And he promised—" A convulsive sob racked the speaker and interrupted the penitent recital of Sam's dastardly promises.

"Oh, you wicked, wicked man! She's only an innocent child and she's all I've got. What are you going to do about it?"

"I'm going to leave you to your deep breathing," Sam told her. "But first I'm going to relieve you of my eighty dollars." With a swift movement he seized the mother's wrist.

Mrs. Stevens resisted, she struck at him but he tore the money out of her fingers. She raised her voice in a storm of abuse but he cautioned her:

"If you make a disturbance, I'll call the police."

"You rat!"

Sam dropped the crumpled bills into the blue flames of the gas grate and they promptly ignited, then he wiped his fingers as if they had been soiled.

She was still reviling him, still breathing vengeance, her injured daughter was still weeping torrents of tears when Sam passed out of the door and closed it behind him.

It was not easy for a stranger to gain access to Lee Ying without first making known the nature of his business, but Everett Himes managed it. Having succeeded, he took up in roundabout fashion a matter which caused the old importer to listen attentively. For a while the latter made no comment but finally he inquired:

"In what way does this concern you, Mr. Himes? I don't understand why I hear of this misfortune through your lips instead of through the mother's."

"I'm just an old friend of the family and she confided in me—came to me for advice. I'm an ordinary, common-sense businessman and I said to her, 'Mr. Lee is a businessman and a fine citizen. What's the sense of raving over something that can't be helped and talking about lawyers until—'"

"Is it proposed to place this in the hands of an attorney?"

Mr. Himes gestured apologetically. "The poor woman doesn't know what to do. She's not responsible for what she does or says. And can you blame her? You know, a woman always yells for a lawyer. But I hate them, Mr. Lee. I don't trust them, either: all they do is tangle things up and tell you this can't be done or that can't be done. When I have a business matter to iron out I always go right to the other fellow, get it straight and then call in a lawyer to put his O K on it."

"This is hardly a 'business matter' and I'm afraid I cannot fully credit your story for my son has told me another—"

"Naturally. I'm the only outsider that knows a thing about it. And it's nothing to broadcast. Why, I've known Mona since she was a child: she's almost like my own kid. Believe me, it came as a shock. I said—"

"Pardon! How did this happen?"

"Just like I told you: she's an ambitious youngster, always trying to get ahead. She was picking up a few pennies by selling lace things and—She's only a child, Mr. Lee. That's what makes it so rotten, see? A minor! If she was of legal age—"

"Selling lace, you say?"

He got her up to his apartment and—" Mr. Himes shrugged, turned up his palms. "That's the worst of a young fellow having his own apartment. I talked to the elevator man and he verified what she said. She wasn't the first girl, either, but that's the boy's affair. I suppose he and Mona had a drink or two. It's pretty fierce around the colleges—Anyhow she broke down and told her mother the whole story: said she didn't know right from wrong."

Thus far Lee Ying had sat as motionless as an idol, his face had been expressionless, his hands had rested in his lap. Now he stirred.

"You are a stranger to me," he announced. "This charge is easy to bring and as hard to prove as to disprove."

"No trouble about that," Himes declared. "It will prove itself in time. That's the unfortunate part."

"I assumed you would. I think you should do so, right away."

"If he is guilty of indiscretion I shall make suitable and satisfactory arrangements to—"

Mr. Himes furrowed his brow, he hesitated. "Frankly, sir, I'm afraid it involves something more than what you suggest."

"Indeed?"

"You see when a kid like Mona falls for a guy, she falls, head over heels. Money doesn't mean a thing to her. She's crazy about him. There's something mighty sacred about an innocent girl's love and trust: it gets you, and I don't mean maybe. Of course, all her mother cares about is her daughter's happiness. She's broadminded that way, and—"

"So? It is, then, a question of marriage?" Through the narrow apertures between their lids Lee Ying's watchful eyes blazed.

"Good Lord, what else? I hope you don't think I came here to— Why, Mr. Lee! This isn't anything that money can square!"

He was still seated in his big carved chair when, an hour later, Himes returned with Mrs. Stevens and Mona. Then he rose and bowed gravely to them. When he saw the girl his heart sank.

Followed a trying half hour for the father. When it was over and he was again alone he felt old and feeble and exhausted, for his world had crashed. His son, the Favorite of Heaven, a common man, a deity with feet of clay!

He smote his hands together and a servant appeared: in a lifeless voice the merchant said:

"Bring me my prayer robes."

The man fetched him an elaborate garment, stiff with embroideries of gold and black, a small roud cap and a pair of silken slippers. Lee Ying put them on, he washed and perfumed his hands, then he passed into a small room the presence of which no stranger would have suspected.

It was a shrine, a tiny, secret place of worship the door to which was a sliding panel ornamented with storks and dragons. A smiling idol sat upon an ivory throne, a bronze bowl of paper prayers stood before it, smoldering joss sticks gave off thin steamers of smoke. Lee Ying moved slowly and with pain, as if he trod upon sharp stones: stiffly he knelt before the image and into the celestial regions drifted the incense of his devotion. He prayed long and earnestly but his plea, abridged and translated would have been, "Show me the way of righteousness, and give me the strength to follow it."

Later that day he wired for Sam to come home.

* * * *

Lee Ying sat bolt upright in his high-backed chair. Before him, as if in audience upon some royal personage, stood Sam. He was white, he neither moved nor spoke.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A bigger increase of the United States wheat visible supply than generally was expected gave an advantage today to believers in lower prices for grain. Buying demand waned, with the amount of wheat on ocean passage much larger than either last week or a year ago, and Liverpool quotations failing to respond well to price advances on this side of the Atlantic. Moreover, an increase of 4 per cent in 1930 wheat yield of 22 countries was reported, compared with 1929.

Chicago wheat values closed unsettled, 1-4@3-4c lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 3-4c down, oats unchanged to 3-8c off, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 7c.

With domestic supplies of wheat piling up 8,255,000 bushels more than was the case a week ago, the total was shown to be 182,275,000 bushels against 176,827,000 bushels at this time last year. Meanwhile, too, good rains in Kansas were reported today as favorable for fall plowing, and there were advices also that the weather had become more auspicious for harvesting operations in Europe. Uncertainties connected with financing the 1930 wheat in Canada tended likewise to act as a weight on values, and at no time did the market here show any important power to rally. Despite fresh indications that nearly all states are using wheat as feed to an extent beyond anything heretofore expected.

Corn and oats prices sagged, owing a good deal to sympathy with wheat weakness. Crop reports as to corn were increasingly pessimistic, but for at least the moment appeared to have lost influence as a stimulus to buyers of corn futures deliveries. Much notice, however, was taken of a summary by a prominent unofficial expert who has just completed a trip through the corn belt. He reported conditions worse than he had expected and as unparalleled in 50 years.

Bendix Aviation Corporation reports net earnings, after all charges, including federal taxes, for the quarter ended June 30, $779,255, or 37 cents a share on the 2,097,454 shares of stock outstanding; for the first six months, net after all charges, was $1,530,937, or 73 cents a share on the shares of stock outstanding. No comparison with a year ago is available because of a change in the corporate structure incident to many acquisitions and consolidations in which Bendix Aviation Corporation has participated.

John J. O'Brien, president of Standard Gas & Electric Company, announces that consolidated earnings of the company and its subsidiary and affiliated companies for the 12 months ended June 30, 1930, show a balance of $11,802,371 after all charges, including retirement reserve and preferred dividends. This balance is equivalent to $6.41 a share on the average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period, including properties only from date of acquisition, and compares with a balance of $9,523,462, or $6.70 a share, for the corresponding previous 12-month period.

With gross earnings and other income topping $108,000,000 for the first time, net earnings exceeding $48,000,000 and balance after operating expenses, provision for retirement of fixed capital, underlying dividends and all interest closely approaching $20,000,000, the Associated Gas & Electric System during the 12 months ended July 31, 1930, rolled up some new high records.

Net earnings totaled $48,123,170 after deducting operating expenses, maintenance, all taxes, provision for retirement of fixed capital, etc. This compares with $26,785,425 last year and represents a gain of $21,337,745, or 80 per cent. Following further deductions for underlying dividends and all interest there remained a balance of $19,353,098, comparing with $9,224,143 a year ago, an increase of $10,128,955, or 110 per cent.

BY DONALD C. BOLLES,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—High-grade investment issues held a firm trend in the bond market today but second-grade and semi-speculative obligations more sensitive to general news developments worked lower.

The market was highly irregular in a quiet trading session in which the volume of business slumped to $6,711,000.

There were no developments in the money market, with call money remaining at 2 per cent. The only offering was a municipal issue. It was learned in bond circles that among the new financing which is expected to be offered shortly are several large issues, including $10,000,000 first 5s to be offered by the Iowa-Nebraska Company around 96 1-2; $5,000,000 Western Pacific 5 per cent bonds priced about par. The State Line Generating Company contemplates offering $17,000,000 4 1-2s and $8,000,000 debenture 5 1-2s. A large piece of financing is in prospect for the Pennsylvania-Ohio-Detroit Railroad, subsidiary of the Pennsylvania.

The strength shown by the bond market during the quiet summer period is attracting attention from business circles, where a rise in bond prices is regarded as a forerunner of business recovery. A well-known statistical service said today in an analysis of the situation that "Institutions and high-grade investors will make their purchases in the bond market until the average level reaches a higher point than it has since 1910 and 1911."

About a dozen carrier issues climbed to new 1930 highs. The 1 5-8-point advance of New York Central 3 1-2s "B" on a large turnover, and a similar gain by Big Four general 4s were among the best gains in this group. Pennsylvania 3 1-2s "B," Atchison general 4s, Union Pacific 4s, Chicago & Northwestern refunding 4 1-2s, Northern Pacific lien 4s, Southern Pacific 4 1-2s (Oregon line), Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio first 4s (Richmond and Alleghany), Missouri-Kansas-Texas first 4s, were others to register new peaks for the year.

The firmness of Brooklyn Edison 5s, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 4s, General Public Service 5 1-2s, New Orleans Public Service 5s "B" stood out in the irregular movement of utilities. Western Union 4 1-2s established a new year's high. Brooklyn City Railway 5s, Public Service Electric & Gas 4 1-2s and Northern Ohio Traction & Light 6s worked lower.

Industrial bonds showed a mixed trend. Oil bonds were very active, with selling dominating the trend, to carry Humble 5s, Skelly Oil 5 1-2s, Texas Corporation 5s and Transcontinental 6 1-2s downward. Bethlehem Steel 5s were weak. Pacific Coast 5s, Lorillard 5s and National Dairy 5 1-4s were in demand.

Weakness of Peruvian bonds reflecting the uncertainty over political conditions featured foreign bond dealings. Peru 7s and 6s sagged 5 and 4 points to new lows. European bonds were steady. United States Governments were more active and firm.

Crude Oil Situation Viewed With Optimism

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said today that the crude oil situation is stronger now than at any other time this year.

Pointing out that daily average production last week showed a reduction of 16,800 barrels from the preceding week and 478,000 barrels from the like week last year, he said that producers have reduced crude oil production below the figure set by the committee on petroleum economics, which recommended curtailment to 2,607,900 barrels daily.

"When the general proration order in Texas, which becomes effective August 27, begins to work," he said, "I believe the industry will reduce its daily output of crude oil by another 100,000 barrels.

"This means that the industry intends to reduce its tremendous stocks of petroleum products above ground at an orderly rate."

The refining division also has shown a "decided improvement," Mr. Reeser said.

"Stocks of gasoline in the hands of refiners representing 95.7 per cent of its refining capacity on August 16," he added, "amounted to 41,252,000 barrels, a reduction of 13,747,000 barrels from the high point, which was for the week ended March 29. Stocks of gasoline were the lowest since the week ended December 21, 1929, and 708,000 barrels less than the week ended December 28, 1929. A further decline in stocks of gasoline and all petroleum products is expected."

Transactions During Session Approximate 308,500 Shares

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Changes in the quoted values of curb stocks were of a divergent character today with the price level slightly lower. Utility and oil stocks were conspicuously heavy during the afternoon. The volume of business approximated 308,500 shares.

Petroleum shares sagged in sympathy with the downward trend on the big board. Humble Oil sagged 2 1-4, Standard Oil of Indiana 3-4, and Houston Oil, Vacuum and Cities Service lost about one-half a point each.

An advance in the utilities at the opening of the session attracted a volume of offerings which was sufficient to turn the tide. Electric Bond & Share, United Light & Power A, American Gas & Electric lost a point or more. Duke Power sagged 2 points. American & Foreign Power warrants, Associated Gas A, American Cities closed slightly higher as result of a rally in the final hour.

As a group, aviation stocks displayed the best tone, profiting from a renewal of speculative interest evidenced the past few sessions. Western Air Express, which has not been very active for some time, surged up 4 1-2 points. Fokker and Transcontinental Air Transport gained about a point each. Aviation Credit reached a new high at 21 1-8. Motors stocks were dull. The principal change was a 1 1-2-point drop by Ford Motor of Canada. Durant and Ford Ltd. were firm.

The miscellaneous list of industrials moved both ways. Profit-taking depressed Mead Johnson, which showed a reversal of trend after steadily rising for two weeks to new high ground. It sold down to 87, a loss of about 3. American Cyanamid B and Translux worked slightly lower. Deere, Dresser Manufacturing A, Driver Harris, Newmont Mining, Rubberoid and R. B. Stetson gained 1 to 2 points in thin trading. Aluminum Ltd., in which there is a small floating supply, dipped 13 1-2 points. U. S. Radiator hit a new low at 39.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 15 points up to 10.90.

Receipts 22; shipments none; stock 43,535.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Some early selling on relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of showers or rains in the southwest over Sunday, appeared to be quite readily absorbed in cotton here today and prices later were firmer on covering and trade buying. The new October contract after selling off to 10.80 at the start advanced to 11.19 in the late trading or 23 points net higher and closed at 11.15 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 13 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 11 points in response to the lower Liverpool cables and the southwestern rain reports. The new December sold off to 11.00 and March to 11.30 at the start, but the offerings were not particularly heavy and seemed to be quite readily absorbed by a continuation of the covering movement which had developed in the market here toward the close of last week. It seemed to be stimulated by an absence of any active southern selling in the way of hedging receipts over the week-end and reiterated reports that southern growers were showing an increased disposition to hold their early cotton off the market.

Offerings continued light, but there was enough realizing to cause slight reactions during the middle of the day, after which the market again firmed up on a renewal of the buying movement which was said to include some buying of March and May contracts here to replace sales of spot cotton or for trade account. The highest price was reached late in the afternoon with new December at 11.30 and March at 11.57. The close was within 2 to 4 points of the best on most positions.

Private reports that about 50 per cent of present receipts were being held off the market in some sections of the southwest and that the basis was about 25 points higher on Saturday, were regarded as contributing to the advance, while some buying was also reported on a report that the co-operatives have arranged to advance farmers 90 per cent of the market value of their cotton. Some traders were inclined to question whether the rains reported in the southwest would materially benefit the crop and there were private reports that Texas crop prospects had deteriorated the past week.

Liverpool cables said there had been hedging and liquidation in that market. Port receipts today 40,436. U. S. port stocks 1,769,604. Exports today 13,876, making 208,008 so far this season.

SPOTS ADVANCE AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The cotton market was but moderately active today and prices developed no particular trend. With Liverpool considerably lower than due the market opened 9 points down and soon increased this loss to 10 points compared with Saturday's close, the early decline being helped by rains in Texas and Oklahoma. The market later rallied 19 to 20 points on the posting of a hurricane warning for a disturbance northeast of Porto Rico.

The market was firmer after midsession on reports that the farm board was buying cotton outright in Texas through the cooperatives. Prices made new highs, 27 to 29 points above the lows. The close was at the top, showing net gains for the day of 11 to 18 points.

Liverpool came in 4 points worse than due and first sales here showed losses of 9 points. The market continued soft after the start and October traded at 10.86 and December to 11.03, or 10 points below Saturday's close.

The market soon rallied and advanced during the balance of the morning on the hurricane warning which induced covering. October advanced to 11.06 and December to 11.22, or 19 to 20 points above the early lows, but eased off 4 points around midsession on the theory that a storm would bring rains to the drouth section.

The market advanced during the afternoon on the buying of cotton outright by the farm loan board. Active months made new highs, with October at 11.15 and December at 11.30, or 27 to 28 points above the early lows. The close was steady, virtually at the top and 16 to 18 points net higher on these active months.

Port receipts 41,900; for week 68,901; for season 452,638; last season 270,499. Exports 17,449; for week 18,521; for season 201,709; last season 157,323. Port stock 1,770,138; last year 581,727. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 39,723; last year 38,628. Spot sales 24,596; last year 30,797.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The stock market began the new week with indications of climbing out of the narrow trading area of the past week, but soon began to falter and developed a reactionary trend before the close.

The market maintained a fairly good undertone, and losses in pivotal shares were mostly restricted to a point or so. Sharp breaks in Vanadium and Goodyear and steady liquidation in the oil shares appeared to be the chief influences toward unsettlement.

Trading still was dominated by personal transactions between floor traders, but much of the selling of the oils was reported in brokerage circles to represent real liquidation rather than professional trading maneuvers. Commission houses reported good investment buying favored industrials and rails, but only on declines. The days sales barely exceeded 1,600,000 shares.

The rails maintained a better tone than other groups, and the index of 20 leading carrier issues held steady, although that of 50 industrials sagged 2.4 and that of 20 utilities, 1.6. The improved tone in this group was believed to represent short covering and investment buying of the prime dividend payers, attracted by high yields. The first 20 roads to report July net operating income show little improvement in comparison with last year, but compared to the previous month net was almost 18 per cent higher.

Losses of a point or so in the oils were fairly general. Standard of New Jersey sold off 1 3-4. Rio Grande, Skelly and Shell Union touched new lows, and Sinclair, Simms, Royal Dutch and Richfield sold around the year's minimum levels.

Among the outstanding weak spots elsewhere, Goodyear dropped about 6 points to a new low, reflecting reports of slackening output and failure of a mail order house's efforts to raise tire prices. Vanadium lost about as much, in response to an analysis predicting lower profits during the current half year, and reports that the company ran in the red during July. Vanadium is extemely sensitive to pool operations, and normally an erratic performer.

Several recent favorites sagged in profit taking. Efforts were made to extend the rise in United Aircraft, but it closed off a point. Bendix Aviation, however, stepped up a point in active trading. Loew's lost 3 and American Tobacco new B stock lost 2. Shares closing 1 to nearly 2 points lower included United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, American Water Works, Consolidated Gas, duPont, Eastman, General Electric, General Motors, Radio, International Nickel and Public Service of New Jersey.

Union Pacific, however, gained 5, and shares closing up a point or so included Air Reduction, which shot up 4 in the morning then reacted; Mathieson Alkali, Procter & Gamble, and Foster Wheeler. National Power & Light was an active feature of the power stocks, and closed up 1-2.

Credit conditions held stationary, with call money at 2 per cent officially, and 1 1-2 in the outside market. Foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling cables sagged 1-8 of 1 cent to $4.87 flat, but leading continental currencies were firm.

Commodity markets moved narrowly in the main. Wheat sagged 1-4 to 3-4 of cent, reflecting an increase in the visible supply. Corn closed barely steady, unchanged to 5-8 of a cent lower. Cotton, on the other hand, rallied to close up 65 cents to a dollar a bale.

Automobile Output Figures Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The number of automobiles manufactured in the United States for the first seven months this year was more than 1,000,000 below the output for the same period last year.

This was announced today by the commerce department which said the comparative figures were 2,481,911 and 3,726,286.

Production last month was placed at 262,363 cars compared with 335,477 for June and 500,840 for July, 1929. It was the lowest figure since last December, when the output was 120,007.

The total for last month included 222,459 passenger cars, 39,663 trucks and 241 taxicabs.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The cotton market was irregular Monday owing to conflicting developments but ended with a fair sized gain.

It got off to a poor start due to easy cables, poor trade news and reports of considerable rainfall in Texas and Oklahoma over Sunday, selling about half a dollar a bale lower in the first few minutes. Offerings, however, dried up and market soon reversed its course, selling up about $1.50 a bale from the low to net gains of about $1 a bale. Last sales were near the best.

Developments which caused the advance was the raise in loan basis of farm board from 75% of market value of the cotton to 90%; reports that the holding movement was spreading; that large quantities of cotton were also going to the co-ops., and advanced basis at all markets in southern part of the belt. A wire from southwest Texas also claimed that the co-ops. were buying cotton outright on a good basis. Hedge sales were also light.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—From an opening loss of about 10 points, cotton made a gain for the day of approximately $1.50 per bale. Rather heavy hedge selling on the opening was responsible for the decline.

A report from the weather bureau of some evidence of a tropical disturbance about 400 miles north, northeast of Porto Rico, apparently moving northward induced nervous shorts to cover and last sales were at practically the highs of the day. The announcement by Mr. Williams, of the federal farm board, that effective immediately the co-operative associations would advance to members 90 per cent of value of cotton probably had some effect on prices. This, no doubt, will result in larger deliveries to the co-operatives and consequently less hedges in the market.

A further advance should probably be followed cautiously but with the approach of the equinoctial period the market will be very sensitive to weather developments.

October Liverpool due 6.05.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The cotton market opened lower on easy Liverpool cables and favorable weather over the week-end. The decline met with good resistance due to a better feeling in the market and the spot basis reported advancing in Texas. There was some short covering and trade buying and early losses were gained. Dallas reported basis up 15 to 20 points with about 30 per cent of the cotton being sold on that basis, 20 per cent going to co-operatives and balance being held. Liverpool cabled market there had poor tone, most shorts covered and trade showed slight gains of more interest.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Further rains over northern Texas and Oklahoma caused a lower Liverpool market Monday morning. We opened in sympathy, but, as there was very little hedge pressure, prices rallied both on the announcement that the farm board would increase the amount of their loans to farmers through the co-operative societies, and, on a prediction of a possible Gulf storm. Hedge pressure was noticeable for its absence, although Monday is usually a light day for hedging. Of course, at these prices, there is quite a little cotton being bought in the south that is not being hedged.

There was some indication of short covering today, but it is not believed that any large portion of the cotton sold on the recent decline has been covered. With a three-day holiday coming over the week-end, a covering movement might be expected provided that the private reports, which will be issued in the near future, indicate a drop in the next government report. The trade did not follow the advance Monday.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: October 6.04, January 6.12.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The selling movement which for a number of weeks has almost uniformly characterized the first two sessions of the week was induced, in Monday's market, by a sharp attack on Vanadium based on doubt regarding the company's ability to maintain first half results during the second six months. The selling of oils, to which attention was called recently, also had an unsettling effect.

It was noted, however, that impressive support came into the leading standard industrials, such as General Motors, American Can, Steel, National Biscuit and General Electric, and excellent buying was in progress throughout the session in the food stocks, particularly General Food and Gold Dust as well as National Biscuit, and in some of the utilities, notably Electric Power & Light and National Power & Light.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Day-to-day swings in speculative issues, it seems to us, have secondary importance. The important thing worth noting is that investment buying orders for high-grade stocks honeycomb the market on a scaledown. We have reasons to believe that a great deal of this important scale-order buying is predicated on the trend of a certain business index which is known to important financial interests. This index, we understand, is prepared by one of the most important public utility companies in the country. It pointed sharply down last July and proved strikingly accurate, even though the stock market ignored the true trend of business for some months. We understand that this index, after touching the same low point in July and August of this year, is now pointed upward. A projected curve indicates a sharper recovery in September and an acceleration from time to time on into 1931. This projected curve, moreover, suggests a complete return to normal conditions during the summer of 1931.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The best prices Monday were registered at or soon after the opening. Some optimistic statements and interviews over the week-end seemed responsible for an accumulation of orders but there was little carry-through and in fact on the higher quotations there seemed an ample supply of stock for sale.

After the first hour or so a downward trend developed and most stocks closed with fairly important losses. Vanadium sold down sharply on a news ticker estimate that earnings for the second half would be substantially below the $3.30 shown for the first six months. It appears generally that we continue in a trading range and that stocks for the most part will be in supply on advances and in demand on substantial recessions.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—After making a new high for the recent recovery early in the day, the market ran into selling. At this high for the day the industrial averages approximately 236.50, or well into the upper half of the trading range in which the market moved during the latter part of July and early August. The selling which developed after 11 o'clock carried the averages back five points to a closing level of 231.52, which represented a net loss of nearly three points for the day. The rails showed encouraging resistance to the general selling pressure, the rail averages gaining 33 cents.

The most prominent weak spots Monday were Vanadium, which declined six points and the oil shares. Selling in Vanadium was based on news of an operating deficit for July. This stock for several months has been extremely popular trading medium, with daily volume exceeding 100,000 shares, the majority of the time since June. A spectular decline in this stock might precipitate a more serious general reaction than has appeared probable just at this time.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Cotton gray goods markets opened the week quietly today, with prices unchanged. Print cloths and sheetings were selling lightly. Fine goods were slow. Continuing moderate business on towels, sheets and pillowcases, and some wash goods lines was noted. Burlap markets continued quiet, with some spot and afloat interest. Demand for women's wear woolens and worsteds was reported. Spot raw silks were unchanged and quiet. Movement of fall silk merchandise was reported slow.

The American Tobacco Company and
North American Trust Shares
*The Largest Fixed Investment Trust

TOBACCO is "native American." It is native to the taste of Americans as well as to the soil of America. The smoke from the red man's pipe has materialized into one of America's major and most profitable industries.

Whether or not you are accustomed to "reach for a Lucky," there are enough people in the United States who smoke Luckies to place them among the most popular cigarettes. And Luckies are only one of various brands of cigarettes and other tobacco products manufactured by the American Tobacco Company and its subsidiaries.

Each North American Trust Share gives you an equity in the common stock of the American Tobacco Company and of each of 27 other outstanding corporations.

Points About N. A. T. S.

1—Each North American Trust Share represents an investment in the common stocks of 28 outstanding corporations, leaders in their respective fields.

2—An investment in North American Trust Shares is as sound as American industry itself. The products and services of the companies, the common stocks of which underlie this trust, are directly related to every phase of human life.

3—The underlying stocks, all of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are deposited with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee. The trustee issues 2,000 N. A. T. S. upon the deposit of 4 shares each of the underlying stocks together with applicable reserve fund and accumulations.

4—The 28 underlying companies have an average unbroken dividend record of 33 years, combined total assets of more than 24 billion dollars and combined surplus and reserves of over 6.7 billion dollars.

5—N.A.T.S. are readily marketable. In addition to the established market which has been maintained at ½ point below the asked price the holder of the smallest denomination of shares may liquidate through the trustee without penalty. The holder of 500 shares or any multiple thereof may convert through the trustee into the underlying stocks.

6—Each certificate carries coupons calling for semi-annual disbursement of all distributions received by the trustee on the deposited stocks. On June 30, 1930, a semi-annual income and capital distribution of $1.34 per share was made.

7—N. A. T. S. holders are offered rights semi-annually permitting reinvestment of all return in excess of cash dividends on deposited stocks at a discount from the asked price. This program results in retention of appreciation and maintenance of original diversification.

8—N. A. T. S. are available in denominations ranging from 10 shares to 10,000 shares. Thus an investment in the shares of 28 leading corporations can be made for less than $100.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE No. 38

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

By the light of the torch that illuminated the interior of the dungeon into which he had been thrust by his captors, Tarzan saw a white man and several blacks chained to the walls. Among the blacks was Lukedi, the Bagego, but when he recognized Tarzan he evinced little interest. Confinement had gradually numbed his brain.

The ape-man was chained next to the only other white man in the dungeon, and he could not help but notice the keen interest that this prisoner took in him. As had been his custom while in the house of Praeclarus, Tarzan had worn only his loin-cloth and leopard-skin, with a toga and sandals, but in the fight that ensued the toga had been torn from him.

Now his appearance was sufficient to arouse the curiosity of his fellow prisoners, and as soon as the guards were out of hearing, they greeted him as a hero for carrying Sublatus out of his palace. The white man explained that he was a prisoner of war from another Roman colony in the valley, the city-kingdom known as Castrum Mare.

Their conversation was interrupted by the arrival of a detachment of soldiers, and as they halted before the entrance of the dungeon and threw the gate open, Tarzan saw, in the light of their torches, that they were bringing in another prisoner. As they dragged the man in, he recognized Maximus Praeclarus.

:: MANY NEW NAMES LISTED IN 1930 EDITION ::

Are Additions to Who's Who

In the 2,600 large octavo pages of the 1930-1931 edition of "Who's Who in America," which has just come from the press and will be released to the public on September 1, the names of 184 Atlantans are listed and they are included under the list of 390 Georgians listed.

This new roster of prominent living Americans contains sketches of 29,704 persons, which includes nearly 3,500 entirely new sketches. This publication had its beginning back in 1899 and it has steadily grown in size and the scope of the work handled. The original edition had 800 small pages which shows the growth of the "Who's Who in America" by comparison with the new 1931 edition which has just come from the press of the A. N. Marquis Company, of Chicago.

Some of the new additions to the roll of honor from Atlanta were Bobby Jones, entered as a lawyer and golf champion; Mayor-Elect James L. Key, as a lawyer, and Robert Strickland, Jr., vice president of the First National bank. They are among 3,931 persons who have not appeared in the book previously.

The name of Francis West Clarke, assistant to the publisher of The Constitution, also appears in this year's edition for the first time. Bankers, professional men, ministers and editors make up most of Atlanta's quota.

An interesting feature of this edition is a new study of the educational equipment and other sociological factors of those who are listed in the volume. Nearly 23,000 collegians are represented and college graduates number 20,000. The value of education is presented to the eye in a graph showing that 85 of each 100 persons furnishing educational data, attended college and 73 of each 100 were graduated.

ONE ATLANTA-PACIFIC MAIL BID IS OPENED

Robertson Asks Maximum for Route Contract.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—As the result of the opening of bids today on the Atlanta-Los Angeles air mail route, a combination of the Southwest Air Fast Express and the Robertson Aircraft Corporation will be awarded the contract, unless all bids should be rejected by the department. There is some possibility of this.

The bid of the companies mentioned was for 100 per cent of the maximum specified by the department, this being the only proposal made for the route. With the facts which have been brought out recently, that the S. A. F. E. was ready to take into the courts the matter of the clause in the specifications which requires six months' experience in night flying and was bitterly opposed to this because it gave companies already holding air mail contracts a preference in bidding, the combination of this company with one of the subsidiaries of the aviation corporation, together with the fact that this combine was the only bidder and at the maximum price, will cause investigation.

Should evidence of collusion be found, it is certain that the bid will be rejected. It is known here that the situation in regard to these bids has been brought to the attention of President Hoover not only through newspaper publicity but through a member of his cabinet, who spent the week-end with the president at Rapidan. It is felt in some circles that the president is taking a direct interest in the matter, due to the fact that his son, Herbert, Jr., is an employe of the Western Air Express, bidder on the New York-Los Angeles route, together with William P. McCracken, his associate as assistant secretary in charge of aeronautics, when Mr. Hoover was secretary of commerce. For this reason Mr. Hoover is expected to watch the present situation very closely.

The bids for the New York-Los Angeles route have created another peculiar situation. United Avigation a merger of Pittsburgh Airways, United States Airways and Ohio Air Transport, submitted the low bid of 64 per cent of the maximum, while the Western Air Express bid was 97 1-2 per cent.

J. D. Condon, president of Avigation, stated after the bids had been opened, that his company intended to make a test case of the night flying clause. Since this would mean dragging the matter through the courts for at least a year or two, preventing air mail development during that time, it is expected here that United Avigation will become a party to some form of merger, in case all bids are not thrown out, that will permit its companies to participate in the contract, which would then go to the only other bidder, Western Air Express.

While the Watres act, under which the bids were called for, places a maximum of $1.25 per mile as the rate to be paid under ordinary circumstances, this amount may be increased under what are termed "variables" with percentage increases for difficult terrain to be flown over, fogs and night air flying, which make the true maximum to be paid $1.61 per mile, instead of $1.25.

The companies represented by United Avigation have none of them had the six months experience in night flying required under the specifications, which Western Air Express has, but are concerns which have been developing passenger routes, at present incapable of paying dividends but which probably would be able to do so with the aid of the subsidy provided under the Watres act. The moot question is as to whether or not the postmaster-general has the right to include the night flying clause in the call for bids when no such provision was made in the measure passed by congress.

Hapsburg Heir Will Renounce Throne Claims

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Archduke Albrecht of the Hapsburgs, aspirant to the Hungarian throne, has found, like King Carol, of Rumania, that the royal road to romance is a rocky one.

The archduke, preferring love to leadership, has married Mme. Irene Lelbach, divorced wife of the Hungarian minister to Sofia, also known as Irene Rudnay. For love of her he intends to renounce all his titles and privileges as a member of the Hapsburg family and emigrate to Brazil.

The marriage is said by an official communique to have been a civil ceremony, which took place some time ago, probably in London. With it practically end his chances of ever occupying the throne.

Albrecht was bitterly opposed in his desire by his ambitious mother, widow of the Archduke Friedrich who led a fight in his behalf in legitimate ranks against the pretentions of Archduke Otto, son of the Ex-Emperor Charles, who has been studying at the castle of Steenoc, Frzeel, in Belgium, with the ex-Empress Zita.

On his way he determined to settle the question of love or politics once and for all. He visited Archduke Otto in Belgium and by swearing allegiance to him automatically deferred his claims to the boy who is now the sole hope of the Hungarian legitimists.

In Brazil Albrecht acquired 150,000 acres of land, where he intends to settle with his bride and about 400 Hungarian retainers. He is 42 years old, whereas Otto will be 18 in November.

Albrecht is 42 years old. He recently spent four months in South America and held many conversations with Hungarian emigrants in Brazil, Uruguay, and Argentina. His unexpected return to Budapest last Tuesday was the cause of a sensation in royalist circles until he announced his intention to abide by his decision in favor of Otto. Albrecht had received enthusiastic greetings everywhere in South America.

SILVER BULLETS HIT MANY CHINESE REBELS

Nationalist Planes Drop Offers of Money and Amnesty on Foes.

NANKING, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Amnesty, "cumsha" (rewards) and propaganda, the three musketeers of every Chinese army, were brought to play in the present civil strife today by the nationalist government as an inducement to northern rebels to lay down their arms.

The amnesty, however, does not apply to Feng Yu-hsiang and Yen Hsi-shan, leaders of the revolt, who, it was indicated, will be treated as traitors, if caught.

The offer of amnesty was made through pamphlets dropped over rebel lines by nationalist airplanes. The government offered to take men and minor officers back into its armies on a "no questions asked" basis but said Feng and Yen, the "arch rebels," could not be pardoned.

The "cumsha" seaboard jargon for all manners of rewards from mere tips up to major graft, was offered by the government in the form of reward for capture of rebel held northern cities. For the capture of Hungshien, a rebel arsenal town, $200,000 Mexican (about $68,000 gold) was offered.

"Silver bullets" often are resorted to in China to restore lagging interest of soldiers. Inclement weather has damped the ardor of many units recently.

The only casualties reported today resulted from the explosion of an ammunition train of 29 cars near Kweiteh, Honan, on the Haichow-Tungkwan railway. Heavy shells and aerial bombs twisted the steel cars into a battered mass and tore up the right-of-way. An undetermined number of persons was killed.

The explosion slowed up the nationalist armies, already much hampered by heavy rains which flooded battlefields.

The only red activity reported today was the gathering of 5,000 communists near Changsha, Hunan province capital, recently looted and damaged by fire by red forces. The populace feared another attack.

W. C. Butt, Jr., Last Rites at 3:30 Today

Funeral services for William Collier Butt, Jr., 30, native of Atlanta and veteran of the World War, who died Saturday night at a government hospital in Lake City, Fla., will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon with the Rev. J. R. Gunn officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Before becoming a patient at the hospital several years ago, Mr. Butt was a resident of Atlanta. He saw service in the World War as a member of the navy. He was a graduate of the University of Georgia and a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity while there. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Butt, Sr., one sister Mrs. Joe Brennon; and aunt, Mrs. W. B. Cody, and one uncle, R. L. Butt.

New Charge Lodged Against Tammany

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Developments came thick and fast today in the many-sided investigation of charges that public offices in New York city have been bought and sold.

A new charge was made public by Federal Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, who said Jacob Cash, former city marshal, told him that just about the time of his appointment as marshal he paid Martin J. Healey, Tammany district leader, $2,000. Cash also reported giving Mrs. Healy a diamond and emerald bracelet.

Fifty-Two Airplanes Start Italian Tour

ROME, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Fifty-two touring planes took off this morning on what was termed the first aerial tour of Italy. Air Minister Balbo acted as starter for the first of the machines.

The plane of the German, Herr Lusser, got away first. There were no American entries. Major De Bernardi, Italy's speed king and Schneider cup victor, could not participate because his motor was out of commission.
